between Honduras and El Salvador Afghanistan and the Middle East conflict Murphy argues persuasively that understanding jus ad bellum requires a primary focus on the international common good and the good of peace Only secondarily should the argument about going to war hinge on the right of self defense in fact pursuing the common good requires political action given that peace is not simply the absence of violence He moves on to demonstrate the interconnectedness of the jus ad bellum criteria contending that some criteria depend logically on others and that competent authority not just cause is ultimately the most significant criterion in an analysis of going to war This timely study will be of special interest to scholars and students in ethics war and peace and international affairs The Ethics of War Gregory M.
