The Executive in African Governments Bereket H. Selassie, 1974 The Executive in African Governments Bereket H. Selassie, 1974 The Executive in African Governments (a Comparative Study) Bereket Habte Selassie, 1967 Protecting Minority Rights in African Countries John M. Mbaku, 2018-01-26

In this enlightening book John Mukum Mbaku analyses the main challenges of constitutional design and the construction of governance institutions in Africa today. He argues that the central issues are providing each country with a constitutional order that is capable of successfully managing sectarian conflict and enhancing peaceful coexistence, protecting the rights of citizens including those of minorities, minimizing the monopolization of political space by the majority to the detriment of minorities, and effectively preventing government impunity. Mbaku offers a comprehensive analysis of various approaches to the management of diversity and shows how these approaches can inform Africa's struggle to promote peace and good governance. He explores in depth the existence of dysfunctional and anachronistic laws and institutions inherited from the colonial state and the process through which laws and institutions are formulated or constructed, adopted and amended. A close look at the constitutional experiences of the American Republic provides important lessons for constitutional design and constitutionalism in Africa. Additionally, comparative politics and comparative constitutional law also provide important lessons for the management of diversity in African countries. Mbaku recommends state reconstruction through constitutional design as a way for each African country to provide itself with laws and institutions that reflect the realities of each country, including the necessary mechanisms and tools for the protection of the rights of minorities. From students and scholars to NGOs, lawyers and policymakers, this unique and judicious book is an essential tool for all those seeking to understand and improve governance and development in Africa.

The Executive in African Governments (a Comparative Study) Bereket Habte Selassie, 1967

My interest to undertake the study leading to this thesis was first aroused in May 1963 during the first meeting of the African Heads of States which established the OAU. Further inquiries revealed a political phenomenon that has been called African presidentialism. The advent of one party government which was the basis of African presidentialism has been complicated by the intervention of the military in politics or by threats of such intervention. A comparative study of African constitutions focused on the Executive was therefore felt worth undertaking. The scope and purpose of the thesis is to examine the structure and organisation of the Executive in a comparative setting. The thesis is divided into four parts. The introductory part, Part One, aims to provide a historical and socio-political background to the study. Part Two deals with the various Executive forms in Africa. Chapter three deals with the monarchies, Chapter four with dual executive systems, and Chapter five with executive presidencies. The commonest system is that of the executive presidency; accordingly, Chapter five is considered to be the central part of the thesis. Executive presidency for African presidentialism rests on the twin pillars of the one party and on the civil service. Hence, part three deals with an account of these two institutions in Africa The last part deals with the advent of the military in Africa Some of the major causes of coups d etat are examined together with some case studies chapter eight This is followed by brief accounts of selected military regimes considered as Executives

A Theory of African Constitutionalism Berihun Adugna Gebeye,2021-07-08 A Theory of African Constitutionalism asks and seeks to answer why we need a new theoretical framework for African constitutionalism and how this could offer us better theoretical and practical tools with which to understand improve and assess African constitutionalism on its own terms By locating constitutional studies in Africa within the experiences interactions and contestations of power and governance beginning in precolonial times the book presents the development and transformation of African constitutional systems across time and place along with the attendant constitutional designs and practices ranging from the nature and operation of the African state to its vertical and horizontal government structures to its constitutional rights regime This title offers both a theoretically and comparatively rich historically and contextually informed and temporally and spatially extensive account of the nature travails and incremental successes of African constitutionalism with detailed case studies from Nigeria Ethiopia and South Africa A Theory of African Constitutionalism provides scholars policymakers governments and constitution builders in Africa and beyond with new insights for reimagining the purpose substance and scope of constitutions and constitutionalism

McMahon, 2016-02-05 Africa is changing and it is easy to overlook how decentralization democratization and new forms of illiberalism have transformed federalism political parties and local politics Chapters on Kenya Nigeria Ethiopia and South Africa help fill an important gap in comparative institutional research about state and local politics in Africa Leadership Concepts and the Role of Government in Africa Kwaku Abiam Danso, PhD, 2007-02 The concepts of leadership and the specific role of government leadership in meeting the basic needs of the people seem poorly defined in many areas of African society Many people in these poor societies seem desperate and anxious for service contrary to what many external observers may seem to think as a state of contentment This creates a management dilemma why government fails to deliver despite high expectations of the electorate The case of Africa was studied using Ghana as an example of such societies where one can observe phenomenon from examples of traditional leadership of chiefs with certain powers but limited responsibilities that may not be clearly defined for modern development of the society While recognizing traditional leadership people in these societies find themselves with shifted locus of power and control owing loyalty and allegiance to some other elected leaders who seem not concerned about the interests of the electorate even where very high taxes are collected and people have the money to pay for services The case of Ghana was examined using a qualitative case study Selected businesspersons were interviewed in the Accra Tema metropolitan area to examine their experiences expectations and perceptions of the leadership using one indicator of business performance the quality of utility service delivery regarding water electricity telephone and garbage As well known and found by the World Bank and local Private Enterprise Foundation PEF and business groups electricity and telephone services are indispensable elements of any modern business In the 1990s the facsimile machine became part of modern business to enhance data delivery in addition to voice transmission and in 2006 the Internet and electronic mail have become an almost integral part of global business communication for more than ten years The needs for these business tools become more critical if businesses have to compete at the global level in free enterprise markets usually imposed by Western donor and lender conditions Water and garbage service not only affect health in any society but in Africa poor sewage treatment and open sewage are directly related to mosquito breeding and malaria Malaria was reported to kill 15 000 children under five years of age and 2 000 pregnant women in 2005 and seem to reduce the average life expectancy of people in some sectors of the nation by more than six years GhanaHomePage 2006 May 12 The research study on Ghana by this author showed that inefficient service delivery was found to impact about 90% of businesses in almost all sectors despite a high 73% expectation from leadership Despite the call for overseas investors first dial successful completion rate of telephone transmission from California to Ghana was only 4% most fax machines tried were not functional and more than 95% of the participant business managers and owners used in the study did not have regular use of the Internet Fifty six 56 types of leadership perceptions based on the culture evolved and were grouped into common themes and compared with a similar study in the United States of America Cultural factors were explored in order to understand the challenges in Ghana s socio economic development compared with Euro American and Asian Confucian cultures This book is based on a dissertation submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements of the PhD degree at Capella University s School of Business and Technology Organization and Management Leadership Option in June 2006 I wish to acknowledge the help of Capella University as well as the supervision of Dr Godwin Igein and Dr Stephen Tvorik of the School of Business and Technology and Dr Kwesi Ngissah of Oakland California who acted as outside dissertation committee member
