An Eschatological Imagination John M. Shields,2008 In the twentieth century Christian eschatology the doctrine about the final reality became a storm center for Christian systematic theologians because of the rediscovery of the eschatological character of Jesus Christ In the twenty first century Christian theologians continue to wrestle with the claims of Christian eschatology because of a postmodern suspicion of eschatological certainty claims about a future that is after all objectively unavailable yet still of great human concern Human beings live on hope for the future An Eschatological Imagination recognizes the problem of the future for Christian eschatology Building on the major theological writings of David Tracy it offers a revised way of thinking and living eschatologically in the form of an eschatological imagination as a rhetoric of virtue an exhortation to live in Christian hope in a postmodern world and into an objectively unavailable and uncertain future Within such a rhetoric hope becomes action not mere sentiment that seeks to create a Christian eschatological future
