Motion and Space across Languages Iraide Ibarretxe-Antuñano, 2017-08-15 This volume offers a unique combination of interdisciplinary research and a comprehensive overview of motion and space studies from a semantic typological perspective. The chapters present cutting edge research covering central topics such as the status of semantic components in motion event descriptions and their role in typological variation, the function of linguistic multimodal structures for the codification of motion, the diachronic evolution of motion expressions and its effects on motion typologies, the correspondences between physical and non physical, fictive, metaphorical motion and the impact of contexts and genres on the characterization and interpretation of motion events. These issues are examined from a theoretical and applied linguistic perspective. L1 L2 acquisition, translation, interpreting. The analyses make use of diachronic and synchronic data collected by a range of methods: elicitation, experimentation and corpus research in more than fifteen languages. All in all, this book will be of great value to scholars and students interested in the expression of motion and space across languages.

The English Literatures of America Myra Jehlen, Michael Warner, 2013-12-19 The English Literatures of America redefines colonial American literatures, sweeping from Newfoundland and Nova Scotia to the West Indies and Guiana. The book begins with the first colonization of the Americas and stretches beyond the Revolution to the early national period. Many texts are collected here for the first time; others are recognized masterpieces of the canon, both British and American, that can now be read in their Atlantic context. By emphasizing the culture of empire and by representing a transatlantic dialogue, The English Literatures of America allows a new way to understand colonial literature both in the United States and abroad.
