Meaning in the Arts Louis Arnaud Reid,2014-02-04 This is Volume II of three in a collection on Aesthetics Originally published in 1969 this volume of the Muirhead library of philosophy After distinguishing and relating the functions of Criticism and Aesthetics in Part I Part II develops the basic thesis of the book which is that the central defining characteristic of the aesthetic is embodiment rather than expression Part III tests this out in examples from the different arts representative and abstract with very special attention to music as an abstract art in which the problem of art s apparently contradictory characters of being both autonomous and yet expressive of life outside art is seen in its most acute form Part IV is a philosophical analysis of the main concepts so far involved meaning symbolism knowledge truth standards in art as distinct from other discursive knowledge It concludes with a discussion of the question whether art is in any sense a revelation Part V considers the bearing of the arguments of the book on aesthetic education

Empathy's Role in Understanding Persons, Literature, and Art Thomas Petraschka,Christiana Werner,2023-08-03 This volume critically discusses the role empathy plays in different processes of understanding More precisely it clarifies empathy s role in interpersonal understanding and appreciating works of literature and art The volume also includes a section on historical theories of empathy's role in understanding. When it comes to understanding other persons, empathy is typically seen as a process that enables the empathizer to recognize a target person's mental states, a process which is in turn seen as understanding this person. This volume however explores empathy's role in understanding beyond mere mental state recognition. With contributions on processes of interpersonal understanding and understanding of literature and art, it provides readers with an overview over both differences and similarities regarding empathy's epistemic role in two rather different areas. Since important roots of the debate about empathic understanding lie at the end of the nineteenth and the beginning of the twentieth century, the historical section of the volume focusses specifically on this period. Empathy's Role in Understanding Persons, Literature and Art will appeal to scholars and advanced students working in the philosophy of mind, epistemology, aesthetics and the history of philosophy as well as in literary studies and art history. Performing Beauty in Participatory Art and Culture Falk

Heinrich, 2014-03-21. This book investigates the notion of beauty in participatory art, an interdisciplinary form that necessitates the audience's agential participation and that is often seen in interactive art and technology-driven media installations. After considering established theories of beauty, for example Plato, Alison, Hume, Kant, Gadamer, and Santayana, through to McMahon and Sartwell, Heinrich argues that the experience of beauty in participatory art demands a revised notion of beauty, a conception that accounts for the performative and ludic turn within various art forms and which is in a broader sense a notion of beauty suited to a participatory and technology-saturated culture. Through case studies of participatory art, he provides an art-theoretical approach to the concept of performative beauty, an approach that is then applied to the wider context of media and design artefacts.

The Art of Art History Donald Preziosi, 2009-02-26. What is art history? Why, how, and where did it originate and how have its methods changed over time? The history of art has been written and rewritten since classical antiquity. Since the foundation of the modern discipline of art history in Germany in the late eighteenth century, debates about art and its histories have intensified. Historians, philosophers, psychologists, and anthropologists among others have changed our notions of what art history has been, is, and might be. This anthology is a guide to understanding art history through critical reading of the field's most innovative and influential texts focusing on the past two centuries. Each section focuses on a key issue: art as history, aesthetics, form, content, and style, anthropology, meaning, and interpretation, authorship and identity, and the phenomenon of globalization. More than thirty readings from writers as diverse as Winckelmann, Kant, Mary Kelly, and Michel Foucault are brought together with editorial introductions to each topic, providing background information, bibliographies, and critical elucidations of the issues at stake. This updated and expanded edition contains sixteen newly included extracts from key thinkers in the history of art, from Giorgio Vasari to Walter Benjamin, and Satya Mohanty, a new section on globalization, and also a new concluding essay from Donald Preziosi on the
