gliding animals and insects with an emphasis on the ecological and biogeographical differences between regions This is followed by a new chapter on the unique tropical rain forests of oceanic islands The final chapter which has been completely rewritten deals with the impacts of people on tropical rain forests and discusses possible conservation strategies that take into account the differences highlighted in the previous chapters This exciting and very readable book illustrated throughout with color photographs will be invaluable reading for undergraduate students in a wide range of courses as well as an authoritative reference for graduate and professional ecologists conservationists and interested amateurs
