Contemporary Religious Studies in China Xinping Zhuo, 2020-04-30 It is a spectacular history since the founding of the PRC When looking back to the history we realize the huge accomplishment of the contemporary China and the remarkable spirit of Chinese people Just as that in other branches the achievements of contemporary Chinese academic development are fully manifested in the research and results of contemporary Chinese religious studies Therefore there is special academic value and practical significance for the development and the future of our religious studies to reexamine this period of history and explore how contemporary Chinese scholars think about it During the academic development of contemporary China religious studies become one of the most developed and popular as well as controversial subjects This is because religious studies have been situated in a complex background and it is difficult to have a well situated position with broad spectrums and sensitive questions Hence religious studies belong to the subjects that are growing The understanding of its connotation and extension is still on the way The full development of religious studies as a discipline will represent the real leap of Chinese religious studies Studies in Chinese Art Dekun Zheng, 1983 This volume comprises eight articles that fall into three groups surveys of Chinese art and archaeology and their interrelationships the exhibition of Chinese archaeological finds and an account of Dunhuang studies in China up to 1947 animal styles floral patterns and yinyang wuxing in Chinese art and Chinese epigraphy Studies in Chinese Archaeology and Art: Styles of Mahayanist iconography in China William Watson, 1997 Two volumes collect Professor Watson's main smaller publications made in the course of museum and university careers Many are specific studies of works in terms of cultural context dating and historical significance They contain mainly writing on Chinese Japanese and Korean subjects in particular the bronze art ceramics and sculpture of the T ang and earlier periods Painting is treated in some closely defined topics From publisher description
