Storied Lives:

Storied Lives George C. Rosenwald, Richard L. Ochsberg, 1992-01-01 The stories people tell about themselves are interesting not only for the events and characters they describe but for something in the construction of the stories themselves The ways in which individuals recount their histories what they emphasize and omit their stance as protagonists or victims the relationship the story establishes between teller and audience all shape what individuals can claim of their own lives Personal stories are not merely a way of telling someone or oneself about one's life they are the means by which identities may be fashioned from the Introduction In this provocative book psychologists anthropologists and sociologists analyze interviews with a range of subjects a minister who uses the death of his son to reaffirm his identity as a man of God women who have given up their children at birth for adoption and who blame society for their action Holocaust survivors a victim of marital rape and many others Together these studies suggest a new way of thinking about autobiographical narratives that these life stories play a significant role in the formation of identity that the way they are told is shaped and at times curtailed by prevalent cultural norms and that the stories and at times the lives to which they relate may be liberated from their psychic and social constraints if the social conditions of story telling can be critically engaged Presenting a wide range of life stories these studies demonstrate how telling one's life has the potential to clarify or mystify one's commitments and to animate or encumber one's future development

Storied Lives Gary Y. Okihiro, 2011-10-01 During World War II over 5 500 young Japanese Americans left the concentration camps to which they had been confined with their families in order to attend college Storied Lives describes often in their own words how nisei students found schools to attend outside the West Coast exclusion zone and the efforts of white Americans to help them The book is concerned with the deeds of white and Japanese Americans in a mutual struggle against racism and argues that Asian American studies indeed race relations as a whole will benefit from an understanding not only of racism but also of its opposition antiracism To uncover this little known story Gary Okihiro surveyed the colleges and universities the nisei attended collected oral histories from nisei students and student relocation staff members and examined the records of the National Japanese American Student Relocation Council and other materials

The Storied Life Jared C. Wilson, 2024-05-07 When writers write they are getting in touch with the image of God in them This is true in some way of all artistry but writers especially create worlds characters histories and transformation all ex nihilo out of nothing In The Storied Life veteran author Jared C Wilson explores the ins and outs of writers and writing exploring the myriad ways the craft is more about transformation than simply communication From decades of experience and with his signature wit Wilson brings well earned insight autobiographical reflections and meaningful meditations to the topic of writing as a way of life and as a way of worship showing how the concept of Story our personal stories and God's grand story of redemption shapes fiction and non fiction writers alike Chapters focus on topics like The liturgy of story Writing as a spiritual act Perseverance and endurance Writing as a calling Promotion publishing and platform Whether you re a long time writer or a beginning author a daily journaler or an occasional dabbler The Storied Life will help you improve your craft It will lead you to think more deeply about the disciplines and dispositions needed to write for transformation

Our Lives are But Stories Esther Schely-Newman,2002 A rich analysis of how four Tunisian Israeli women tell the stories of their lives and a look at the implications for our own understanding of stories and the behavior of communication Our Lives Are But Stories explores the crucial role of personal storytelling in the lives of a unique generation of women Jewish women who left the Muslim country of Tunisia to settle in the newly created Israeli state To this day the older generation of Tunisian Israelis continues to rely on storytelling as a form of education entertainment and socialization But for women this art has taken on new dimensions especially as they seek to impart their values to the young Here Esther Schely Newman expertly interweaves the personal accounts of the private lives of four Tunisian Israeli women to analyze the rich complexities of communication She considers how various approaches to narration reflect storytelling as a cultural phenomenon and highlights the need to understand stories in the contexts in which they are told The four narrators grew up in a culture in which women s stories were confined to the private sphere were usually told to other women and were supposedly fiction or at least metaphors masking their real lives Forced migration to farming communities in Israel and the shock of being uprooted created new identities for women and new outlets for storytelling Women narrators increasingly began to tell more openly of their personal lives Schely Newman organizes her narrators accounts by the themes of childhood marriage motherhood immigration and old age and considers a wide range of factors that shape the narration including audience intent choice of language and Jewish Muslim culture The result is a fascinating blend of analysis narration and history

Multiple Case Narrative Asher She?edi,2005-01-01 This book introduces a methodology for the construction of a comprehensive narrative description and narrative based theory from the study of multiple populations The book has two parallel foci On the one hand it is a conceptual treatise focusing on the principles of the Multiple Case Narrative On the other hand it also has a practical how to focus with a step by step guide to conducting a Multiple Case Narrative The book is accessible and comprehensive and addresses both those in the field as well as those with little background in the methodologies of narrative study and qualitative research This book is also relevant to those who are interested in other qualitative varieties like single and collective narrative inquiry single and collective case study as well as ethnography because each of the procedures and techniques described here can be easily utilized for conducting other types of qualitative research

Ethics and Process in the Narrative Study of Lives Ruthellen Josselson, 1996-03-14 In taking up the topic of ethics and narrative inquiry The Narrative Study of Lives rightfully establishes itself as the site where the most critical theoretical methodological and interpretive work on narrative in the human disciplines is now occurring The editor and the contributors to this volume are to be thanked for their deeply probing forward looking analyses of the ethical problems that arise when researchers produce narratives about persons with whom close personal relationships have been formed Norman K Denzin University of Illinois Urbana Champaign All of us who work with life history narratives are grateful to Dr Josselson and her colleagues for moving us step by step toward a discipline with definable ethics and methodology and at the same time holding up for us the incredible diversity of the field and the range of insights it offers Mary Catherine Bateson author of Peripheral Visions The most significant truths about human beings are to be found in the stories of their lives But what happens to those stories and to the people whose lives are told when a researcher seeks to make those stories known Ruthellen Josselson has assembled an international cast of scholars to reflect on the process of life narrative study and the ethical dilemmas that face researchers whose very mode of narrative inquiry may inevitably involve a violation of another and unwittingly lead to a sense of betrayal shame or guilt In these disarmingly candid and engaging essays narrative researchers of many different stripes talk about the morally delicate and epistemologically precarious enterprise of telling another's story The authors raise fascinating questions about who ultimately controls the tellings what happens to stories once they are told and why stories influence not only the people whose lives are told but also the tellers themselves whose own professional and personal lives may even be captured by or appropriated into the stories they are aiming to tell This exceptional volume the latest in The Narrative Study of Lives series is essential for researchers professionals and students in research methods including qualitative methods developmental psychology education relationships and language and discourse analysis

Warrior Women Mary Isabelle Young, Florence Paynter, Khea Paul, Brenda Mary Parisian, Jerri-Lynn Orr, Dorothy Moore, Laura Marshall, Jennifer Lamoureux, Lucy Joe, Janice Huber, 2012-11-29 Warrior Women makes visible the ongoing intergenerational narrative reverberations Young 2003 2005 shaped through Canada's residential school era which denied the communal and cultural economic educational human familial linguistic and spiritual rights of Aboriginal people

The Social Life of Stories Julie Cruikshank, 2000-08-01 In this theoretically sophisticated study of indigenous oral narratives Julie Cruikshank moves beyond the text to explore the social significance of storytelling Circumpolar Native peoples today experience strikingly different and often competing systems of narrative and knowledge These systems include traditional oral stories the authoritative literate voice of the modern state and the narrative forms used by academic disciplines to represent them to outsiders Pressured by other systems of narrative and truth how do Native peoples use their stories and find them still meaningful in the late twentieth century Why does storytelling continue to thrive What can anthropologists learn from the structure and performance of indigenous narratives to become better academic storytellers themselves Cruikshank addresses these questions by deftly blending the stories gathered from her own fieldwork with interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives on dialogue and storytelling including the insights of Walter Benjamin Mikhail Bakhtin and Harold Innis Her analysis reveals the many ways in which the artistry and structure of storytelling mediate between social action and local knowledge in indigenous northern communities

Stories we live and grow by Muna Saleh, 2019-02-01 Interweaving my experiences as a Canadian Muslim woman mother grand daughter educator and scholar throughout this work I write about living and narratively inquiring Clandinin and Connelly Narrative Inquiry Clandinin alongside three Muslim mothers and daughters during our daughters transition into adolescence I was interested in mother and daughter experiences during this time of life transition because my eldest daughter Malak was in the midst of transitioning into adolescence as I embarked upon my doctoral research I had many wonders about Malak s experiences my experiences as a mother and the experiences of other Muslim daughters and mothers in the midst of similar life transitions I wondered about how dominant narratives from within and across Muslim and other communities in Canada shape our lives and experiences For while we are often storied as victims of various oppressions in media literature and elsewhere little is known about our diverse experiences particularly the experiences of Muslim mothers and daughters composing our selves and lives alongside one another in familial places

The Researcher Experience in Qualitative Research Susan Diemert Moch, Marie F. Gates, 2000 One of the most prominent currents felt in the arena of qualitative research methods is the impulse toward reflexivity and self analysis researchers considering their own place in the research act The goals of this book are to describe various researcher experiences and give novice researchers some insight to better choose research settings deal with their own personal issues in the research act and to report their research accurately The first part of the book will consider various populations and settings for qualitative research with a special emphasis on health care related settings Part Two will discuss how one processes the researcher experience both in terms of tools that can be used networking focused discussions qualitative writing etc as well as issues pertaining to processing cross cultural and gender issues etc It then offers some insight into ways of processing the researcher experience in teams Finally in part three the author turn to ways of reporting the researcher experience both in terms of possible setting journal articles chapters the Internet as well as modes and issues first person narratives ethical considerations

Forms of Curriculum Inquiry Edmund C. Short, 1991-01-01 This book presents an overview of seventeen forms of inquiry used in curriculum research in education Conventional disciplinary forms of inquiry such as philosophical historical and scientific are described as well as more recently acknowledged forms such as ethnographic aesthetic narrative phenomenological and hermeneutic Interdisciplinary forms such as theoretical normative critical deliberative and action research are also included These forms of inquiry are distinguished from one another in terms of purposes types of research questions addressed and the processes and logic of procedure employed in arriving at knowledge claims

Documents of Life Revisited Liz Stanley, 2016-05-13 The cultural and narrative turn has had a considerable impact upon research in the social sciences as well as in the arts and humanities with Ken Plummer s Documents of Life constituting a central text in the turn towards to narrative biographical and qualitative methodologies challenging and changing the nature of research in sociology and further afield Bringing together the latest research on auto biographical and narrative methods Documents of Life Revisited offers a sympathetic yet critical engagement with Plummer s work exploring a range of different kinds of life documents and delineating a critical humanist methodology for researching and writing about these A rich examination of the methods and methodologies associated with contemporary research in the social sciences and humanities this book will be of interest to those concerned with the use and importance of biographical and narrative sources and documents of life investigations As such it will appeal to sociologists social anthropologists and geographers as well as scholars of cultural studies and cultural history literary studies and library archive and cultural management social policy and medical studies

Stories of Life in the Workplace Larry D. Browning, G. H. Morris, 2012 Addressing both renowned theories and standard applications Stories of Life in the Workplace explains how stories affect human practices and organizational life Authors Larry Browning and George H Morris explore how we experience interpret and personalize narrative stories in our everyday lives and how these communicative acts impact our social aims and interactions In pushing the boundaries of how we perceive narrative and organization the authors include stories that are broadly applicable across all concepts and experiences With a perception of narrative and its organizational application chapters focus on areas such as pedagogy therapy project management strategic planning public communication and organizational culture Readers will learn to differentiate and gain an in depth understanding of perspectives from varying narrators recognize how stories are constructed and used in organizations and modify the stories they tell view stories as a means to promote an open exchange of creativity By integrating a range of theories and practices Browning and Morris write for an audience of narrative novices and scholars alike With a distinctive approach and original insight Stories of Life in the Workplace shows how individuality developing culture and the psychology of the self are constructed with language and how the acceptance of one's self is accomplished by reaffirming and rearranging one's story

Fundamentals of Qualitative Research Kakali Bhattacharya, 2017-03-16 This book is the road map to proficiency and development in the field of qualitative research Borrowing from a wealth of experience teaching introductory qualitative research courses author Kakali Bhattacharya lays out a dynamic program for learning different paradigms of inquiry empowering students to recognize the convergence of popular research methodologies as well as the nuances and complexities that set each of them apart Her book supplements the readings and activities in a qualitative methods class exposing students to the research process and the dominant types of qualitative research introduces a variety of theoretical perspectives in qualitative research including positivism and postpositivism interpretivism feminism symbolic interactionism phenomenology hermeneutics critical theory and Critical Race Theory identifies and summarizes the three dominant methodological approaches in qualitative research narrative inquiry grounded theory and ethnography provides interactive activities and exercises to help students crystallize their understanding of the different topics in each chapter

Stories We've Heard, Stories We've Told Jeffrey A. Kottler, 2015 If you ask someone the question Tell me a story that changed your life there will almost certainly be a thoughtful pause before a huge grin emerges Everyone's life has been guided and impacted by stories beginning with the earliest fables and nursery rhymes our parents used to instill moral values to the last time you wanted to illustrate a point in a meeting or get a laugh out of a friend over dinner Storytelling is a uniquely human activity among our first and most enduring forms of communication This is a book about the meaning of stories in people's lives especially those that have produced enduring changes in their values behavior lifestyle and worldview Carefully documented and supported by research from the social sciences as well as from neurobiology the humanities media studies and arts Jeffrey Kottler will explore how and why stories are so powerfully influential in people's lives especially those that lead to major life transformations

Acculturating Age: Approaches to Cultural Gerontology Brian J. Worsfold, 2011 Acculturating refers to the interchange of patterns of behaviour perceptions and ideas between groups of individuals who have different cultural backgrounds This book which is the result of collaboration between specialists from different disciplines from around the world allows the comparison of systems of dependency mediation skills empathy and social understanding and cultural attitudes towards people who experience the stages of aging Learning through Collaboration in Self-Study Brandon M. Butler, Shawn Michael Bullock, 2022-02-08 Self study is inherently collaborative Such collaboration provides transparency validity rigor and trustworthiness in conducting self study However the ways in which these collaborations are enacted have not been sufficiently addressed in the self study literature This book addresses these gaps in the literature by placing critical friendship collaborative self study and community of practice at the forefront of the self study of teaching It highlights these forms of collaboration how the collaboration was developed and enacted the challenges and tensions that existed in the collaboration and how practice and identity developed through the use of these forms of collaboration The chapters serve as exemplars of enacting these forms of collaboration and provide researchers with an additional base of literature to draw upon in their scholarly writing teaching of self study and their enactment of collaborative self study spaces
