Assignment 1 : Comparing Systems Theories and Structural Approaches to the Study of Social Problems

Objectives

The purpose of this assignment is to identify students' the way sociologists study social problems and to distinguish the theoretical methods of studying problems and to provide the explanation systems found in popular everyday conversations, explaining problems, social structures, or systems provided by the media. Specifically, this assignment is designed to: introduce students to the way of explaining social problems by looking within larger systems for causes; systems theory; explain why systems approaches are useful in the analysis and action of individual "personal, family" explanations; introduce the assignment to the current method of thinking and conducting social study.

Identify one of the objectives of this assignment is described:

1. Identifying the relationship of approaches to social problems
2. Comparing different methods of approaches to social problems, including their strengths and weaknesses
3. Understanding why it is difficult to distinguish different approaches to social problems used in newspaper-related pages
4. Understanding why to apply theoretical concepts to real life situations
5. Understanding the most effectively and better format approaches to the situation

Instructions

1. Explain the two main models: "systems-theory" and "personal-theory" approaches to the study of social problems.
2. List advantages and disadvantages of each approach.
3. Identify either the "systems-theory" approach (see 1.1) or the "personal-theory" approach (see 1.2) and explain the advantages and disadvantages of each approach to social problems in the U.S.
4. Identify the approach for "personal-theory" or "systems-theory" to identify the nature of social issues.
5. List each approach, the advantages and disadvantages provided by the nature.
6. Using your knowledge and insight into the specific explanations by the nature of the society, what are the disadvantages of each. Explain why these explanations about "personal-theory" are not understanding of social problems.
