Missionaries spread across the USA shifted voluntary welfare services to an organized work scheme. The students had to carry out various social work activities in the city as voluntary unpaid services (Desai A., 2002).

American missionary Clifford Manshardt initiated professional social work in India. In the first year in India, he stayed in Ahmadnagar district of Bombay province. He studied rural India and extended his work in industrial labour communities in the Byculla area of Mumbai (erstwhile Bombay) city. After 10 years of his service in local communities, he was invited to be an adviser to the trustees of Sir Dorabji Tata Trust (Pathak, 1981). Professionalisation of social work education was started under
