Structuralist Studies in Arabic Linguistics Kirk Belnap, Niloofar Haeri, 2017-07-03 Containing Charles Ferguson's papers on Arabic linguistics this volume addresses issues of continuing concern in phonology syntax historical linguistics and sociolinguistics The introduction provides a biographical sketch including excerpts from interviews with Ferguson in which he discusses his career and dealings with Arabic A critical overview precedes each of the four sections Diachronica Phonology Register and Genre and General This work fills an important gap in the history of linguistics in documenting much of the career and contributions of a formative figure in American linguistics In addition to updating Ferguson's articles the volume preserves Ferguson's reflections on the events personalities relationships and issues at the time he wrote the articles as well as on subsequent developments A unique and fascinating picture of a pioneer linguist Sociolinguistic Perspectives Charles Albert

Ferguson, 1996 Sociopolitical Perspectives on Language Policy and Planning in the USA Thom Huebner, Kathryn A. Davis, 1999-11-15 This volume is the result of a colloquium on socio political dimensions of language policy and language planning held at the 1997 American Association of Applied Linguistics AAAL Conference The focus is on language planning and policy in the USA but the issues raised will be applicable to other parts of the world as well Three broad issues are addressed general aspects case studies dealing with certain languages or ethnic groups and language planning in practice The first general part provides a historical analysis of language planning and language policy in the US and proceeds to deal with maintenance and loss of indigenous languages and the constraints imposed by current policies and how these constraints can be effectively dealt with. The second part contains a number of case studies. It discusses aspects of planning policies pertaining to pidgin languages, gestural languages used by the deaf, ASL and constraints in foreign language education. This part also raises issues relating to ethnic groups concentrating on the position of Mexicans and Puerto Ricans in the US. In the third part, some practical issues are raised by looking into the role of language and culture in teaching reading, foreign language policy in higher education, Hawaiian language renaissance and gender neutralization in American English. The book is a tribute to Charlene Junko Sato, a sociolinguist and a language activist. She died in 1996 and will be remembered for her work not only in linguistics but also for her dedication in advancing Hawaiian Pidgin, influencing language policy through various publications and court room appearances.

Prescription and Tradition in Language Ingrid Tieken-Boon van Ostade, Carol Percy, 2016-11-14. This book contextualises case studies across a wide variety of languages and cultures, crystallising key interrelationships between linguistic standardisation and prescriptivism and between ideas and practices. It focuses on different traditions of standardisation and prescription throughout the world and addresses questions such as how nationalistic idealisations of traditional language persist or shift amid language change, linguistic variation and multilingualism. The volume explores issues of standardisation and the sociolinguistic phenomenon of prescription as a formative influence on the notional standard language as well as the interconnections between these in a wide range of geographical contexts. It balances the otherwise strong emphasis on English in English language publications on prescriptivism and breaks new ground with its multilingual approach across languages and nations. The book will appeal to scholars working within different linguistic traditions interested in questions relating to all aspects of standardisation and prescriptivism.

Negotiating Malay Identities in Singapore Rizwana Abdul Azeez, 2016-03-01. Singapore Malays subscribe to mostly traditional rather than modern interpretations of Islam. Singapore state officials however wish to curb the challenges such interpretations bring to the country's political, social, educational and economic domains. Thus these officials launched a programme to socially engineer modern Muslim identities amongst Singapore Malays in 2003 which is ongoing. Negotiating Muslim Identities documents a variety of ethnographic encounters that point to the power struggles surrounding two basic and very different ways of living. While the Singapore state has gained some successes for its project, it has also faced significant and multiple setbacks. Amongst them, state officials have had to contend with traditional Islamic authority that Malay elders carry and who cannot be ignored because these elders are time-entrenched authority figures in their community. One of the book's significant contributions is that it documents how Singapore, an avowedly secular state, has now turned to Islam as a tool for governance. Just as significant are the insights the study provides on another aspect of Singapore state governance, one usually described as authoritarian. The book demonstrates that even authoritarian states can face serious obstacles in the face of religion's influence over its followers. The academic literature on Singapore Malays is sparse.

this work not only fills gaps in the existing academic literature but provides new and original research data Its data rich ethnographic and anthropological approach show the complexities of Malay and Muslim social contexts and complements other works that examine Southeast Asian states management of Islam which has attracted much scholarship given the global interest in Islam based politics and social organisation

Bilingualism and Malay Language Planning in Singapore Dr. Mohamed Aidil Subhan,2018-04-20 This book details concerns both perceived and real among the Malay language community against a background of language shift and changing attitudes toward the language as a result of the bilingual policy and to analyze the impact of the English knowing and Mandarin led bilingual system This research will list selected educational review reports and relate it to its impact on Malay language planning and offer a response in terms of pedagogical approaches required to address the changing demographics and language shift among Malay language learners

The Multilingual Jesus and the Sociolinguistic World of the New Testament Hughson T. Ong,2015-10-05 In The Multilingual Jesus and the Sociolinguistic World of the New Testament Hughson Ong provides a study of the multifarious social and linguistic dynamics that compose the speech community of ancient Palestine which include its historical linguistic shifts under different military regimes its geographical linguistic landscape the social functions of the languages in its linguistic repertoire and the specific types of social contexts where those languages were used Using a sociolinguistic model his study attempts to paint a portrait of the sociolinguistic situation of ancient Palestine This book is arguably the most comprehensive treatment of the subject matter to date in terms of its survey of the secondary literature and of its analysis of the sociolinguistic environment of first century Palestine

Language in Time Peter Auer,Elizabeth Couper-Kuhlen,Frank Müller,1999 The authors here promote the reintroduction of temporality into the description and analysis of spoken interaction They argue that spoken words are in fact temporal objects and that unless linguists consider how they are delivered within the context of time they will not capture the full meaning of situated language use Their approach is rigorously empirical with analyses of English German and Italian rhythm all grounded in sequences of actual talk in interaction

The Language of Turn and Sequence Cecilia E.

Ford,Barbara A. Fox,Sandra A. Thompson,2002 This collection of previously unpublished cutting edge research discusses the conversation analysis CA approach to understanding language use CA is the dominant theory for analyzing the social use of language and is concerned with the description of how speakers engage in conversation and other forms of social interaction involving language Its proponents are not only linguists but sociologists and anthropologists as well The unifying theme of these chapters is the intersection of practice and form through the construction of turns and sequences
