Nudging Public Policy Rosemarie Fike, Stefanie Haeffele, Arielle John, 2021-11-17 This book asks several critical questions relevant to those interested in public policy What is a nudge What are the ethical implications of and justifications for nudges Are we able to have nudges without affecting one's freedom to choose In what institutional context are nudges likely to work well and in what context are they likely to fail The text explores several real world instances of government attempts at successful choice architecture across a wide range of policy topics internet privacy laws environmental policy education policy the sharing economy and creating a national culture This approach also highlights the spontaneous and evolutionary nature of social institutions like culture and trust Attempts from policymakers to generate these social institutions where they did not exist previously are unlikely to succeed unless they are aligned with the unique characteristics of the society in question This raises the question of whether the seemingly successful policy interventions were even necessary A few of the chapters in this book directly examine these issues through case studies of both Latin America and Singapore Each chapter in this volume explores the ways in which individuals in society respond to attempts by policymakers to nudge them towards a specific outcome Some chapters explore the theoretical arguments in favor of utilizing this behavioral policy approach Others explore the feasibility and potential limitations of this approach to public policy Several of the chapters apply market process theory to understand a particular case study where nudge policies have been put into practice The chapters authored by an interdisciplinary group of policy scholars include discussions of internet privacy laws the sharing economy education policy environmental policy as well as social issues such as trust and culture

The Mirror, 1986 People, Place, Race, and Nation in Xinjiang, China David O'Brien, Melissa Shani Brown, 2022-11-14 In one of the only works drawing on interviews with both Uyghurs and Han in Xinjiang China and postcolonial perspectives on ethnicity nation and race this book explores how forms of banal racism underpin ideas of self and other assimilation and modernisation in this restive region Significant international attention has condemned the CCP's use of forced internment in re education camps as well as its campaign of cultural assimilation In this wider context this book focuses upon the ways in which ethnic difference is writ through the banalities of everyday life who one trusts what one eats where one shops even what time one's clocks are set to Xinjiang being perhaps one of the only places where different ethnic groups live by different time zones. Alongside chapters focusing upon the coercive re-education campaign and the devastating Urumchi Riots in 2009, this book also unpacks how discourses of Chinese nationalism romanticise empire and promote racialised ways of thinking about Chineseness; how cultural assimilation and Sinicisation is being justified through the rhetoric of modernisation; how Islamic sites and Uyghur culture are being secularised and commodified for tourist consumption. We also explore Uyghur and Han perspectives including of each other, giving insight into the diversity of opinions within both groups. Based on many years of living and working in China and fieldwork and interviews specifically in Xinjiang, this book will be valuable to a variety of readers interested in the region and Uyghur and Han identity, ethnic national identities in contemporary China and racism in non-western contexts.

Multilingual Singapore Ritu Jain, 2021-05-25. This volume brings together researchers whose analysis and insights provide a comprehensive and up-to-date account of Singapore's rich linguistic diversity. Applying a combination of descriptive, empirical and theoretical approaches, the authors investigate not only official languages such as English, Mandarin, Malay and Tamil, but also minority languages such as the Chinese vernaculars and South Asian and Austronesian languages. The chapters in this volume trace the historical development, contemporary status and functions of these languages, as well as potential scenarios for the future. Exploring the tension between language policies and linguistic realities in Singapore, the contributions in this volume capture the shifting educational, political and societal priorities of the community through its past and contemporary present.

Encyclopedia of Diasporas Melvin Ember, Carol R. Ember, Ian Skoggard, 2004-11-30. Immigration is a topic that is as important among anthropologists as it is to the general public. Almost every culture has experienced adaptation and assimilation when immigrating to a new country and culture, usually leaving for what is perceived as a better life. Not only does this diaspora change the country of adoption, but also the country of origin. Many large nations in the world have absorbed and continue to absorb large numbers of immigrants. The foreseeable future will see a continuation of large-scale immigration as many countries experience civil war and secessionist pressures. Currently, there is no reference work that describes the impact upon the immigrants and the immigrant societies relevant to the world's cultures and provides an overview of important topics in the world's diasporas. The encyclopedia consists of two volumes covering three main sections. Diaspora Overviews covers over 20 ethnic groups that have experienced voluntary or forced immigration. These essays discuss the history behind the social, economic and political reasons for leaving the original countries and the cultures in the new places. Topics discusses the impact and assimilation that the immigrant cultures experience in their adopted cultures, including the arts they bring, the struggles they face and some of the cities that are in the forefront of receiving immigrant cultures. Diaspora Communities include over 60 portraits of specific diaspora communities. Each portrait follows a standard outline to facilitate comparisons. The Encyclopedia of Diasporas can be used both to gain a general understanding of immigration and immigrants and to find out about particular cultures, topics and communities It will prove of great value to researchers and students curriculum developers teachers and government officials It brings together the disciplines of anthropology social studies political studies international studies and immigrant and immigration studies      George Yeo On Bonsai, Banyan And The Tao Asad-ul Iqbal Latif,Huay Leng Lee,2015-05-18 Since his undergraduate days in Cambridge George Yeo has spoken and written much in and out of government Many remember the things which he said or wrote years ago This book is a compilation of some of his best speeches and writings which were selected by Asad Latif and Lee Huay Leng in consultation with him The book has a rather unusual title because there are many aspects to George Yeo which makes him difficult to classify As a student leader he was radical but conciliatory In the Singapore Armed Forces he was atypical moving from the Army to the Air Force before becoming Director of Joint Operations and Planning In politics he is fondly remembered by artists journalists doctors businessmen and foreign diplomats and by his colleagues and constituents His own staff said he had a curious mind They complained that he rarely used the drafts which they had prepared for him George Yeo describes himself as a Taoist even though he is a Roman Catholic and is now on the Papal staff Buddhists are surprised he championed the revival of Nalanda University as an international project He remains close to Singaporeans of different races and religions even though he has a deep sense of his own ancestral roots and religion In politics he has been described both as a liberal and a conservative In his Parliamentary maiden speech he spoke of the importance of democracy but has repeated many times that democracy is only a means and not an end in itself He has a deep interest in history which partly explains his seeing the re emergence of China and India earlier than most others The bonsai and the banyan are metaphors he uses for Singapore Singapore is a city state and must never have an inflated view of itself The bonsai describes Singapore modestly but he adds that the bonsai can be intensely interesting and valuable The banyan provides shade and we are grateful for it but too much makes us weak As for the Tao that perhaps is what gives unity to his many interests      The Chinese Face in Australia Lucille Lok-Sun Ngan,Chan Kwok-bun,2012-06-07 The book explains how multi generational Australian born Chinese ABC negotiate the balance of two cultures It explores both the philosophical and theoretical levels focusing on deconstructing and re evaluating the concept of Chineseness At a social and experiential level it concentrates on how successive generations of early migrants experience negotiate and express their Chinese identity The diasporic literature has taken up the idea of hybrid identity construction largely in relation to first and second generation migrants and to the sojourner s sense of roots in a diasporic setting somewhat lost in the debate over Chinese diasporas and identities are the experiences of long term migrant communities Their experiences are usually discussed in terms of the melting pot concepts of assimilation and integration that assume ethnic identification decreases and eventually disappears over successive generations Based on ethnography fieldwork and participant observation on multi generational Australian born Chinese whose families have resided in Australia from three to six generations this study reveals a contrasting picture of ethnic identification      The Management Of Success Kernial Singh Sandhu,Paul

Wheatley, Kernial Singh Sandhu (A), 2019-06-19 A collection of analytical reflections on how the island of Singapore has been transformed from a colony in a crumbling empire into a thriving modern secular independent republic These are the results of a five year project by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies
