Turn Manning Clark, 2013-05-09 This fascinating book brings together forty two selected speeches and lectures by Professor Manning Clark They range over fifty years from What of Germany delivered in 1940 to the last delivered in 1991 just before his death at the launch of Barry Humphries book The Life and Death of Sandy Stone and reveal recurring themes as well as developments in Clark s thinking In one sense they are all of a piece They reflect the values aspirations regrets and laughter of one passionate and intelligent man In another they change and develop during the course of that man s intellectual and emotional career In early manhood he analysed issues and problems ruthlessly in terms of his own values In middle life he portrayed men and women and expounded ideas from a historical perspective Towards his end the elegiac mood prevailed and he sought not always successfully to speak as a life affirmer and to regard all men and women and events with the eye of pity A History of Australia Volumes 1 2 Earliest Times 1838 deals with the pre white settlement era and the earliest years of European colonisation through to the establishment of an increasingly settled society and the expeditions of the great inland explorers Speaking Out Linde Zingaro, 2017-03-02 Many professionals in health education and community service roles are caught in a particular bind of identity they live in a complex social borderland of credibility and professional authority while experiencing or having experienced the same discrimination violence or trauma that they are committed to conquering For some the disclosure of their own stories of marginalization has become a tool for advocacy for telling a larger truth for others self disclosure is a more personal action intended to assist isolated others in developing trust and connection Linde Zingaro a lifelong social service worker and activist interviewed several colleagues who have chosen to speak out in this way talking with them about their ethics and intentions and collaborating to identify some of the risks of negative personal and professional consequences for the practitioner She uses their voices and her own to illustrate some of the ways that these people have learned to safely and effectively use the transformative potential of storytelling as significant social action This examination of speaking out as a meaningful social practice may help other workers activists and community researchers in their efforts to be heard in the interests of a more just society      Speak Out! Inside Speaking Out JHB, 2011-10-06 none      Tales Out of School Jo Keroes, 1999 Jo Keroes's scope is wide she examines the teacher as represented in fiction and film in works ranging from the twelfth century letters of Abelard and Heloise to contemporary films such as Dangerous Minds and Educating Rita And from the twelfth through the twentieth century Keroes shows the teaching encounter is essentially erotic Tracing the roots of eros from cultural as well as psychological perspectives Keroes defines erotic in terms broader than the merely sexual She analyzes ways in which teachers serve as convenient figures on whom to map conflicts about gender power and desire To show how portrayals of men and women differ she examines pairs of texts using a film or a novel with a woman protagonist Up the Down Staircase for example as counterpoint to one featuring a male teacher Blackboard Jungle or The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie balanced against Dead Poets Society The portrayals of teachers like all images a culture presents of itself reveal much about our private and social selves Keroes points out authentic accounts of authoritative women teachers who are admired and respected by colleagues and students alike Real teachers differ from the stereotypes we see in fiction and film however Male teachers are often portrayed as heroes in film and fallibly human in fiction whereas women in either genre are likely to be monstrous or muddled and are virtually never women of color Among other things Keroes demonstrates the tension between reality and representation reveals society's ambivalence about power in the hands of women      From Violence to Speaking Out Leonard Lawlor, 2016-08-30 Drawing on a career long exploration of 1960s French philosophy Leonard Lawlor seeks a solution to the problem of the worst violence The worst violence is the reaction of total apocalypse without remainder it is the reaction of complete negation and death it is nihilism Lawlor argues that it is not just transcendental violence that must be minimised all violence must itself be reduced to its lowest level He offers new ways of speaking to best achieve the least violence which he creatively appropriates from Foucault Derrida and Deleuze and Guattari as speaking freely speaking distantly and speaking in tongues      [unclear] [unclear] (unclear), 2004      Sitting in and Speaking Out Jeffrey A. Turner, 2010 In Sitting In and Speaking Out Jeffrey A. Turner examines student movements in the South to grasp the nature of activism in the region during the turbulent 1960s Turner argues that the story of student activism is too often focused on national groups like Students for a Democratic Society and events at schools like Columbia University and the University of California at Berkeley Examining the activism of black and white students he shows that the South responded to national developments but that the response had its own trajectory one that was rooted in race Turner looks at such events as the initial desegregation of campuses integration's long aftermath as students learned to share institutions the Black Power movement and the antiwar movement Escalating protest against the Vietnam War tested southern distinctiveness says Turner The South's tendency toward hawkishness impeded antiwar activism but once that activism arrived it was as in other parts of the country oriented toward events at national and global scales Nevertheless southern student activism retained some of its core characteristics Even in the late 1960s southern protesters demands tended toward reform often eschewing calls to revolution increasingly heard elsewhere Based on primary research at more than twenty public and private institutions in the deep and upper South including historically black schools Sitting In and Speaking Out is a wide ranging and sensitive portrait of southern students navigating a remarkably dynamic era

Speaking Out Matthew Kohut,2024-09-02 Abortion Ukraine Voting rights Climate change These are just a few of the issues that Fortune 500 CEOs addressed publicly in the past twelve months Speaking Out The New Rules of Business Leadership Communication defines the changing landscape of CEO communication at a time when corporate leaders are expected to navigate an increasing range of complex political and social issues Skeptics have already dubbed this change the victory of woke politics over the corporate sector Others warn CEOs about the talking trap of speaking out on every issue du jour But these critiques overlook the need for corporate leaders to manage political and social risks Chief executives whose only strategy is to avoid risk by saying nothing do so at their peril The ultimate question is not just what leaders say but what they do Speaking Out provides case studies of leaders who have spoken out and backed words with action as well as others who have had mixed records on accountability failed to show progress on public commitments or faced consequences for taking a stance Speaking Out offers a new lens for understanding the difference between PR efforts that can be easily dismissed as spin and authentic communication that enhances credibility and trust
