God and Human Dignity Rufus Burrow Jr., 1992-01-31 Although countless books have been devoted to the life and work of Martin Luther King Jr few if any have focused on King's appropriation of and contribution to the intellectual tradition of personalism Emerging as a philosophical movement in the early 1900s personalism is a type of philosophical idealism that has a number of affinities with Christianity such as a focus on a personal God and the sanctity of persons Burrow points to similarities and dissimilarities between personalism and the social gospel movement with its call to churchgoers to involve themselves in the welfare of both individuals and society He argues that King's adoption of personalism represented the fusion of his black Christian faith and his commitment not only to the social gospel of Rauschenbusch but most especially to the social gospelism practiced by his grandfather father and black preacher scholars at Morehouse College Burrow devotes much needed attention both to King's conviction that the universe is value infused and to the implications of this ideology for King's views on human dignity and his concept of the Beloved Community Burrow also sheds light on King's doctrine of God He contends that King's view of God has been uncritically and erroneously relegated by black liberation theologians to the general category of theistic absolutism and he offers corrections to what he believes are misinterpretations of this and other aspects of King's thought He concludes with an application of King's personalism to present day social problems particularly as they pertain to violence in the black community This book is a useful and fresh contribution to our understanding of the life and thought of Martin Luther King Jr

It will be read with interest by ethicists theologians philosophers and social historians

The Politics of the Black "nation" Georgia Anne Persons, This volume of the National Political Science Review the official publication of the National Political Science Association is anchored by a major symposium on The Politics of the Black Nation the book authored by Matthew Holden in 1973 which is now considered one of the most influential books in the field of black politics Twenty five years provide a sufficient timespan on which to base a retrospective of the book and simultaneously to reflect upon the evolution of the black liberation struggle more formally called African American politics In the present age there is not much talk about a black nation certainly not as was heard during the 1960s and mid 1970s Yet there is a persistent sense of separateness in that there is constant thought and talk of Black America as a significantly separate communal entity Black Americans are seen as a racially and culturally distinct community holding to social political economic interests which have special significance and poignancy for them Holden s perception of the nature of the times in the early seventies stands in sharp contrast to how contemporary analysts of African American politics tend to perceive the nature of African Americans role in political life and their position in American society in the present age In this retrospective readers have the opportunity to get a sense of what Holden argued of the seven essays that make up his seminal volume and to consider how well Holden s observations have stood the tests of time In addition to the essays presented at the symposium which pointedly discuss Holden s work there are essays dealing with African American Politics in Constancy and Change by contributors including Charles Henry David Covin Robert C Smith Clyde Lusane Cheryl Miller D Linell Finley and Sekou Franklin among others Other features are a highly informative discussion of the Literary Digest magazine s Straw Vote Presidential Polls 1916 1936 and a review essay by Peter Ronaye in which he discusses America as New World Power U S Foreign Policy in the Post Cold War Era The volume concludes with fifteen book reviews by knowledgeable scholars The Politics of the Black Nation is a timely thought provoking volume It will be of immense value to ethnic studies specialists African American studies scholars political scientists historians and sociologists Georgia A Persons is professor in the School of Public Policy at the Georgia Institute of Technology and the current editor of the National Political Science Review
