The Kingdom of Art attempts to give a summary of the first elementary principles on which one writer based her art and then to present a collection of critical statements personal and occasional as well as theoretical that seem to give a realistic view of Willa Cather as she was in the years 1893-1896 Willa Cather, Autographed photo America Willa Sibert Cather December 7 1873-1 April 24 1947 was an American author who achieved recognition for her novels of frontier life on the Great Plains in works such as O Pioneers, My Antonia and The Song of the Lark. In 1923 she was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for One of Ours 1922 a novel set during World War I. Cather grew up in Nebraska and graduated from the University of Nebraska. She lived and worked in Pittsburgh for ten years then at age 33 she moved to New York where she lived for the rest of her life.

The Art of Willa Cather, 1980 Willa Cather on Writing Willa Cather, 1988-01-01

Whatever is felt upon the page without being specifically named there that one might say is created. This famous observation appears in Willa Cather on Writing, a collection of essays and letters first published in 1949. In the course of it Cather writes with grace and piercing clarity about her own fiction and that of Sarah Orne Jewett, Stephen Crane and Katherine Mansfield among others. She concludes Art is a concrete and personal and rather childish thing after all no matter what people do to graft it into science and make it sociological and psychological it is no good at all unless it is let alone to be itself a game of make believe of reproduction very exciting and delightful to people who have an ear for it or an eye for it.

The Art of Willa Cather Bernice Slote, Virginia Faulkner, 1974 Violence, the Arts, and Willa Cather Joseph R. Urgo, Merrill Maguire Skaggs, 2007

Willa Cather was devoted to making art in the face of violence. Here she emerges as a resource for survival in an age of terror an artist who encourages her readers to feel at home in the nexus of creativity and terror and to seek creative responses to the horror of human life.
