The Arts in Prehistoric Greece Sinclair Hood,1994-01-01 Originally published in 1978 by Penguin Books      A World History of Art Hugh Honour,John Fleming,2005 Over two decades this art historical tour de force has consistently proved the classic introduction to humanity's artistic heritage From our paleolithic past to our digitised present every continent and culture is covered in an articulate and well balanced discussion In this Seventh Edition the text has been revised to embrace developments in archaeology and art historical research while the renowned contemporary art historian Michael Archer has greatly expanded the discussion of the past twenty years providing a new perspective on the latest developments The insight elegance and fluency that the authors bring to their text are complemented by 1458 superb illustrations half of which are now in colour These images together with the numerous maps and architectural plans have been chosen to represent the most significant chronological regional and individual styles of artistic expression      History of Art Horst Woldemar Janson,Anthony F. Janson,2004 For forty years this widely acclaimed classic has remained unsurpassed as an introduction to art in the Western world boasting the matchless credibility of the Janson name This newest update features a more contemporary more colorful design and vast array of extraordinarily produced illustrations that have become the Janson hallmark A narrative voice makes this book a truly enjoyable read and carefully reviewed and revised updates to this edition offer the utmost clarity in contributions based on recent scholarship Extensive captions for the book's incredible art program offer profound insight through the eyes of twentieth century art historians speaking about specific pieces of art featured throughout Significantly changed in this edition is the chapter on The Late Renaissance in which Janson offers a new perspective on the subject tracing in detail the religious art tied to the Catholic Reform movement whose early history is little known to many readers of art history Janson has also rearranged early Renaissance art according to genres instead of time sequence and he has followed the reinterpretation of Etruscan art begun in recent years by German and English art historians With a truly humanist approach this book gives written and visual meaning to the captivating story of what artists have tried to express and why for more than 30 000 years      The Metal Objects (1952-1989) ,      Materiality and Consumption in the Bronze Age Mediterranean Louise Steel,2013 The importance of cultural contacts in the East Mediterranean has long been recognized and is the focus of ongoing international research Fieldwork in the Aegean Egypt Cyprus and the Levant continues to add to our understanding of the nature of this contact and its social and economic significance particularly to the cultures of the Aegean Despite sophisticated discussion of the archaeological evidence in particular on the part of Aegean and Mediterranean archaeologists there has been little systematic attempt to incorporate anthropological perspectives on materiality and exchange into archaeological narratives of this material This book addresses that gap and integrates anthropological discourse on contact examining exchange systems the gift notions of geographical distance and power colonization and hybridization Furthermore it develops a social narrative of culture contact in the Mediterranean context illustrating the reasons communities chose to engage in international exchange and how this impacted the construction of identities throughout the region While traditional archaeologies in the East Mediterranean have tended to be reductive in their approach to material culture and how it was produced used and exchanged this book reviews current research on material culture focusing on issues such as the biography of objects inalienable possessions and hybridization exploring how these issues can further illuminate the material world of the communities of the Bronze Age Mediterranean

Diplomacy by Design Marian H. Feldman, 2006-05-15 During the fourteenth and thirteenth centuries BCE the kings of Egypt Babylonia Assyria and Hatti participated in a complex international community These two hundred years also witnessed the production of luxurious artworks made of gold ivory alabaster and faience objects that helped to foster good relations among the kingdoms In fact as Marian H Feldman makes clear here art and international relations during the Late Bronze Age formed an unprecedented symbiosis in concert with expanded travel and written communications across the Mediterranean And thus diplomacy was invigorated through the exchange of lavish art objects and luxury goods which shared a repertoire of imagery that modern scholars have called the first International Style in the history of art Previous studies have focused almost exclusively on stylistic attribution of these objects at the expense of social contextualization Feldman s Diplomacy by Design instead examines the profound connection between art produced during this period and its social and political contexts revealing inanimate objects as catalysts or even participants in human dynamics Feldman s fascinating study shows the ways in which the diplomatic circulation of these works actively mediated and strengthened political relations intercultural interactions and economic negotiations and she does so through diverse disciplinary frameworks including art history anthropology and social history Written by a specialist in ancient Near Eastern art and archaeology who has excavated and traveled extensively in this area of the world Diplomacy by Design considers anew the symbolic power of material culture and its centrality in the construction of human relations
