The Astonishing Stereoscope:

The Astonishing Stereoscope Jane Langton,2001-12-01 A magical stereoscope transports Eleanor and Eddy to adventures in a strange three dimensional world The Astonishing Stereoscope Jane Langton,1971-01-01 By discovering they can enter the three dimensional world of the stereoscope two children learn something about reality

The Stereoscopic Examination of Air Photographs Martin Hotine,1927 Stereo World ,1991 The Stereoscopic Picturesque Bruce Graver,2025-09-01 The Stereoscopic Picturesque is an interdisciplinary study of nineteenth century 3D photography and its relation to the picturesque tradition in art literature and tourism The study focuses on the invention of the stereoscope originally a laboratory device for demonstrating the nature of three dimensional vision and the simultaneous invention of photography in order to show how early stereo photographers used the optics of the stereoscope to extend the possibilities of picturesque representation Their images also made virtual travel possible for an international mass audience allowing millions of people to explore places and natural wonders that they would otherwise never have seen Many of these places had deep literary associations Wordsworth s Lake District for instance or Scott s Trossachs and the stereography of these regions constitutes an important yet largely unexplored chapter in the reception history of these authors Many of the photographs were deliberate attempts to encourage the preservation of environmentally sensitive sites something the realism of photography and the 3D presentation of the stereoscope made especially effective The Stereoscopic Picturesque combines fields of study that have rarely been brought into such close contiguity the history of science art history the history of photography literature and environmentalism The result is an unprecedented look at Victorian popular culture and the way stereo photography shaped their ways of seeing the world Unbored Joshua Glenn,Elizabeth Foy Larsen,2013-07-18

Unbored is the book every modern child needs Brilliantly walking the line between cool and constructive it s crammed with activities that are not only fun and doable but that also get kids standing on their own two feet If you re a kid you can Build a tipi or an igloo Learn to knit Take stuff apart and fix it Find out how to be constructively critical Film a stop action movie or edit your own music Do parkour like James Bond Make a little house for a mouse from lollipop sticks Be independent Catch a bus solo or cook yourself lunch Make a fake exhaust for your bike so it sounds like you re revving up a motorcycle Design a board game Go camping or glamping Plan a road trip Get proactive and support the causes you care about Develop your taste and decorate your own room Make a rocket from a coke bottle Play farting games There are gross facts and fascinating stories reports on what stuff is like home schooling working in an office Q As with inspiring grown ups extracts from classic novels lists of useful resources and best ever lists like the top clean rap songs stop motion movies or books about rebellion Just as kids begin to disappear into their screens here is a book that encourages them to use those tech skills to be creative try new things and change the world And it gets parents to join in Unbored is fully illustrated easy to use and appealing to young and old girl and boy Parents will be comforted by its anti perfectionist spirit and humour Kids will just think it s

Parent's Guide to the Best Books for Children Eden Ross Lipson,2000-11-14 The Classic Guide That Helps You Select the Books the Child You Know Will Love In this third fully revised and updated edition of The New York Times Parent s Guide to the Best Books for Children the children s book editor of The New York Times Book Review personally selects and recommends books for children of every age The most comprehensive and authoritative book of its kind has been completely updated for the new millennium It contains hundreds of new entries many expanded descriptions and notations of additional companion and related titles more than 1 700 in all The best loved classics of the twentieth century are included as well as a thoughtful selection of outstanding titles from the last decade Six sections are organized according to reading level Wordless Picture Story Early Reading Middle Reading and Young Adult In addition to a summary of the book each entry provides the essential bibliographic information you need to find a book in your local library or bookstore including title author and or illustrator hardcover and or paperback publisher and publication year major awards related titles The unique and most popular feature of the guide is its system of special indexes more than sixty in all They make it easy for parents and grandparents teachers and librarians even children themselves to match the right book to the right child Browse through the indexes and find titles for every interest and mood picture books about cats mice or dinosaurs for babies funny books to read aloud to toddlers series about family life or school or fantasy adventures for a middle grade child books on divorce or death and coming of age novels just right for someone starting junior high school There are also indexes for books about minorities and religion an age appropriate reading level index and much more Lavishly decorated with more than three hundred illustrations from representative titles the guide also features extra wide margins for notes on which of your children liked which book at what age and why Thus the guide becomes a family reading record as well as an invaluable resource you ll use again and again The Godparent Book Elaine Ramshaw,1993 An abundance of ideas for things that godparents and godchildren can do together Instruments and the Imagination Thomas L. Hankins,Robert J. Silverman,2014-07-14 Thomas Hankins and Robert Silverman investigate an array of instruments from the seventeenth through the nineteenth century that seem at first to be marginal to science magnetic clocks that were said to operate by the movements of sunflower seeds magic lanterns ocular harpsichords machines that played different colored lights in harmonious mixtures Aeolian harps a form of wind chime and other instruments of natural magic designed to produce wondrous effects By looking at these and the first recording instruments the stereoscope and speaking machines the authors show that scientific instruments first made their appearance as devices used to evoke wonder in the beholder as in works of magic and the theater The authors also demonstrate that these instruments even though they were often tricks were seen by their inventors as more than trickery In the view of Athanasius Kircher for instance the sunflower clock was not merely a hoax but an effort to demonstrate however fraudulently his truly held belief that the ability of a flower to follow the sun was due to the same cosmic magnetic influence as that which moved the planets and caused the rotation of the earth The marvels revealed in this work raise and answer questions about the connections between natural science and natural magic the meaning of demonstration the role of language and the senses in science and the connections among art music literature and natural science Originally published in 1995 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Optical Illusions of Reversible Perspective John panel and the lens The mirror and the window became its formative elements both the texts and constituents of glass culture The glassworlds of the century are heterogeneous They manifest themselves in the technologies of the factory furnace in the myths of Cinderella and her glass slipper circulated in print media in the ideologies of the conservatory as building type in the fantasia of the shopfront in the production of chandeliers in the Crystal Palace and the lens made images of the magic lantern and microscope But they were nevertheless governed by two inescapable conditions First to look through glass was to look through the residues of the breath of an unknown artisan because glass was mass produced by incorporating glassblowing into the division of labour Second literally a new medium glass brought the ambiguity of transparency and the problems of mediation into the everyday It intervened between seer and seen incorporating a modern philosophical problem into bodily experience Thus for poets and novelists glass took on material and ontological political and aesthetic meanings Reading glass forwards into Bauhaus modernism Walter Benjamin overlooked an early phase of glass culture where the languages of glass are different The book charts this phase in three parts Factory archives trade union records and periodicals document the individual manufacturers and artisans who founded glass culture the industrial tourists who described it and the systematic politics of window breaking Part Two culminating in glass under glass at the Crystal Palace reads the glassing of the environment including the mirror the window and controversy round the conservatory and their inscription in poems and novels Part Three explores the lens from optical toys to philosophical instruments as the telescope and microscope were known A meditation on its history and phenomenology Victorian Glassworlds is a poetics of glass for nineteenth century modernity
