The Asvan Sites 3 The Early Bronze Age:

The Asvan Sites 3 A. G. Sagona, 1994-12-01 The three sites discussed in this volume provide a series of overlapping sequences that flesh out the cultural developments in East Central Anatolia during most if not all of the third millennium BC The ceramic evidence forming the greater part of the material remains is generously illustrated Ceramics and Change in the Early Bronze Age of the Southern Levant Graham Philip, Douglas Baird, 2000-12-01 This book sets out the primary issues and current debates in the use of ceramics to reconstruct and explain cultural economic and social processes in the Early Bronze age By bringing together research on pottery from various parts of the southern Levant it allows direct comparison of contemporary material from different regions Alongside these empirical studies are discussions of general ceramic issues so that the book highlights the potential of pottery as an investigative tool and indicates fruitful directions for future research within the traditionally conservative field of Levantine archaeology The Archaeology of the Caucasus Antonio Sagona, 2017-11-30 In The Archaeology of the Caucasus Antonio Sagona provides the first comprehensive survey of a key area in the Eurasian land mass from the earliest settlement to the end of the early Iron Age Examining the bewildering array of cultural complexes found in the region he draws on both Soviet and post Soviet investigations and synthesises the vast quantity of diverse and often fragmented evidence across the region s frontiers Written in an engaging manner that balances material culture and theory the volume focuses on the most significant sites and cultural traditions Sagona also highlights the accomplishments of the Caucasian communities and situates them within the broader setting of their neighbours in Anatolia Iran and Russia Sprinkled with new data much of it published here for the first time The Archaeology of the Caucasus contains many new photographs drawings and plans many of which have not been accessible to Western researchers The Early Bronze Age Site at Ashqelon, Afridar, 2004 The Early Bronze Age Seal-Impressed Vessels from Hirbet ez-Zeraqōn Valentina Tumolo, 2024-10-31 Sealing practices were widespread across the Mediterranean and Southwest Asia from prehistoric to historic times This study is based on the author s analysis of the large assemblage of impressed ceramics from the site of irbet ez Zeraq n in northern Jordan Excavations at the Early Bronze IV Sites of Jebel Qa'aqir and Be'er Resisim William G. Dever, 2018-07-17 This volume is the final report of excavations carried out in the Hebron hills and the Negev desert in 1967 1980 on behalf of Hebrew Union College in Jerusalem and the University of Arizona They were pioneering multidisciplinary projects that helped to illuminate what was then a poorly known Dark Age in the cultural history of ancient Palestine a nonurban interlude of pastoral nomadic movements over several centuries ca 2400 2000 B C E between the great urban civilizations of the early Bronze Ages Eighteen appendixes by specialists in many disciplines analyze all aspects of material culture and human and animal remains A history of previous scholarship and a synthesis of the EB IV period in both Israel and Jordan conclude the volume which will be a landmark study for many years Mapping Society: Settlement Structure in Later Bronze Age Ireland Victoria Ruth Ginn, 2016-01-22 This study examines

Middle Late Bronze Age c 1750 600 BC domestic settlement patterns in Ireland The results reveal a distinct rise in the visibility and a rapid adaption of domestic architecture which seems to have occurred earlier in Ireland than elsewhere in western and northern Europe      Ritual in Early Bronze Age Grave Goods John Hunter,Ann Woodward,2014-10-31 The exotic and impressive grave goods from burials of the Wessex Culture in Early Bronze Age Britain are well known and have inspired influential social and economic hypotheses invoking the former existence of chiefs warriors and merchants and high ranking pastoralists Alternative theories have sought to explain the how display of such objects was related to religious and ritual activity rather than to economic status and that groups of artefacts found in certain graves may have belonged to religious specialists This volume is the result of a major research that aimed to investigate Chalcolithic and Early Bronze Age grave goods in relation to their possible use as special dress accessories or as equipment employed within ritual activities and ceremonies Many items of adornment can be shown to have formed elements of elaborate costumes probably worn by individuals both male and female who held important ritual roles within society Furthermore the analysis has shown that various categories of object long interpreted as mundane types of tool were in fact items of bodily adornment or implements used in ritual contexts or in the special embellishment of the human body Although never intended to form a complete catalogue of all the relevant artefacts from England the volume provides an extensive and intensively illustrated overview of a large proportion of the grave goods from English burial sites      Excavations at Stanground South, Peterborough William A Boismier,Edmund Taylor,Yvonne Wolfram-Murray,2021-02-25 This volume is a report of archaeological excavations at Stanground South undertaken by MOLA between September 2007 and November 2009 on behalf of Persimmon Homes East Midlands Ltd and in accordance with a programme of works overseen by CgMs Heritage The work involved five areas of set piece excavation and a series of strip map and record areas      Bronze Age Settlement and Land-Use in Thy, Northwest Denmark (Volume 1 & 2) Jens-Henrik Bech,Kristian Kristiansen,Berit Valentin Eriksen,2018-06-04 This two volume monograph about the region of Thy in the early Bronze Age provides a high resolution archaeological and ecological model of the organisation of landscape settlements and households during the period 1500 1100 BC Bordering the North Sea to the west and the calmer waters of the Limfjord to the east the region of Thy in Denmark experienced four centuries of intense economic and demographic expansion By combining results from environmental and economic research pollen and palaeo botanical analyses with intensive field surveys and excavations of farmsteads with exceptional preservation it has been possible to open a window to the changes that transformed Bronze Age society and its environment during a few centuries of exceptional expansion and wealth consumption The results from this interdisciplinary venture made it possible to link together the histories of local farmsteads with the wider regional and global history of the Bronze Age in North western Europe during this period Here is much to feed on for students and researchers of the Bronze Age alike      ,      The Illustrated London News ,1924      The Social Context of Technology Leo Webley,Sophia

Adams, Joanna Bruck, 2020-06-30 The Social Context of Technology explores non ferrous metalworking in Britain and Ireland during the Bronze and Iron Ages c 2500 BC to 1st century AD Bronze working dominates the evidence though the crafting of other non ferrous metals including gold silver tin and lead is also considered Metalwork has long played a central role in accounts of European later prehistory Metals were important for making functional tools and elaborate decorated objects that were symbols of prestige Metalwork could be treated in special or ritualised ways by being accumulated in large hoards or placed in rivers or bogs But who made these objects Prehistoric smiths have been portrayed by some as prosaic technicians and by others as mystical figures akin to magicians They have been seen both as independent travelling entrepreneurs and as the dependents of elite patrons Hitherto these competing models have not been tested through a comprehensive assessment of the archaeological evidence for metalworking This volume fills that gap with analysis focused on metalworking tools and waste such as crucibles moulds casting debris and smithing implements The find contexts of these objects are examined both to identify places where metalworking occurred and to investigate the cultural practices behind the deposition of metalworking debris The key questions are what was the social context of this craft and what was its ideological significance How did this vary regionally and change over time As well as elucidating a key aspect of later prehistoric life in Britain and Ireland this important examination by leading scholars contributes to broader debates on material culture and the social role of craft

A Companion to the Archaeology of the Ancient Near East D. T. Potts, 2012-08-15 A COMPANION TO THE ARCHAEOLOGY OF THE ANCIENT NEAR EAST A Companion to the Archaeology of the Ancient Near East is a comprehensive and authoritative overview of ancient material culture from the late Pleistocene to Late Antiquity This expansive two volume work includes 58 new essays from an international community of ancient Near East scholars With coverage extending from Asia Minor the eastern Mediterranean and Egypt to the Caucasus Central Asia and the Indo Iranian borderlands the book highlights the enormous variation in cultural developments across roughly 11 000 years of human endeavor In addition to chapters devoted to specific regions and particular periods many contributors concentrate on individual industries and major themes in ancient Near Eastern archaeology ranging from metallurgy and agriculture to irrigation and fishing Controversial issues including the nature and significance of the antiquities market ethical considerations in archaeological praxis the history of the foundation of departments of antiquities and ancient attitudes towards the past make this a unique collection of studies that will be of interest to scholars students and interested readers alike

The History and Archaeology of Jaffa 1 Aaron A Burke, Martin Peilstocker, 2011-12-31 Recipient of the G Ernest Wright Award for Best Archaeological Publication American Schools of Oriental Research 2011 In 2007 the Jaffa Cultural Heritage Project JCHP was established as a joint research endeavor of the Israel Antiquities Authority and the Cotsen Institute of Archaeology at the University of California Los Angeles Among the project s diverse aims is the publication of numerous excavations conducted in Jaffa since 1948 under the auspices of various governmental and research institutions such as the Israel Department of Antiquities and Museums and its successor the Israel Antiquities Authority as well as the Jaffa Cultural Heritage Project This the first volume in the Jaffa Cultural Heritage Project series lays the groundwork for this initiative Part I provides the historical economic and legal context for the JCHP s development while outlining its objectives and the unique opportunities that Jaffa offers researchers The history of Jaffa and its region and the major episodes of cultural change that affected the site and region are explored through a series of articles in Part II including an illustrated discussion of historical maps of Jaffa from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Recent archaeological discoveries from Jaffa are included in Part III while Part IV provides a first glimpse of the JCHP s efforts to publish the Jacob Kaplan and Haya Ritter Kaplan legacy from Jaffa Together the twenty five contributions to this work constitute the first major book length publication to address the archaeology of Jaffa in more than sixty years since excavations were initiated at the site

Archaeodiet in the Greek World Sherry C. Fox, Anastasia Papathanasiou, Michael P. Richards, 2015-12-31 The analysis of stable isotope ratios of carbon and nitrogen in bone collagen provides a powerful tool for reconstructing past diets since it provides the only direct evidence of the foods that were actually consumed The chapters that comprise this volume describe the application of this methodology to the archaeology of Greece a country whose archaeobotanical remains have been isotopically studied more extensively than any other place in the world The archaeological issues that can be addressed using stable isotope methods include the importance of fishing the possible early introduction of millet the nature of childrearing including weaning age and weaning foods temporal shifts in protein consumption differential access to certain foods associated with social status as well as gender and age and cultural differences in dietary patterns Additionally diet is strongly correlated with health or stress markers in the teeth and bones Knowing what people ate has vital implications for our understanding of past environments and economies subsistence strategies and nutrition
