Animals have recently become recognized as significant agents of history as part of the animal turn in historical studies. Animals in Byzantium were human companions, a source of entertainment and food; it is small wonder that they made their way into literature and the visual arts. Moreover, humans defined themselves and their activities by referring to non-human animals, either by anthropomorphizing animals as in the case of the Cat Mice War or by animalizing humans and their unwanted behaviours. The Routledge Handbook of Human-Animal Relations in the Byzantine World offers an in-depth survey of the relationships between humans and non-human animals in the Byzantine Empire. The contributions included in the volume address both material zooarchaeology, animals as food, visual representations of animals and immaterial semiotics, philosophy, aspects of human animal coexistence in chapters written by leading experts in their field. This book will appeal to students and scholars alike researching Byzantine social and cultural history as well as those interested in the history of animals. This book marks an important step in the development of animal studies in Byzantium, filling a gap in the wider research on the history of human animal relations in the Middle Ages. Christian Martyrdom in Late Antiquity (300-450 AD) Peter Gemeinhardt, Johan Leemans, 2012-07-04. The present volume's focus lies on the formation of a multifaceted discourse on Christian martyrdom in Late Antiquity. While martyrdom accounts remain a central means of defining Christian identity, new literary genres emerge, e.g. the Lives of Saints, Athanasius on Antony, sermons, the Cappadocian hymns, Prudentius and more. Authors like Eusebius of Caesarea and Augustine employ martyrological language and motifs in their apologetical and polemic writings, while the Gesta Martyrum Romanorum represent a new type of veneration of the martyrs of a single site. Beyond the borders of the Roman Empire, new martyrs' narratives can be found. Additionally, two essays deal with methodological questions of research of such sources, thereby highlighting the hitherto understudied innovations of martyrology in Late Antiquity, that is, after the end of the persecutions of Christianity by Roman Emperors. Since then, martyrology gained new importance for the formation of Christian identity within the context of a Christianized imperium. The volume thus enlarges and specifies our knowledge of this fundamental Christian discourse. Inscribing Texts in Byzantium Marc Lauxtermann, Ida Toth, 2020-02-05. In spite of the striking abundance of extant primary material, Byzantine epigraphy remains uncharted territory. The volume of the Proceedings of the 49th SPBS Spring Symposium aims to promote the field of Byzantine epigraphy as a whole and topics and subjects covered include Byzantine attitudes towards the inscribed word, the questions of continuity and transformation, the context and function of epigraphic evidence, the levels of formality and authority, the material aspect of writing and the verbal, visual and symbolic meaning of inscribed texts. The collection is intended as a valuable scholarly resource, presenting and examining a substantial quantity of diverse epigraphic material and outlining the chronological development of epigraphic habits and of individual epigraphic genres in Byzantium The contributors also discuss the methodological questions of collecting presenting and interpreting the most representative Byzantine inscriptional material and addressing epigraphic material to make it relevant to a wider scholarly community

Early Christian Authors on Samaritans and Samaritanism Reinhard Pummer,2002 Samaritanism is an outgrowth of Early Judaism that has survived until today Its origin as a separate religious entity can be traced back to the 2nd 1st centuries B C E Samaritans were found not only in their core area in and around Shechem Neapolis modern Nablus and on neighboring Mount Gerizim but also in other parts of Palestine as well as in various other Mediterranean countries Oppression at the hand of Jews Christians and Muslims decimated the Samaritan population and obliterated all Samaritan manuscripts written prior to the 10th 11th centuries C E For the early period of Samaritanism we must therefore rely on Christian authors Reinhard Pummer edits Christian Greek and Latin texts about Samaritans and their beliefs and practices dating from the second century C E to the Arab conquests The passages are quoted in their original language and translated into English In addition they are commented on and analyzed in view of their significance for our knowledge of Samaritanism within the wider framework of early Judaism and Christianity

Charity and Giving in Monotheistic Religions Miriam Frenkel,Yaacov Lev,2009-08-17 This book deals with various manifestations of charity or giving in the contexts of the Christian Jewish and Muslim societies in Late Antiquity and Early Middle Ages Monotheistic charity and giving display many common features These underlying similarities reflect a commonly shared view about God and his relations to mankind and what humans owe to God and expect from him Nevertheless the fact that the emphasis is placed on similarities does not mean that the uniqueness of the concepts of charity and giving in the three monotheistic religions is denied The contributors of the book deal with such heterogeneous topics like the language of social justice in early Christian homilies as well as charity and pious endowments in medieval Syria Egypt and al Andalus during the 11th 15th centuries This wide range of approaches distinguish the book from other works on charity and giving in monotheistic religions

Historiography and Space in Late Antiquity Peter Van Nuffelen, 2019-08-29 The later Roman Empire was shrinking on the map but still shaped the way historians represented the space around them

The Use of Hereford Mr William Smith, 2015-10-28 The Use of Hereford a local variation of the Roman rite was one of the diocesan liturgies of medieval England before their abolition and replacement by the Book of Common Prayer in 1549 Unlike the widespread Use of Sarum the Use of Hereford was confined principally to its diocese which helped to maintain its individuality until the Reformation This study seeks to catalogue and evaluate all the known surviving sources of the Use of Hereford with particular reference to the missals and gradual which so far have received little attention In addition to these a variety of other material has been examined including a number of little known or unknown important fragments of early Hereford service books dismembered at the Reformation and now hidden away as binding or other scrap in libraries and record offices
