Built to Move Millions Craig R. Semsel,2008-04-17 A hobbyist s enthusiasm curiosity and attention to detail exude from this technological history of Ohio s streetcar industry Highly recommended Choice At the beginning of the twentieth century the street railway industry was one of the largest in the nation Once ubiquitously visible on the city streets by mid century the streetcar was nothing more than a distant memory Ohio was home to several large streetcar systems especially in Cleveland and Cincinnati and had more interurban tracks than any other state in the union Thus Ohio served as one of the street railway industry s greatest centers of manufacturing Built to Move Millions examines the manufacture of streetcars and interurbans within the state of Ohio between 1900 and 1940 In addition to discussing the five major car builders that were active in Ohio during this period the book addresses Ohio companies that manufactured the various components that went into these vehicles Includes extensive photos     The Street Railway Journal ,1924     Metropolitan Railways William D. Fresh from successful flights before royalty in Europe and soon after thrilling hundreds of thousands of people by flying around the Statue of Liberty in the fall of 1909 Wilbur and Orville Wright decided the time was right to begin manufacturing their airplanes for sale Backed by Wall Street tycoons including August Belmont Cornelius Vanderbilt III and Andrew Freedman the brothers formed the Wright Company The Wright Company trained hundreds of early aviators at its flight schools including Roy Brown the Canadian pilot credited with shooting down Manfred von Richtofen the Red Baron during the First World War and Hap Arnold the commander of the U S Army Air Forces during the Second World War Pilots with the company s exhibition department thrilled crowds at events from Winnipeg to Boston Corpus Christi to Colorado Springs Cal Rodgers flew a Wright Company airplane in pursuit of the 50 000 Hearst Aviation Prize in 1911 But all was not well in Dayton a city that hummed with industry producing cash registers railroad cars and many other products The brothers found it hard to transition from running their own bicycle business to being corporate executives responsible for other people s money Their dogged pursuit of enforcement of their 1906 patent especially against Glenn Curtiss and his company helped hold back the development of the U S aviation industry When Orville Wright sold the company in 1915 more than three years after his brother's death he was a comfortable man but his company had built only 120 airplanes at its Dayton factory and Wright Company products were not in the U S arsenal as war continued in Europe Edward Roach provides a fascinating window into the legendary Wright Company its place in Dayton its management struggles and its effects on early U S aviation
