Visual Power and Fame in René d'Anjou, Geoffrey Chaucer, and the Black Prince S. Gertz,2010-04-26 Reading semiotically against the backdrop of medieval mirrors of princes Arthurian narratives and chronicles this study examines how Ren d Anjou 1409 1480 Geoffrey Chaucer s House of Fame ca 1375 1380 and Edward the Black Prince 1330 1376 explore fame s visual power While very different in approach all three individuals reject the classical suggestion that fame is bestowed and understand that particularly in positions of leadership it is necessary to communicate effectively with audiences in order to secure fame This sweeping study sheds light on fame's intoxicating but deceptively simple promise of elite glory Travel, Time, and Space in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Time Albrecht

Classen, 2018-10-22 Research on medieval and early modern travel literature has made great progress which now allows us to take the next step and to analyze the correlations between the individual and space throughout time which contributed essentially to identity formation in many different settings The contributors to this volume engage with a variety of pre-modern texts, images and other documents related to travel and the individual's self-orientation in foreign lands and make an effort to determine the concept of identity within a spatial framework often determined by the meeting of various cultures Moreover, objects, images and words can also travel and connect people from different worlds through books The volume thus brings together new scholarship focused on the interrelationship of travel, space, time and individuality which also includes, of course, women's movement through the larger world, whether in concrete terms or through proxy travel via readings Travel here is also examined with respect to craftsmen's activities at various sites, artists' employment for many different projects all over Europe and elsewhere and in terms of metaphysical experiences, catabasis The Arthur of the Germans, 2020-10-15

From the twelfth century onwards the legends of King Arthur and his knights, including the Tristan legend, spread across Europe, producing a vast range of adaptations and new stories German and Dutch literature were of central importance in this expansion of Arthurian material from the 12th to 16th century This title deals with this topic (2014) Raluca

Radulescu, 2016-01-15 The purpose of the BIAS is year by year to draw attention to all scholarly books and articles directly concerned with the matière de Bretagne The bibliography aims to include all books, reviews and articles published in the year preceding its appearance, an exception being made for earlier studies which have been omitted inadvertently The present volume contains over 700 entries on relevant publications that were published in 2013
