Reflective Practices in Arts Education Pamela Burnard, Sarah Hennessy, 2006-08-12 It is an exciting time to be an artist and artist educator Networks of schools and artists are being motivated by arts partnerships a relatively new phenomenon in a field which whilst disparate in its character and practice is marked by a common intention to respond effectively and critically to politically driven agendas of accountability school improvement and pupil attainment More than ever artists and educators alike have begun to realise the need to develop practices which offer the development of artist educator pedagogies as agencies for change and political action Understanding the function of reflective practice the conditions which support it and its impact on learning are addressed throughout this book We hope that the book will motivate readers with a diversity of interests and needs to engage in reflections of their own professional practices and of the practices of the communities in which they work This book is about reflection The thesis about the field it covers and major premise of this book is that reflection matters at every turn in arts engagement and even more so in educational settings where artist educators share a passion for facilitating and understanding the how of learners engagement with particular art forms It aims to show ways in which reflection can inform and transform practice in terms of what when and how reflection is embodied in arts engagement The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing Daragh O'Reilly, Ruth Rentschler, Theresa A. Kirchner, 2013-12-17 The relationship between the arts and marketing has been growing ever more complex as the proliferation of new technologies and social media has opened up new forms of communication This book covers the broad and involved relationship between the arts and marketing It frames arts marketing in the context of wider related issues such as the creative and cultural industries cultural policy and arts funding developments in the different art forms and the impact of environmental forces on arts business models and markets The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing provides a comprehensive up to date reference guide that incorporates current analyses of arts marketing topics by leaders of academic research in the field As such it will be a key resource for the next generation of arts marketing scholars and teachers and will constitute the single most authoritative guide on the subject internationally

Medical Humanities and Medical Education Alan Bleakley, 2015-03-02 The field of the medical humanities is developing rapidly however there has also been parallel concern from sceptics that the value of medical humanities educational interventions should be open to scrutiny and evidence Just what is the impact of medical humanities provision upon the education of medical students In an era of limited resources is such provision worth the investment This innovative text addresses these pressing questions describes the contemporary territory comprising the medical humanities in medical education and explains how this field may be developed as a key medical education component for the future Bleakley a driving force of the international movement to establish the medical humanities as a core and integrated provision in the medical curriculum proposes a model that requires collaboration between patients artists humanities scholars doctors and other health professionals in developing medical students sensibility clinical acumen based on close noticing and sensitivity ethical professional and humane practice In particular this text focuses upon how medical humanities input into the curriculum can help to shape the identities of medical students as future doctors who are humane caring expressive and creative whose work will be technically sound but considerably enhanced by their abilities to communicate well with patients and colleagues to empathise to be adaptive and innovative and to act as medical citizens in shaping a future medical culture as a model democracy where social justice is a key aspect of medicine Making sense of the new wave of medical humanities in medical education scholarship that calls for a critical medical humanities Medical Humanities and Medical Education incorporates a range of case studies and illustrative and practical examples to aid integrating medical humanities into the medical curriculum It will be important reading for medical educators and others working with the medical education community and all those interested in the medical humanities

The Educational Imperative Peter Abbs, 2013-05-13 Written with both the cultural and moral crisis and the challenge of the future in mind Peter Abbs's book charts an open clear and positive way forward for education Divided into four sections the first examines the true and fitting ends of education and outlines a positive conception of education as an initiation into critical enquiry and the personal art of learning The two middle sections consider aesthetic education Abbs confronts government approaches to arts teaching and offers an alternative dynamic paradigm within which the creativity of the culture transmitted down the ages and the creativity of the individual seen as biologically given must be combined The outcome of this is explored in detail in relation to the teaching of literature creative writing and drama The final section offers critical appraisals of influential figures in the arts field Herbert Reid the late Peter Fuller and David Holbrook

Debates in Art and Design Education Nicholas Addison, Lesley Burgess, 2013 Debates in Art and Design Education encourages student and practising teachers to engage with contemporary issues and developments in learning and teaching It introduces key issues concepts and tensions in order to help art educators develop a critical approach to their practice in response to the changing fields of education and visual culture Accessible comprehensive chapters are designed to stimulate thinking and understanding in relation to theory and practice and help art educators to make informed judgements by arguing from a position based on theoretical knowledge and understanding Contributing artists lecturers and teachers debate a wide range of issues including the latest policy and initiatives in secondary art education the concepts skills and dispositions that can be developed through art education tensions inherent in developing the inclusive Art and Design classroom partnerships across the visual arts sector creativity in the Art and Design curriculum visual art and globalisation establishing the significance of Design art practice as educational research Debates in Art and Design Education is for all student and practising teachers interested in furthering their understanding of an exciting ever changing field and supports art educators in articulating how the subject is a vital engaging and necessary part of the twenty first century curriculum Each chapter points to further reading and each section suggests reflective questions to help shape art educators teaching In particular Debates in Art and Design Education encourages art educators to engage in research by providing an essential introduction to critical thinking around contemporary debates

Culture, Education and the State Michael Stephens, 2019-08-13 First published in 1988 this book is built around the trio of interrelated themes of The State Culture and Education The essays look at a variety of institutions including the BBC The British Library and the Arts Council and discuss the educational roles that they adopt and how they set the national cultural agenda They also explore

Art for Social Change and Cultural Awakening Wei Hsiu Tung, 2013-09-05 Artistic residency has become widely adopted in Western countries while only recently having become popular and well supported within Taiwan This book explores the challenges that this form of art practice faced in contemporary Taiwan from the revocation of Martial Law in 1987 to the 2000s arguably one of the most exciting periods in the sociocultural history of the island Case studies show what is at stake politically historically and socially in artists endeavours to give shape to a sense of Taiwanese identity Despite the prevalence of artists engaged in social issues in today's world and the undeniable contributions of artistic residency to contemporary art practice little literature or scholarly research has been conducted on the practical conceptual and ideological aspects of artist residency Very often it is perceived in very narrow terms overlooking explicit or hidden issues of localism nationalism and globalization If artistic residence did indeed emerge from the radical movements of the 1960s and 70s in the Western world and especially Britain then this book argues that the contemporary sociocultural context of Taiwan calls for redefined culturally specific models of residency The precarious geo political situation of Taiwan has made issues of cultural identity tackled by artists and successive governments alike very sensitive A new genre of artistic residence in Taiwan would mean that artists involved from whatever cultural background operate as engaging interpreters their roles would not be confined to mirroring culture and society These artists in residence would contribute to cultural awakening by offering ways of negotiating creatively with otherness and this for the sake of a better social life and shared identity
