to embody a dominant liberal consensus that sought to continue and expand the New Deal Tula Connell explores how business interests and political conservatives arose to undo that consensus and how the resulting clash both shaped a city and helped redefine postwar American politics Connell focuses on Frank Zeidler the city s socialist mayor Zeidler s broad concept of the public interest at times defied even liberal expectations At the same time a resurgence of conservatism with roots presaging twentieth century politics challenged his initiatives in public housing integration and other areas As Connell shows conservatives created an anti progressive game plan that included a well funded media and PR push an anti union assault essential to the larger project of delegitimizing any government action opposition to civil rights and support from a suburban silent majority In the end the campaign undermined notions of the common good essential to the New Deal order It also sowed the seeds for grassroots conservatism s more extreme and far reaching future success
