Social Motivations For Codeswitching Evidence From Africa:

Social Motivations for Codeswitching Carol Myers-Scotton, 2023 Discusses codeswitching the use of more than one language in a conversation Using data from multilingual African contexts the author suggests that speakers change languages to change the tenor of the conversation and convey warmth or anger solidarity or power by their linguistic choice

Social Motivations for Codeswitching Carol Myers-Scotton, 1993 Codeswitching may be broadly defined as the use of two or more linguistic varieties in the same conversation Using data from multilingual African context Carol Myers Scotton advances a theoretical argument which aims at a general explanation of the motivations underlying the phenomenon She treats codeswitching as a type of skilled performance not as the alternative strategy of a person who cannot carry on a conversation in the language in which it began Speakers exploit the socio psychological values associated with different linguistic varieties in a particular speech community by switching codes speakers negotiate a change in social distance between themselves and other participants in a conversation Switching between languages has much in common with making stylistic choices within the same language it is as if bilingual and multilingual speakers have an additional style at their command when they engage in codeswitching _

Code-Switching in Computer-Mediated Communication Hanna Devic, 2008-08-14 Inhaltsangabe Introduction It has now been about a decade and a half since the Internet and the World Wide Web have come to represent a major realm of research in various fields of linguistics This is of course largely due to the fact that they offer easy access to a massive and unlimited amount of language data which do not have to be transcribed in arduous ways as is the case with speech recordings However alongside this major cause of attraction and despite the overall dominance of English it is also the multilingual nature of the Internet which has naturally sparked the interest of bilingualism research as well as language contact research It is the choice of and the switching between the available codes of the users repertoires which mark a major topic of interest and which shall be explored in the thesis at hand The final focus of investigation will be the communicative functions and meanings of the phenomenon called code switching CS as it naturally occurs in a Canadian Croatian discussion forum In order to prepare the theoretical ground for the analysis of my own corpus of computer mediated communication CMC data the first part of this research thesis will define the subject matter and the origins of research into it and a general overview of the classic linguistic treatment of the phenomenon will be given Following this paper will illustrate the major concepts and approaches relevant to the final purpose of the thesis and point out potential critique of their assumptions In order to establish a link between code switching phenomena in general and their communicative setting in the conducted study the subsequent chapter will address several issues in computer mediated communication research Thereafter a review of renowned studies of code switching phenomena in computer mediated communication will be provided Finally the Croworld corpus including its compilation and structure and the backgrounds of the users involved will be presented My subsequent analysis of selected forum posts will aim to relate the tenets of the classic approaches as well as the insights of the CMC studies regarding the significance of code switching practices
