

Speak to Me of My Mother, Who Was She

Tell me about the girl my mother was,
before she traded in all her girl
to be my mother.

What did she smell like?
How many friends did she have,
before she had no room?

Before I took up so much space in her prayers, who did she pray for?

[With a Portrait.]* William Shakespeare, 1823 The Leopold Shakspeare, the poet's works in chronological order from the text of professor Delius, with 'The two noble kinsmen' and 'Edward iii', and an intr. by F.J. Furnivall. Illustrated William Shakespeare, 1883 Imagining the Woman Reader in the Age of Dante Elena Lombardi, 2018-05-10 Imagining the Woman Reader in the Age of Dante brings to light a new character in medieval literature that of the woman reader and interlocutor It does so by establishing a dialogue between literary studies gender studies the history of literacy and the material culture of the book in medieval times From Guittone d'Arezzo's piercing critic the villainous woman to the mysterious Lady who bids Guido Cavalcanti to write his grand philosophical song to Dante's female co-editors in the Vita Nova and his great characters of female readers such as Francesca and Beatrice in the Comedy all the way to Boccaccio's overtly female audience this particular interlocutor appears to be central to the construct of textuality and the construction of literary authority This volume explores the figure of the woman reader by contextualizing her within the history of female literacy the material culture of the book and the ways in which writers and poets of earlier traditions imagined her It argues that these figures are not mere veneers between a male author and a real male readership but that although fictional they bring several advantages to their vernacular authors such as orality the mother tongue the recollection of the delights of early education literacy freedom in interpretation absence of teleology the beauties of ornamentation and amplification a reduced preoccupation with the fixity of the text the pleasure of making mistakes dialogue with the other the extension of desire original simplicity and new and more flexible forms of authority
