Between Speaking and Silence Mary M. Reda, 2009-01-28 Why are students silent Using written reflections and interviews Mary M Reda examines students perceptions of speaking and being silent in a first year composition classroom and explores how their teachers classroom relationships and their own sense of identity shape their decisions to speak or be silent By challenging many firmly held beliefs about those quiet students in the back of the classroom Between Speaking and Silence offers the new vision that silence is not necessarily problematic

Auden's O Andrew W. Hass, 2013-11-01 Explores the rise of the idea of nothing in Western modernity and how its figuration is transforming and offering new possibilities In this groundbreaking interdisciplinary history of ideas Andrew W Hass explores the ascendancy of the concept of nothing into late modernity He argues that the rise of the reality of nothing in religion philosophy and literature has taken place only against the decline of the concept of One a shift from a sovereign understanding of the One unity universality toward the figure of the O a cipher figure that as nonentity is nevertheless determinant of other realities The figuring of this O culminates in a proliferation of literary expressions of nothingness void and absence from 1940 to 1960 but by century s end this movement has shifted from linear progression to mutation whereby religion theology philosophy literature and other critical modes of thought such as feminism merge into a shared circular activity The writer W H Auden lends his name to this O his long poetic work The Sea and the Mirror an exemplary manifestation of its implications Hass examines this work along with that of a host of writers philosophers and theologians to trace the revolutionary hermeneutics and creative space of the O and to provide the reasoning of why nothing is now such a powerful force in the imagination of the twenty first century and of how it might move us through and beyond our turbulent times

Conversations of Curriculum Reform Kathryn M. Benson, 2006 Textbook

Thought as Experience in Bataille, Cioran, and Rosset Joseph Acquisto, 2024-06-13 Examines how postwar French writers constitute the thinking subject and reshape its relation to the external social world Joseph Acquisto analyzes the writings of three thinkers during and shortly after the Second World War who address the question of what it means to think and what it means to constitute oneself as a thinking subject at a time that seems to come after everything with the ruins of attacked cities echoing the remains of a philosophical tradition that was confident in its establishment of human beings as rational of reason leading to progress and of both the self and the world as knowable What Georges Bataille calls inner experience and Emil Cioran labels thinking against oneself is something akin to a drama not a mere representation of the self in relation to the world but a process of remapping the relation of subject to object of thought dialectically Acquisto argues that both writers adopt an anti systematic approach to thinking that implicates fragmentary writing as a way of turning answers about subject object relations into questions Acquisto contends that this stands in contrast to the approach of Clement Rosset whose affirmation of the inaccessibility of the real leads to an anti intellectual grace filled affirmation of life as it is given under the guise of what he calls the tragic Bringing together thinkers that have seldom been discussed in a comparative light Thought as Experience in Bataille Cioran and Rosset examines the affective dimensions of thought as experience and considers the political stakes of postwar thought as out of order with the world from which it springs FAQ I Have to Speak Marnick
