Childhood and Schooling in (Post)Socialist Societies Iveta Silova,Nelli Piattoeva,Zsuzsa Millei,2017-12-07 This book explores childhood and schooling in late socialist societies by bringing into dialogue public narratives and personal memories that move beyond imaginaries of Cold War divisions between the East and West Written by cultural insiders who were brought up and educated on the eastern side of the Iron Curtain spanning from Central Europe to mainland Asia the book offers insights into the diverse spaces of socialist childhoods interweaving with broader political economic and social life These evocative memories explore the experiences of children in navigating state expectations to embody model socialist citizens and their mixed feelings of attachment optimism dullness and alienation associated with participation in building socialist futures Drawing on the research traditions of autobiography autoethnography and collective biography the authors challenge what is often considered normal and natural in the historical accounts of socialist childhoods and engage in re writing histories that open space for new knowledges and vast webs of interconnections to emerge This book will be compelling reading for students and researchers working in education sociology and history particularly those within the interdisciplinary fields of childhood and area studies The authors of this beautiful book are professional academics and intellectuals who grew up in different socialist countries Exploring socialist childhoods in myriad ways they draw on memories and collective history emotional insider knowledge and the measured perspective of an analyst What emerges is life that was caught between real optimism and dullness ethical commitments and ideological absurdities selfless devotion to children and their treatment as a political resource Such attention to detail and examination of the paradoxical nature of this time makes this collective effort not only timely but remarkably genuine Alexei Yurchak University of California USA

Modelling Human Behaviour in Landscapes Oliver Nakoinz, Daniel Knitter, 2016-04-08 This volume is designed as a 12 lecture textbook which can serve as a course companion self teaching guide and handbook for basic concepts Each lecture comprises 20 pages in which the methods are introduced examples shown and the code is given All examples are computed with open source software mainly R and with archaeological data available from the book's website The book does not describe elaborated high end models but rather very basic modelling concepts that serve as components in more complex models The book enables the reader to construct such models by themselves and be sensitive for certain problems In addition it gives hints for the interpretation of the results Students are usually quick to apply fancy methods yet fail in the proper interpretation due to a lack of understanding of the underlying principles This problem is addressed by the proposed book through three concepts 1 Command line software forces the students to first learn some details before they are able to produce results on their own 2 The book is focused on principles and methods When the students understand a few basic principles they have far better access to a wide range of related methods 3 Examples of poor analysis highlight common pitfalls The volume attempts to be an applied minimalistic and efficient textbook and is based upon several successful courses
