Specters of Marx Jacques Derrida, 2012-10-12 Prodigiously influential Jacques Derrida gave rise to a comprehensive rethinking of the basic concepts and categories of Western philosophy in the latter part of the twentieth century with writings central to our understanding of language meaning identity ethics and values In 1993 a conference was organized around the question Whither Marxism and Derrida was invited to open the proceedings His plenary address Specters of Marx delivered in two parts forms the basis of this book Hotly debated when it was first published a rapidly changing world and world politics have scarcely dented the relevance of this book

A Leftist Ontology Carsten Strathausen, 2009 Rich with analyses of concepts from deconstruction systems theory and post Marxism with critiques of fundamentalist thought and the war on terror this volume argues for developing a philosophy of being in order to overcome the quandary of postmodern relativism Undergirding the contributions are the premises that ontology is a vital concept for philosophy today that an acceptable leftist ontology must avoid the kind of identity politics that has dominated recent cultural studies and that a new ontology must be situated within global capitalism

Haunted historiographies Matthew Schultz, 2016-05-16 The spectres of history haunt Irish fiction In this compelling study Matthew Schultz maps these rhetorical hauntings across a wide range of postcolonial Irish novels and defines the spectre as a non present presence that simultaneously symbolises and analyses an overlapping of Irish myth and Irish history By exploring this exchange between literary discourse and historical events Haunted historiographies provides literary historians and cultural critics with a theory of the spectre that exposes the various complex ways in which novelists remember represent and reinvent historical narrative It juxtaposes canonical and non canonical novels that complicate long held assumptions about four definitive events in modern Irish history the Great Famine the Irish Revolution the Second World War and the Northern Irish Troubles to demonstrate how historiographical Irish fiction from James Joyce and Samuel Beckett to Roddy

Doyle and Sebastian Barry is both a product of Ireland's colonial history and also the rhetorical means by which a post colonial culture has emerged Picturing the (Un)Dead in Beirut Agnes Rameder, 2024-12-14 Martyr posters are more than obituary images they can act as visual politics Focusing on Rabih Mrou's play How Nancy Wished That Everything Was an April Fool's Joke 2007 Agnes Rameder analyses how contemporary artists question and appropriate Lebanese martyr posters By linking the posters from the Wars in Lebanon 1975-1990 to contemporary posters she shows that these images continue to the present day that martyrs are still created and that deaths such as those who were killed in the explosion on 4 August 2020 are still visually remembered This study does not focus on how such pictures are perceived by a Western audience but delves into the use and abuse of martyr posters that were intended to be shown to the Lebanese Theorizing Histories of Rhetoric Michelle Ballif, 2013-02-25 During the decades of the 1980s and 1990s historians of rhetoric composition and communication vociferously theorized historiographical motivations and methodologies for writing histories in their fields After this fertile period of rich contested and impassioned theorization scholars busily undertook the composition of numerous historical works complicating master narratives and recovering silenced voices and rhetorical practices Yet though historians in these fields have gone about the business of writing histories the discussion of theorization has been quiet In this welcome volume fifteen scholars consider once again the theory of historiography asking difficult questions about the purposes and methodologies of writing histories of rhetoric broadly defined and questioning what it means what it should mean what it could mean to write histories of rhetoric composition and communication The topics addressed include the privileging of the literary and the textual over material artifacts as prime sources of evidence in the study of classical rhetoric the use of rhetorical hermeneutics as a methodology for interpreting past practices the investigation of feminist methodologies that do not fit into the dominant modes of feminist historiographical work and the examination of archives with a queer eye to better construct nondiscriminatory narratives Contributors also explore the value of approaching historiography through the lenses of jazz improvisation and complexity theory and the historiographical method of writing the future in ways that refigure our relationships to time and to ourselves Consistently thoughtful and carefully argued these essays successfully revive the discussion of historiography in rhetoric inspiring fresh avenues of exploration in the field Star Wars Specter of the Past Timothy Zahn, Latin American Literature Bernard McGuirk, 2013-12-19 Critical theory meets Latin American fiction in this bold and challenging analysis of literature and literary criticism through post structuralist analysis Focusing on Latin American literary and critical production from the 1890s to the 1990s Bernard McGuirk highlights the confrontation between theory politics and literature The range of literatures discussed is extensive including writings from Argentina Brazil Chile Guatemala Mexico Nicaragua and Peru The symptomatic differences between and within cultures are illuminated by analysis of texts by such authors as César Vallejo Jorge Luis Borges Rubén Darío Pablo Neruda Julio Cortázar João Guimarães Rosa Susana Théron Carlos Fuentes Bernard McGuirk holds the Chair of Romance

Can cinema reveal its audience's most subversive thinking Do films have the potential to project their viewers' innermost thoughts making them apparent on the screen This book argues that cinema has precisely this power to unveil to the spectator their own hidden thoughts It examines case studies from various cultures in conversation with Spain a country whose enduring masterpieces in self-reflexive or meta-art provide insight into the special dynamic between viewer and screen Framed around critical readings of Miguel de Cervantes Don Quixote Diego Velázquez Las Meninas and Luis Buñuel's Un chien andalou this book examines contemporary films by Víctor Erice Carlos Saura Bigas Luna Alejandro Amenábar Lucrecia Martel Krzysztof Kieslowski David Lynch Pedro Almodóvar Spike Jonze Andrzej Zulawski Fernando Pérez Alfred Hitchcock Wes Craven and David Cronenberg to illustrate how self-reflexivity in film unbridles the mental repression of film spectators It proposes cinema as an uncanny duplication of the workings of the brain a doppelgänger to human thought

Ghost Writing in Contemporary American Fiction David Coughlan, 2016-11-05 This book examines representations of the specter in American twentieth and twenty-first century fiction David Coughlan's innovative structure has chapters on Paul Auster Don DeLillo Toni Morrison Marilynne Robinson and Philip Roth alternating with shorter sections detailing the significance of the ghost in the philosophy of Jacques Derrida particularly within the context of his 1993 text Specters of Marx Together these accounts of phantoms shadows haunts spirit the death sentence and hospitality provide a compelling theoretical context in which to read contemporary US literature Ghost Writing in Contemporary American Fiction argues at every stage that there is no self no relation to the other no love no home no mourning no future no trace of life without the return of the specter that is without ghost writing Joan of Rainbow Springs Frances Marian Mitchell, 1911 Liberal

Democracy as the End of History Christopher Hughes, 2012-02-20 Francis Fukuyama claims that liberal democracy is the end of history This book provides a theoretical re-examination of this claim through postmodernist ideas The book argues that postmodern ideas provide a valuable critique to Fukuyama's thesis and poses the questions can we talk about a universal and teleological history a universal human nature or an autonomous individual It addresses whether postmodern theories concerning the movement of time what it means to be human and what it means to be an individual subject can be accommodated within a theory of a history that ends in liberal democracy The author argues that incorporating elements of postmodern thought into Fukuyama's theory makes it possible to produce a stronger and more compelling account of the theory that liberal democracy is the end of history The result of this is to underpin Fukuyama's theory with a more complex understanding of the movement of time the human and the individual and to show that postmodern concepts can paradoxically be used to strengthen Fukuyama's theory that the end of history is liberal democracy The book will be of interest to students and scholars of political theory postmodernism and the work of Francis Fukuyama The New Witches lens for revisiting Cavafy's poetry and prose fiction and nonfiction as well as his poetry's bearing on our present. By examining Cavafy's spectral poetics, the book's first part shows how conjurations work in his writings and how the spectral permeates the entanglement of modernity and haunting and of irony and affect. The second part traces the afterlives of specific poems in the Western imagination since the 1990s in Egypt's history of debt and colonization and in Greece during the country's recent debt crisis. Beyond its original contribution to Cavafy studies, the book proposes tools and modes of reading that are broadly applicable in literary and cultural studies.
