proving that to a people who load down Bunker Hill with granite and crowd their public squares with images of Washington ay worship the sword so blindly that leaving their oldest statesmen idle they go down to the bloodiest battle field in Mexico to drag out a President But may one help the slave resist as Brown did Ask Byron on his death bed in the marshes of Missolonghi Ask the Hudson as its waters kiss your shore what answer they bring from the grave of Kosciusko I hide the interesting periods of our national history The addresses delivered at Fort Wayne Ind in 1861 and 1865 can hardly fail at any time to be interesting as the present the prevailing sentiment of the people of the Northern States at the commencement and the close of the civil war The letters which were written in London for the New York Tribune were copied by a great many newspapers and very widely circulated and favorably commented upon in all parts of the country They were written and the Cambridge lectures were delivered when financial and economic questions were engaging public attention questions that have lost none of their interest the definite solution of which seems to be far in the future The Currency Upon the currency question I have spoken at considerable length because it was and still is a question of supreme importance A sound circulating medium is the life blood of commercial nations In speaking of the currency I could not fail to express my views
