Spending Wisely Buying Health Services For The Poor:

Spending Wisely Alexander S. Preker, 2008 Spending Wisely Alexander S. Preker, Jack Langenbrunner, 2005 This publication examines how public spending on health care can be made more efficient and equitable in developing countries focusing on strategic purchasing and contracting of services from non governmental providers It is divided into six sections under the headings of the conceptual framework how to make strategic purchasing pro poor purchasing health services purchasing inputs supply demand and markets legal and regulatory issues Global Marketplace for Private Health Insurance Alexander S. Preker, Peter Zweifel, Onno P. Schellekens, 2009-11-18 Financial protection against the cost of illness and inclusion of vulnerable groups will require better mobilization and use of private means Private voluntary health insurance already plays an important role in mobilizing additional resources to the health sector and protecting against the catastrophic cost of illness in some countries This review explores the context under which private voluntary health insurance could contribute to an improvement in the sustainability of the health sector and financial protection in other countries Guidebook on Public-Private Partnership in Hospital Management Asian Development Bank, 2013-11-01 The Universal Declaration of Human Rights proclaims that everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well being of himself and of his family The guarantee of good health for its people is therefore every government's aspiration Public private partnerships PPP in health offer effective and sustainable solutions where the private sector and government can work together to bring long term benefits to the people This guidebook offers readers a guide for the development of a PPP in hospital management through six simple customizable steps It looks at hospital management as an important component of well rounded health care systems Through PPPs in hospital management people will have increased access to effective affordable and compassionate health care services Designing and Implementing Health Care Provider Payment Systems Jack Langenbrunner, Cheryl Cashin, Sheila O'Dougherty, 2009-01-01 Strategic purchasing of health services involves a continuous search for the best ways to maximize health system performance by deciding which interventions should be purchased from whom these should be purchased and how to pay for them In such an arrangement the passive cashier is replaced by an intelligent purchaser that can focus scarce resources on existing and emerging priorities rather than continuing entrenched historical spending patterns Having experimented with different ways of paying providers of health care services countries increasingly want to know not only what to do when paying providers but also how to do it particularly how to design manage and implement the transition from current to reformed systems Designing and Implementing Health Care Provider Payment Systems How To Manuals addresses this need The book has chapters on three of the most effective provider payment systems primary care per capita capitation payment case based hospital payment and hospital global budgets It also includes a primer on a second policy lever used by purchasers namely contracting This primer can be especially useful with one provider payment method hospital global budgets The volume's final chapter provides an outline for designing launching and running a health management information system as well as the necessary infrastructure for strategic purchasing

Before the UN Sustainable Development Goals Martin Gutmann, Daniel Gorman, 2022 This volume examines the legacies and historical context of the UN Sustainable Development Goals The complex background of relationships actors and institutions of the several goals are explored in detail by international experts from a range of disciplines

Efficiency of Health System Units in Africa Kirigia, Joses Muthuri, 2015-03-16 Despite sending huge sums of money on health every year the African region s burden of disease is persistently high Most of the countries in the region are lagging behind in achieving the health related United Nations Millennium Development Goals The African region s dismal health situation has largely been blamed on weakness pertaining to such factors as health leadership and governance service delivery health workforce medicines vaccines and health technologies health information and health system financing that have undermined the capacity of health systems of countries in the region to improve population health without wastage of resources Institutionalising health system efficiency monitoring as a basis for the design and implementation of appropriate policy interventions has been proposed as an effective way of curbing wastage of health system inputs

Efficiency of Health System Units in Africa A Data Envelopment Analysis is the first book of its kind on application of the data envelopment analysis technique to examine the efficiency of health system decision making units in Africa The book interlaces lecture notes with research articles and case studies to equip students and practitioners of economics operations research management science and public health with knowledge and skills for undertaking technical efficiency cost efficiency and total factor productivity analyses

Social Health Insurance for Developing Nations R. Paul Shaw, 2007-01-01 Specialist groups have often advised health ministers and other decision makers in developing countries on the use of social health insurance SHI as a way of mobilizing revenue for health reforming health sector performance and providing universal coverage This book reviews the specific design and implementation challenges facing SHI in low and middle income countries and presents case studies on Ghana Kenya Philippines Colombia and Thailand

Healthy Development, 2007-01-01 After an extensive consultative process with governments and global partners including civil society organizations and bilateral and multilateral organizations the World Bank s new health nutrition and population strategy aims to help developing countries strengthen their health systems and improve the health and well being of millions of the world s poorest people boost economic growth reduce poverty caused by catastrophic illness and provide the structural glue that supports multiple health related programs within countries

BOOK JACKET

Public Ends, Private Means Alexander S. Preker, 2007-01-01 Great progress has been made in recent years in securing better access and financial protection against the cost of illness through collective financing of health care Managing scarce resources effectively and efficiently is an important part of this story Experience has shown that without strategic policies and focused spending the poor are likely to get left out The use of purchasing to enhance public sector performance is well documented in other sectors Extension to the health sector of lessons from this experience is now successfully implemented in many developing countries Public Health System Innovations in Central America Gerard M. La Forgia, 2005 Similar to developing countries elsewhere during the 1990s Central American countries faced pressures to improve the performance of their health systems In most countries there was a consensus that the systems were failing to live up to their potential Rather than take on system wide change each country opted to step into reform through launching innovations to address specific problems or deficiencies in a particular program function or intervention of the system Health Systems Innovations in Central America reports on how these experiences fared a hospital in Panama a nutrition program in Honduras primary care extension in Guatemala a subset of hospitals and primary care units in Costa Rica and a social security managed health care program in Nicaragua The studies report on the performance of the innovations the policy environment in which they were developed as well as nuts and bolts features and processes incorporated into their design and implementation Good Practices in Health

Financing Pablo Gottret, George Schieber, Hugh R. Waters, 2008-06-20 For humanitarian reasons and the concern for households economic and health security the health sector is at the center of global development policy Developing countries and the international community are scaling up health systems to meet the Millennium Development Goals MDGs and are improving financial protection by securing long term support for these gains Yet money alone cannot buy health gains or prevent impoverishment due to catastrophic medical bills well structured results based financing reforms are needed Unfortunately global evidence of successful health financing policies that can guide the reform effort is very limited and therefore the policy debate is often driven by ideological one size fits all solutions Good Practices in Health Financing Lessons from Reforms in Low and Middle Income Countries attempts to begin to fill the void by systematically assessing health financing reforms in nine low and middle income countries that have managed to expand their health financing systems to both improve health status and protect against catastrophic medical expenses The participating countries are Chile Colombia Costa Rica Estonia the Kyrgyz Republic Sri Lanka Thailand Tunisia and Vietnam The study seeks to identify common enabling factors of their good performance While the findings for each country are important collectively they send a clear message to the global community that more attention is needed to define good practice and then to evaluate and disseminate the global evidence base OECD Reviews of Health Systems National Health Accounts of Kazakhstan

OECD, 2018-02-27 This report assesses how Kazakhstan measures up in the development and application of its national health accounts delivering a set of recommendations to improve the health spending information necessary to support health system performance Making Health Systems Work in Low and Middle Income Countries Sameen Siddiqi, Awad

Mataria, Katherine D. Netherlands Private Voluntary Health Insurance Greg Brunner,Pablo Gottret,Birgit Hansl,Vijayasekar Kalavakonda,Somil Nagpal,Nicole Tapay,2012-05-14 This book aims to help countries design and implement a legal framework for a viable private health insurance market with rationale for insurance regulation institutions involved and standards and protections used in regulating private health insurance Health Policy in Asia M. Ramesh,Azad S. Bali,2021-12-09 The book assesses the policy actions of select Asian governments China India Hong Kong South Korea Singapore and Thailand to address critical health system functions from a policy design perspective The findings show that all governments in the region have made tremendous strides in focussing their attention on the core issues and especially the interactions among them However there is still insufficient appreciation of the usefulness of public hospitals and their efficient management Similarly some governments have not made sufficient efforts to establish an effective regulatory framework which is especially vital in systems with a large share of private providers and payers A well run public hospital system and an effective framework for regulating private providers are essential tools to support the governance financing and payment reforms underway in the six health systems studied in this book
