The Art Of Partnering Building Relationships And Getting Things Done:

The Art of Partnering Bobby Curtis Hamm, Mark Edward Moore, 2001-06 Collaborative Leadership David Archer, Alex Cameron, 2009-02-04 Collaborative leadership is about delivering results across boundaries The nature of that boundary is important whether it is a formal contract or an informal agreement between two parties to work together for a common aim And leaders need to be clear about where the boundary lies and how to use the different capabilities on either side of it to build a positive and efficient relationship As the poet Robert Frost once put it Good fences make good neighbours Getting value from difference is at the heart of the collaborative leader's task But that is not without its challenges As in many marriages it is often this difference in skills experience resources or culture that attracts organisations to work together in the first place Then as time goes by people start to rail against that very difference and try to remove it wherever it causes frustration in the joint operation An often heard criticism is Why can't they be more like us But of course the truth is that if they were you'd have lost the very reason that brought the two of you together So collaborative leaders have to pull off a tricky balancing act on the one hand respecting and valuing the differences of a partner while on the other smoothing out some of those differences in the interests of making the relationship work more efficiently At the same time leaders have to learn to share control and to trust a partner to deliver even though that partner may operate very differently from themselves Collaborative leadership is a sophisticated art but mastering this complexity lies at the heart of business success now and in the future Marketing the Arts Finola Kerrigan, 2010-04-27 In recent years there have been significant shifts in arts marketing both as a practice and an academic discipline The relationship between art and the market is increasingly complex and dynamic requiring a transformation in the way the arts are marketed Marketing the Arts argues that arts marketing is not about the simple application of mainstream managerial marketing to the arts With contributions from international scholars of marketing and consumer studies this book engages directly with a range of contemporary themes including The importance of arts consumption and its social dimensions The importance of the aesthetic experience itself and how to research it Arts policy development The art versus commerce debate The role of the arts marketer as market maker The artist as brand or entrepreneur This exciting new book covers topics as diverse as Damien Hirst's For the Love of God Liverpool's brand makeover Manga scanlation Gob Squad Surrealism Bluegrass music Miles Davis and Andy Warhol and is sure to enthuse students and enlighten practitioners Collaborative Leadership Hank Rubin, 2009-03-09 Build and maintain successful collaborative relationships in your school and watch resources for student achievement soar With this updated bestseller educators discover how to use collaboration to shape school culture and help their students learn Visionary Hank Rubin provides a broad overview of collaboration in education and lays the foundation for working with colleagues establishing strong partnerships and cooperating with students to achieve goals Filled with practical examples and the latest research this resource examines 14 phases of collaboration and helps educators Understand the skills and characteristics that foster successful collaboration Nurture relationships with students Build collaborative community relationships
