The Ballad of HMS Belfast Ciaran Carson, 1999 The Ballad of HMS Belfast Ciaran Carson, 2014 A selection of all that is great about Carson's poems his translations of Ovid his Irish ballads poems about identity and a sense of place The Etymological Poetry of W. H. Auden, J. H. Prynne, and Paul Muldoon Mia Gaudern, 2020-07-10 This book defines analyses and theorises a late modern etymological poetry that is alive to the past lives of its words and probes the possible significance of them both explicitly and implicitly Close readings of poetry and criticism by Auden Prynne and Muldoon investigate the implications of their etymological perspectives for the way their language establishes relationships between people and between people and the world These twin functions of communication and representation are shown to be central to the critical reception of etymological poetry which is a category of difficult poetry However resonant poetic etymologising may be critics warn that it shows the poet's natural interest in language degenerating into an unhealthy obsession with the dictionary It is unavoidably pedantic in the post Saussurean era to entertain the idea that a word's history might have any relevance to its current use As such etymological poetry elicits the closest of close readings thus encouraging readers to reflect not only on its own pedantry obscurity and virtuosity but also on how these qualities function in criticism As well as presenting a new way of reading three very different late modern poet critics this book addresses an understudied aspect of the relationship between poetry and criticism Its findings are situated in the context of literary debates about difficulty and diction and in larger cultural conversations about the workings of language as a historical event Postcolonial Overtures Julia C. Obert, 2015-10-29 Postcolonial Overtures explores the importance of sound in contemporary Northern Irish writing focusing on the work of three canonical poets Ciaran Carson Derek Mahon and Paul Muldoon Obert argues that these poets respond to what Edward Said calls geographical violence to the stratification of the North's visual spaces to the sectarian symbols splashed across Belfast and beyond by turning from the eye to the ear tentatively remapping place in acoustic space Carson for instance casts Troubles era Belfast as a demolition city its landmarks swallowed in the maw of time and trouble and tries to compensate for this inhospitality by reimagining landscape as soundscape an immersive auditory field This strategy suggests sound's political and affective potential music accent and even comfortingly familiar white noise can help subjects otherwise unmoored feel at home Drawing on a diverse range of fields Obert devotes two chapters to the examination of each poet's work allowing room for both in depth formalist readings and contextual and theoretical understandings of the poems and their reverberating effects Twentieth-Century Irish Literature Aaron Kelly, 2008-06-02 This Guide surveys existing criticism and theory making clear the key critical debates themes and issues surrounding a wide variety of Irish poets playwrights and novelists It relates Irish literature to debates surrounding issues such as national identity modernity and the Revival period armed struggle gender sexuality and post colonialism

Edinburgh Companion to Twentieth-Century British and American War Literature Adam Piette, 2012-03-07 The first reference book to deal so fully and incisively with the cultural representations of war in 20th century English and US literature and film The volume covers the two World Wars as well as specific conflicts that generated literary and imaginativ

Ciaran Carson Neal Alexander, 2010-01-01 A PDF version of this book is available for free in open access via the OAPEN Library platform www.oapen.org Ciaran Carson is one of the most challenging and inventive of contemporary Irish writers exhibiting verbal brilliance formal complexity and intellectual daring across a remarkably varied body of work This study considers the full range of his oeuvre in poetry prose and translations and discusses the major themes to which he returns including memory and history narrative language and translation mapping violence and power It argues that the singularity of Carson's writing is to be found in his radical imaginative engagements with ideas of space and place The city of Belfast in particular occupies a crucially important place in his texts serving as an imaginative focal point around which his many other concerns are constellated The city in all its volatile mutability is an abiding frame of reference and a reservoir of creative impetus for Carson's imagination Accordingly the book adopts an interdisciplinary approach that draws upon geography urbanism and cultural theory as well as literary criticism It provides both a stimulating and thorough introduction to Carson's work and a flexible critical framework for exploring literary representations of space Contemporary Literary Landscapes Daniel Weston, 2017-05-15 Writing landscapes inevitably occurs in dialogue with a long textual and pictorial tradition but first hand experience also provides key stimuli to many writers accounts This monograph employs a comparative lens to offer an intervention in debates between literary scholars who focus on genre and those cultural geographers who are concerned that self-perpetuating literary tropes marginalize practical engagements Suggesting that representation and experience are not competing paradigms for landscape Daniel Weston argues that in the hands of contemporary writers they are complementary forces building composite articulations of place In five case studies Weston matches a writer to a mode of apprehending place W G Sebald with picturing Ciaran Carson with mapping Iain Sinclair with walking Robert Macfarlane with engaging Kathleen Jamie with noticing Drawing out a range of sites at which representation and experience interact Weston's argument is twofold first interaction between traditions of landscape writing and direct experience of landscapes are mutually influential and second writers increasingly deploy style form and descriptive aesthetics to recover the experience of place in the poetics of the text itself As Weston shows emergent landscape writing shuttles across generic boundaries reflecting the fact that the landscapes traversed are built out of a combination of real and imaginary sources An Irish Literature Reader Maureen O'Rourke Murphy, James MacKillop, 2006-07-10 In a volume that has become a standard text in Irish studies and serves as a course friendly alternative to the Field Day anthology editors Maureen O'Rourke Murphy and James MacKillop survey thirteen centuries of Irish literature including Old Irish epic and lyric poetry Irish folksongs and drama For each author the editors provide a biographical sketch a brief discussion of how his or her selections relate to a larger body of work and a selected bibliography In addition this new volume includes a larger sampling of women writers

Contemporary British and Irish Poetry Sarah Broom, 2005-10-18 Sarah Broom provides an engaging challenging and lively introduction to contemporary British and Irish poetry The book covers work by poets from a wide range of ethnic and regional backgrounds and covers a broad range of poetic styles including mainstream names like Seamus Heaney and Carol Ann Duffy alongside more marginal and experimental poets like Tom Raworth and Geraldine Monk

Contemporary British and Irish Poetry tackles the most compelling and contentious issues facing poetry today

'Tinkers' Mary Burke, 2009-07-16 Irish playwright J M Synge created influential but misunderstood representations of travellers or tinkers This work traces the history of the tinker back to medieval Irish historiography and English Renaissance literature and forward to contemporary US screen depictions

A World of Local Voices Klaus Martens, Paul Duncan Morris, Arlette Warken, 2003 The present volume contains papers and poems presented at Saarland University's international conference A World of Local Voices Poetry in English Today October 22-23 1999 and the Day of International Poetry October 24 1999 both organised by the university's Department of North American Literature and Culture The conference set out to explore how the modernist tendency towards overarching concepts and a poetry of ideas is slowly being superseded by a more modest poetry of place which at the same time seems to be loosely subsumed within the unifying medium of English in its various forms The Day of International Poetry was meant to put into operation some of the poetic issues discussed during the conference by asking poets from several English speaking countries Canada India Jamaica and the USA to contribute their individual voices to an international reading of poetry This volume comprises critical contributions which deal with the interplay of aesthetic cultural and political forces in contemporary poetry The common reference of this collection is poetry written in varieties of the English language including translations The essays show awareness of the current critical debates concerning postcolonialism and intercultural literary relations while also suggesting new paradigms of critical understanding based on the analyses of individual poetic expression As a supplement selected poets and translators have submitted individual poetic texts with accompanying commentaries

Modern Irish and Scottish Poetry Peter Mackay, Edna Longley, Fran Brearton, 2011-04-14 The comparative study of the literatures of Ireland and Scotland has emerged as a distinct and buoyant field in recent years This collection of new essays offers the first sustained comparison of modern Irish and Scottish poetry featuring close readings of texts within broad historical and political contextualisation Playing on influences crossovers connections disconnections and differences the affinities and opposites traced in this book cross both Irish and Scottish poetry in many directions Contributors include major scholars of the new archipelagic approach as well as leading
