Stone Houses And Earth Lords Maya Religion In The Cave Context

Stone Houses And Earth Lords Maya Religion In The Cave Context:

Stone Houses and Earth Lords Keith M. Prufer, James E. Brady, 2005-11-25 Stone Houses and Earth Lords is the first volume dedicated exclusively to the use of caves in the Maya Lowlands covering primarily Classic Period archaeology from A.D. 100 through the Spaniards arrival. Although the caves that riddled the lowlands show no signs of habitation, most contain evidence of human use, evidence that suggests that they functioned as ritual spaces.

Exploring the Mesoamerican Subterranean Realm James E. Brady, Cristina Verdugo, 2025-09-01 Exploring the Mesoamerican Subterranean Realm brings together recent work and interpretations on the use of underground cavities by Mesoamerican's pre-Columbian cultures, demonstrating their invaluable cultural purpose. Case studies from across the region investigate the ways in which these highly charged points in the sacred landscape were the focus of countless political and religious activities. The volume expands the study of caves to focus on the broader realm of subterranean space, introducing the concept of the constructed subterranean, a space in which the Maya deliberately created sacred landmarks through excavation. Chapters critically examine chultuns, previously thought to be subterranean storage chambers, and sascaberas, previously considered mines, demonstrating that the traditional archaeological models are deeply flawed. A wealth of data on both features is used to envision a new sacred landscape filled with thousands of subterranean sacred landmarks. Natural caves are also examined. A survey conducted around the ancient site of Yaxchilan considers the obvious importance of large stalagmites set up in the site core as monuments. Long distance pilgrimages to these caves fundamentally reevaluates the nature of pilgrimage and reveals an economic and political importance that structured settlement and activities around the pilgrimage sites. Finally, evidence is analyzed to show that the human bones recovered from Midnight Terror Cave, Belize, were the result of human sacrifice. Dealing equally with the archaeology of both natural and constructed subterranean spaces, Exploring the Mesoamerican Subterranean Realm challenges preconceived notions of these spaces and their meanings, dramatically shifting the field's focus and extending the understanding of the critical importance of this dark side of archaeology.

New Perspectives on Human Sacrifice and Ritual Body Treatments in Ancient Maya Society Vera Tiesler, Andrea Cucina, 2007-02-15 The central goal of this book is to contribute to the timely discussion and understanding of Maya sacrifice and related posthumous body manipulation. Most school children in the US learn about the Maya and their practices based on their cultural and religious beliefs in their Social Studies classes. But a number of new sites have been discovered, giving an interdisciplinary group of researchers a channel to discuss these acts and their meaning. The editors bring together not only archaeologists but anthropologists, forensic anthropologists, art historians, and bioarchaeologists, giving the volume a more complete perspective on these sites and the material culture and biological evidence found there. The field of archaeology is growing to include the physical remains of ritual practice along with the material remains, and this book can be seen as an example of how the study of ancient civilizations can be more comprehensive. Additionally, this is an international volume with scholars from the area studied which is becoming more and more important in archaeological research This will be of interest to students studying Mayan and Mesoamerican culture as well as those interested in bioarchaeology and human sacrifice

The Bioarchaeology of Space and Place Gabriel D. Wrobel, 2014-04-16 The Bioarchaeology of Space and Place investigates variations in social identity among the ancient Maya by focusing on individuals and small groups identified archaeologically by their inclusion in specific discrete mortuary contexts or by unusual mortuary treatments Utilizing archaeological biological and taphonomic data from these contexts the studies employ a variety of methodological approaches to reconstruct aspects of individuals life course and mortuary pathways Following this specific mortuary behaviors are discussed in relation to their local or regional cultural setting using relevant archaeological ethnohistoric and or ethnographic data in an effort to interpret their meaning within the broader social political and economic contexts in which they were carried out This volume covers a number of topics that are currently being debated in Maya archaeology including identification and discussion of the role and extent of human sacrifice in Maya culture the use of ancestors for maintaining political power the mortuary use of caves by both elites and non elites ethnic distinctions within urban areas and the extent of movement of people between communities Importantly the papers in this volume attempt to test and move beyond static dichotic categories that are often employed in mortuary studies in an effort to better understand the complex ways in which the Maya conceptualized and manipulated social identity This type of nuanced case study approach that incorporates historical archaeological and theoretical contextualization is becoming increasingly important in the field of bioarchaeology providing valuable sources of data where small diverse samples impede populational approaches

Ch'ul Mut Maruch Méndez Pérez, Diane Rus, 2023-11-01 Tsotsil Maya elder curer singer and artist Maruch Méndez Pérez began learning about birds as a young shepherdess climbing trees and raiding nests for eggs to satisfy her endless hunger As she grew into womanhood and apprenticed herself to older women as a curer and seer the natural history of birds she learned so roughly as a child expanded to include ancestral Maya beliefs about birds as channels of communication with deities in the spirit world who had dominion over human lives In these testimonies dictated to her lifelong friend anthropologist Diane Rus Méndez Pérez describes her years of dreams instruction and experience Her narrative sheds light on the basic values of her Chamula culture and cosmovision and has remarkable parallels to concepts of the ancient Maya as interpreted by scholars

Re-Creating Primordial Time Gabrielle Vail, Christine Hernández, 2013-06-15 Re-Creating Primordial Time offers a new perspective on the Maya codices documenting the extensive use of creation mythology and foundational rituals in the hieroglyphic texts and iconography of these important manuscripts Focusing on both pre-Columbian codices and early colonial creation accounts Vail and Hernández show that in spite of significant cultural change during the Postclassic and Colonial periods the mythological traditions reveal significant continuity beginning as far back as the Classic period Remarkable similarities exist within the Maya tradition even as new mythologies were introduced through contact with the Gulf Coast region and highland central Mexico

Vail and Hernández analyze the extant Maya codices within the context of later literary sources such as the Books of Chilam Balam, the Popol Vuh, and the Codice Chimalpopoca to present numerous examples highlighting the relationship among creation mythology, rituals, and lore. Compiling and comparing Maya creation mythology with that of the Borgia codices from highland central Mexico. Re-Creating Primordial Time is a significant contribution to the field of Mesoamerican studies and will be of interest to scholars of archaeology, linguistics, epigraphy, and comparative religions alike.
