Stone Fields Epitaph For Living:

The Stone Fields Courtney Angela Brkic, 2025-08-22 When she was twenty three years old Courtney Angela Brkic joined a UN contracted forensic team in eastern Bosnia Unlike many aid workers Brkic was drawn there by her family history and although fluent in the language she was advised to avoid letting local workers discover her ethnicity Her passionate narrative of establishing a morgue in a small town and excavating graves at Srebrenica is braided with her family's remarkable history in what was once Yugoslavia The Stone Fields deeply personal and wise asks what it takes to prevent the violent loss of life and what we are willing to risk in the process

After Memory Matthias Schwartz, Nina Weller, Heike Winkel, 2021-06-08 Even seventy five years after the end of World War II the commemorative cultures surrounding the War and the Holocaust in Central Eastern and South Eastern Europe are anything but fixed The fierce debates on how to deal with the past among the newly constituted nation states in these regions have already received much attention by scholars in cultural and memory studies The present volume posits that literature as a medium can help us understand the shifting attitudes towards World War II and the Holocaust in post Communist Europe in recent years These shifts point to new commemorative cultures shaping up after memory Contemporary literary representations of World War II and the Holocaust in Eastern Europe do not merely extend or replace older practices of remembrance and testimony but reflect on these now defunct or superseded narratives New narratives of remembrance are conditioned by a fundamentally new social and political context one that emerged from the devaluation of socialist commemorative rituals and as a response to the loss of private and family memory narratives The volume offers insights into the diverse literatures of Eastern Europe and their ways of depicting the area's contested heritage

Representing Genocide Rebecca Jinks, 2016-06-02 This book explores the diverse ways in which Holocaust representations have influenced and structured how other genocides are understood and represented in the West Rebecca Jinks focuses in particular on the canonical 20th century cases of genocide Armenia Cambodia Bosnia and Rwanda Using literature film photography and memorialisation she demonstrates that we can only understand the Holocaust's status as a benchmark for other genocides if we look at the deeper structural resonances which subtly shape many representations of genocide Representing Genocide pursues five thematic areas in turn how genocides are recognised as such by western publics the representation of the origins and perpetrators of genocide how western witnesses represent genocide representations of the aftermath of genocide and western responses to genocide Throughout the book distinguishes between mainstream and other more nuanced and engaged representations of genocide It shows how these mainstream representations the majority largely replicate the representational framework of the Holocaust including the way in which mainstream Holocaust representations resist recognising the rationality instrumentality and normality of genocide preferring instead to present it as an aberrant exceptional event in human society By contrast the more engaged representations often but not always originating from those who experienced genocide tend to revolve around precisely genocide s ordinariness and the structures and situations common to human society which contribute to and become involved in the violence

Necropolitics Francisco Ferrándiz, Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2015-06-19 The unmarked mass graves left by war and acts of terror are lasting traces of violence in communities traumatized by fear conflict and unfinished mourning Like silent testimonies to the wounds of history these graves continue to inflict harm on communities and families that wish to bury or memorialize their lost kin Changing political circumstances can reveal the location of mass graves or facilitate their exhumation but the challenge of identifying and recovering the dead is only the beginning of a complex process that brings the rights and wishes of a bereaved society onto a transnational stage Necropolitics Mass Graves and Exhumations in the Age of Human Rights examines the political and social implications of this sensitive undertaking in specific local and national contexts International forensic methods local level claims national political developments and transnational human rights discourse converge in detailed case studies from the United States Argentina Chile Peru Spain Bosnia Herzegovina Greece Rwanda Cambodia and Korea Contributors analyze the role of exhumations in transitional justice from the steps of interviewing eyewitnesses and survivors to the painstaking forensic recovery and comparison of DNA profiles This innovative volume demonstrates that contemporary exhumations are as much a source of personal historical and criminal evidence as instruments of redress for victims through legal accountability and memory politics Contributors Zo Crossland Francisco Ferrándiz Luis Fondebrider Iosif Kovras Heonik Kwon Isaias Rojas Perez Antonius C G M Robben Elena Lesley Katerina Stefatos Francesc Torres Sarah Wagner Richard Ashby Wilson
