The Challenge of Cross-cultural Competency in Social Work Jean Schuldberg, 2005 This study evaluates the cultural competency needs in social work education from the perspective of eight social service workers from the Iu Mien community The National Association of Social Workers NASW Code of Ethics views the acquisition of cultural competency as an ethical standard The Council on Social Work Education CSWE mandates the teaching of cultural competency in their guidelines Lack of cultural competency may hinder social workers ability to advocate help broker resources and support the strengths of individuals and communities The perspective of social workers cultural competency from recipients of service or workers from non dominant groups in the United States has not been researched Participatory research which involves collaborative dialogues between the researcher and participants is the methodology for this study Most Iu Mien adults primarily refugees from Laos have experienced contact with social workers in the United States Social service workers from the Iu Mien community have the unique position of having received services and now providing them aspects of the Iu Mien people cultural competency needs and recommendations for social work education and practice and the presentation of the development of a qualitative research study Social work educators and students will find this book a wonderful tool The SAGE Handbook of Social Work Research Ian Shaw, Katharine Briar-Lawson, Joan Orme, Roy Ruckdeschel, 2009-11-27 This is an ambitious book It aims at nothing less than a comprehensive account of the state of the art of social work research internationally and an intellectually original statement that will help to define and shape social work research Those with a serious interest in social work research will agree that this is a major undertaking and one that should put social work research on the map Ian Sinclair University of York UK This terrific Handbook provides an essential map for navigating the complex currents of social work research today It resists polemical and simplistic binaries to chart a course that emphasizes diversity pluralism and sensitivity to political contexts in many featured exemplars As key chapters note inherent tensions at the heart of social work itself are mirrored in current debates about the purposes and methods of social work research Rather than patch over differences the volume invites us to understand historical roots of unresolvable tensions and live with them The international scope of the volume is unique scholars from more than a dozen different countries were involved and its broad scope counters the tendency toward parochialism of much North American literature The Handbook should be essential reading for students and academics Catherine Riessman Boston University USA The SAGE Handbook of Social Work Research provides a comprehensive internationally focused account of leading social work research offering an original and defining statement on contemporary theory and practice within the field The groundbreaking Handbook engages critically with the nature and role of social work research and evaluation in contemporary societies around the globe and asks four key questions What is the role and purpose of social work research What contexts shape the practice and purpose of social work research How can we maximise the quality of the practice of social work research How can the aims of social work in its varied domains be met through social work research Ranging over local national and international issues and exploring questions of theory and practice this is a diverse and constructively organized overview of the field It will quickly be recognized as a benchmark in the expanding field of social work research setting the agenda for future work in the arena

Families in Global and Multicultural Perspective Bron B Ingoldsby, Suzanna D Smith, 2006 Publisher description

Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging Barbara Berkman, 2006-02-09 The Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging is the first reference to combine the fields of health care aging and social work in a single authoritative volume These areas are too often treated as discrete entities while the reality is that all social workers deal with issues in health and aging on a daily basis regardless of practice specialization As the baby boomers age the impact on practice in health and aging will be dramatic and social workers need more specialized knowledge about aging health care and the resources available to best serve older adults and their families The volume s 102 original chapters and 13 overviews written by the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars in the United States and across the world provide social work practitioners and educators with up to date knowledge of evidence based practice guidelines for effectively assessing and treating older adults and their families new models for intervention in both community based practice and institutional care and knowledge of significant policy and research issues in health and aging A truly monumental resource this handbook represents the best research on health and aging available to social workers today American Book Publishing Record

, 2005 Resources in Education , 1995-04 Immigrant Children Susan S. Chuang, Robert P. Moreno, 2011-06-16 Over the past several decades the demographic populations of many countries such as Canada as well as the United States have greatly transformed Most striking is the influx of recent immigrant families into North America As children lead the way for a new North America this group of children and youth is not a singular homogenous group but rather a mosaic and diverse ethnic racial and cultural group Thus our current understanding of normative development covering social psychological cognitive language academic and behavioral development which has been generally based on middle class Euro American children may not necessarily be optimal development for all children Researchers are widely recognizing that the theoretical frameworks and models of child development lack the sociocultural and ethnic sensitivities to the ways in which developmental processes operate in an ecological context As researchers progress and develop promising forms of methodological innovation to further our understanding of immigrant children little effort has been placed to collectively organize a group of scholarly work in a coherent manner Some researchers who examine ethnic minority children tended to have ethnocentric notions of normative development Thus some ethnic minority groups are understood within a deficit model with a limited scope of topics of interest Moreover few researchers have specifically investigated the acculturation process for children and the implications for cultural socialization of children by ethnic group This book represents a group of leading scholars cutting edge research which will not only move our understanding forward but also to open up new possibilities for research providing innovative methodologies in examining this complex and dynamic group Immigrant Children Change Adaptation and Cultural Transformation will also take the research lead in guiding our current knowledge of how development is influenced by a variety of sociocultural factors placing future research in a better position to probe inherent principles of child development In sum this book will provide readers with a richer and more comprehensive approach of how researchers social service providers and social policymakers can examine children and immigration

Developing Cross-cultural Competence Eleanor W. Lynch, Marci J. Hanson, 1998 The updated second edition of this popular resource offers practical advice for working with children and families of diverse heritage With insight from their own racial cultural and linguistic backgrounds the chapter authors contribute wisdom about the influence of different cultures on people's beliefs values and behaviors Their knowledge helps professionals learn how to embrace diversity in intervention services and foster respectful and effective interactions with people of many cultures Widely used in preservice and in service settings Developing Cross Cultural Competence is invaluable as a textbook in graduate and undergraduate courses in general and special education social work child development psychology family studies and public health and ideal as a guide for human services professionals home visitors paraprofessionals and program administrators who work with children with disabilities

The SAGE Encyclopedia of Intercultural Competence Janet M. Bennett, 2015-03-23 In 1980 SAGE published Geert Hofstede's Culture's Consequences It opens with a quote from Blaise Pascal There are truths on this side of the Pyrenees that are falsehoods on the other The book became a classic one of the most cited sources in the Social Science Citation Index and subsequently appeared in a second edition in 2001 This new SAGE Encyclopedia of Intercultural Competence picks up on themes explored in that book Cultural competence refers to the set of attitudes practices and policies that enables a person or agency to work well with people from differing cultural groups Other related terms include cultural sensitivity transcultural skills diversity competence and multicultural expertise What defines a culture What barriers might block successful communication between individuals or agencies of differing cultures How can those barriers be understood and navigated to enhance intercultural communication and understanding These questions and more are explained within the pages of this new reference work Key Features 300 to 350 entries organized in A to Z fashion in two volumes Signed entries that conclude with Cross References and Suggestions for Further Readings Thematic Reader s Guide in the front matter grouping related entries by broad topic areas Chronology that provides a historical perspective of the development of cultural competence as a discrete field of study Resources appendix and a comprehensive Index The SAGE Encyclopedia of Intercultural Competence is an authoritative and rigorous source on intercultural competence and related issues making it a must have reference for all academic libraries

Diversifying the Teaching Force in Transnational Contexts Clea Schmidt,Jens Schneider,2016-10-26 Diversifying the teaching force has become a priority in many migrant receiving jurisdictions worldwide with the growing mismatch between the ethnic backgrounds cultures languages and religions of teachers and those of students and families Arguments for diversification tend to be couched in terms of disproportionate representation and students from minority backgrounds needing positive role models yet research identifies other compelling reasons for diversification including the fact that teachers of migrant backgrounds often possess outstanding qualifications when multilingualism and internationally obtained education and experience are taken into account and the fact that all students including majority background students benefit from a diversity of role models in schools Nevertheless the process of diversification is fraught with complexity Depending on the context systemic discrimination an oversupply of teachers in the profession generally and outdated hiring policies and practices can all impede efforts to diversify the teaching force This volume comprises original research from Canada the U S Germany Ireland Scotland and England that problematizes issues of diversifying the teaching force and identifies promising practices A foreword written by Charlene Bearhead of the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation questions the very purpose of education in and for diverse societies An introduction written by the editors defines key concepts and establishes a rationale for diversifying the teaching force in migrant receiving contexts Following this key international scholars offer empirical perspectives using a range of methodologies and theories rooted in critical social science paradigms The volume informs future research programming and policy development in this area
