The Challenge Of Dh Lawrence:

The Challenge of D.H. Lawrence Michael Squires, Keith Cushman, 1990 Thirteen essays that aim to illuminate the achievement of one of England's greatest modern writers Employing a variety of perspectives historical cultural theoretical feminist the critics here assembled address concerns about Lawrence's work that have emerged in recent years his attitudes toward the working class art women Britain his conceptions of male female relationships sexuality education and knowledge and his place in cultural history and the traditions of the English novel All of the essays from reassessments of Lawrence's position in the English literary tradition to analyses of his influence on recent American poetry find renewed faith in the challenge of Lawrence's work making this volume of interest to Lawrence scholars and students The Challenge of D.H. Lawrence Rev. J. A. Bramley, 1960 The Problem with Pleasure Laura Frost, 2013-07-16 A revealing study of the sensual tensions powering the period's formal and ideological innovations The Challenge of Bewilderment Paul B. Armstrong, 2018-03-15 The Challenge of Bewilderment treats the epistemology of representation in major works by Henry James Joseph Conrad and Ford Madox Ford attempting to explain how the novel turned away from its traditional concern with realistic representation and toward self-consciousness about the relation between knowing and narration Paul B. Armstrong here addresses the pivotal thematic experience of bewilderment an experience that challenges the reader's very sense of reality and that shows it to have no more certainty or stability than an interpretative construct Through readings of The Sacred Fount and The Ambassadors by James Lord Jim and Nostromo by Conrad and The Good Soldier and Parade's End by Ford Armstrong examines how each writer dramatizes his understanding of the act of knowing Armstrong demonstrates how the novelists' attitudes toward the process of knowing inform experiments with representation through which they thematize the relation between the understanding of a fictional world and everyday habits of perception Finally he considers how these experiments with the strategies of narration produce a heightened awareness of the process of interpretation

The Worlds of D.H. Lawrence's Short Fiction, (1907-1923) Anna Grmelová, 2001 Rhetoric Of The Unselfconscious In D H L Masami Nakabayashi, 2011-10-10 In this study of the Lady Chatterley novels Masami Nakabayashi pays particular attention to D H Lawrence's language for the feelings and for the life of the unselfconscious sexual body The novels constantly find ways of verbalising the characters' internalised experiences as they occur in states of unselfconsciousness Lawrence's language for sensual feelings and emotions has always been regarded as simply sexual and no previous critics have explored or made sense of the complexities of his peculiar but extremely sophisticated writing practice in the Lady Chatterley novels Lawrence was a habitual reviser of his work and despite the availability of reliable texts in the Cambridge edition few critics have traced the nature and significance of his changes from one draft to the next By examining and analysing the novels' particular linguistic revisions Masami Nakabayashi reveals the textual impulse behind Lawrence's original conception and its subsequent change and development Job: The Faith to Challenge God Michael L.

Brown,2021-10-05 Just as there was no man on earth like Job there is no book on earth like the book of Job In this new commentary biblical scholar Michael Brown brings Job to life for the twenty first century reader exploring the raw spirituality of Job his extraordinary faith his friends theological errors the mysteries of God s speeches and the unique answers to the problem of suffering offered in the book of Job Undergirded by solid Hebrew scholarship but written with clarity for all serious students of Scripture the commentary provides an important introduction to the study of Job a new translation a series of theological reflections and additional exegetical essays providing in depth discussion of key passages Additional topics covered in the theological reflections include the following Challenging God as an Act of Faith How Would Job Comfort a Sufferer Who Was the Satan Job and Jesus Job and the New Atheists Feminists Who Changed America, 1963-1975

Barbara J. Love,2006-09-22 Documenting key feminists who ignited the second wave women s movement Barbara J Love s Feminists Who Changed America 1963 1975 will be the first comprehensive directory to document many of the founders and leaders including both well known and grassroots organizers of the second wave women s movement It tells the stories of more than two thousand individual women and a few notable men who together reignited the women s movement and made permanent changes to entrenched customs and laws The biographical entries on these pioneering feminists represent their many factions all parts of the country all races and ethnic groups and all political ideologies Nancy Cott s foreword discusses the movement in relation to the earlier first wave and presents a brief overview of the second wave in the context of other contemporaneous social movements Modernism and the Theater of Censorship Adam Parkes,1996-02-22 Adam Parkes investigates the literary and cultural implications of the censorship encountered by several modern novelists in the early twentieth century He situates modernism in the context of this censorship examining the relations between such authors as D H Lawrence James Joyce Radclyffe Hall and Virginia Woolf and the public controversies generated by their fictional explorations of modern sexual themes These authors located obscenity at the level of stylistic and formal experiment The Rainbow Lady Chatterley s Lover Ulysses and Orlando dramatized problems of sexuality and expression in ways that subverted the moral political and aesthetic premises on which their censors operated In showing how modernism evolved within a culture of censorship Modernism and the Theater of Censorship suggests that modern novelists while shaped by their culture attempted to reshape it Sympathy for the Abyss Stephen D. Dowden,2011-05-03 The series Studien zur deutschen Literatur Studies in German Literature presents outstanding analyses of German speaking literature from the early modern period to the present day It particularly embraces comparative cultural and historical epistemological questions and serves as a tradition steeped forum for innovative literary research All submitted manuscripts undergo a double peer review process Please contact the editor Dr Anja Simone Michalski anja.simone.michalski@degruyter.com for further information regarding manuscript submission and subsidies The Opposite of Desire Tonya Krouse,2009-01-01 The Opposite of Desire examines explicit representations of sex and sexuality in modernist novels and it asserts that those scenes provide a lens through which one can explore modernist aesthetic interests as well as the centrality of issues surrounding sex sexuality and gender in the modernist period With the aid of Michel Foucault s theories about sexual discourses Tonya Krouse shows how the modernists represent the idea of pleasure in their novels The Intelligent Unconscious in Modernist Literature and Science Thalia Trigoni, 2020-11-16 This book reassesses the philosophical psychological and above all the literary representations of the unconscious in the early twentieth century This period is distinctive in the history of responses to the unconscious because it gave rise to a line of thought according to which the unconscious is an intelligent agent able to perform judgements and formulate its own thoughts The roots of this theory stretch back to nineteenth century British physiologists Despite the production of a number of studies on modernist theories of the relation of the unconscious to conscious cognition the degree to which the notion of the intelligent unconscious influenced modernist thinkers and writers remains understudied This study seeks to look back at modernism from beyond the Freudian model It is striking that although we tend not to explore the importance of this way of thinking about the unconscious and its relationship to consciousness during this period modernist writers adopted it widely The intelligent unconscious was particularly appealing to literary authors as it is intertwined with creativity and artistic novelty through its ability to move beyond discursive logic The book concentrates primarily on the works of D H Lawrence Virginia Woolf and T S Eliot authors who engaged the notion of the intelligent unconscious reworked it and offered it for the consumption of the general populace in varied ways and for different purposes whether aesthetic philosophical societal or ideological Shortlisted for the Modernist Studies Association MSA First Book Prize and for the 2021 British Society for Literature and Science Book Prize

Juvenescence Robert Pogue Harrison, 2014-11-21 A meditation on the human condition in an age when the old aspire to be young from the author of Forests The Shadow of Civilization Children s Literature How old are you The more thought you bring to bear on the question the harder it is to answer For we age simultaneously in different ways biologically psychologically socially And we age within the larger framework of a culture in the midst of a history that predates us and will outlast us Looked at through that lens many aspects of late modernity would suggest that we are older than ever but Robert Pogue Harrison argues that we are also getting startlingly younger in looks mentality and behavior We live he says in an age of juvenescence Like all of Robert Pogue Harrison s books Juvenescence ranges brilliantly across cultures and history tracing the ways that the spirits of youth and age have inflected each other from antiquity to the present Drawing on the scientific concept of neotony or the retention of juvenile characteristics through adulthood and extending it into the cultural realm Harrison argues that youth is essential for culture s innovative drive and flashes of genius At the same time however youth which Harrison sees as more protracted than ever is a luxury that requires the stability and wisdom of our elders and the institutions A heady deeply learned excursion rich with ideas and insights Juvenescence could only have been written by Robert Pogue Harrison No reader who has wondered at our culture s obsession with youth should miss it Harrison explores our culture's understanding of age, youth and aging, his book will provide mature wisdom indeed. Publishers Weekly The Rainbow David Herbert Lawrence, 1995. Set in the rural Midlands of England, The Rainbow (1915) revolves around three generations of the Brangwens, a strong, vigorous family deeply involved with the land. When Tom Brangwen marries a Polish widow, Lydia Lensky, and adopts her daughter, Anna, as his own, he is unprepared for the passion that erupts between them. All are seeking individual fulfillment, but it is Ursula, Anna's spirited daughter, who in her search for self-knowledge rejects the traditional role of womanhood. In his introduction, James Wood discusses Lawrence's writing style and the tensions and themes of The Rainbow. This Penguin edition reproduces the Cambridge text, which provides a text as close as possible to Lawrence's original. It also includes suggested further reading, a fragment of The Sisters II from his first draft, and chronologies of Lawrence's life and of The Rainbow's Brangwen family. BOOK JACKET Ireland, Revolution, and the English Modernist Imagination Eve Patten, 2022-06-23. This book asks how English authors of the early to mid-twentieth century responded to the nationalist revolution in neighbouring Ireland in their work and explores this response as an expression of anxieties about and aspirations within England itself. Drawing predominantly on novels of this period but also on letters, travelogues, literary criticism, and memoir, it illustrates how Irish affairs provided a marginal but pervasive point of reference for a wide range of canonical authors in England, including Wyndham Lewis, Virginia Woolf, D. H. Lawrence, Graham Greene, and Evelyn Waugh, and also for many lesser-known figures such as Ethel Mannin, George Thomson, and T. H. White. The book surveys these and other incidental writers within the broad framework of literary modernism, an arc seen to run in temporal parallel to Ireland's revolutionary trajectory from rebellion to independence. In this context, it addresses two distinct aspects of the Irish-English relationship as it features in the literature of the time: first, the uneasy recognition of a fundamental similarity between the two countries in terms of their potential for violent revolutionary instability; and second, the proleptic engagement of Irish events to prefigure imaginatively the potential course of England's evolution from the Armistice to the Second World War. Tracing these effects, this book offers a topical renegotiation of the connections between Irish and English literary culture, nationalism, and political ideology, together with a new perspective on the Irish sources engaged by English literary modernism. The Annual of Psychoanalysis, V. 20 Jerome A. Winer, 2013-05-13. Volume 20 of The Annual of Psychoanalysis ably traverses the analytic canvas with sections on Theoretical Studies, Clinical Studies, Applied Psychoanalysis, and Psychoanalysis and Philosophy. The first section begins with Arnold Modell's probing consideration of the paradoxical nature of the self, provocatively discussed with John Gedo. Modell focuses on the fact that the self is simultaneously public and private, dependent and autonomous. Alice Rosen Soreff next explores innate motivation and self-protective regulatory processes from the standpoint of recent infancy research; her notion of a lifelong two-track model of self and relatedness helps establish a normative baseline that can anchor psychoanalytic theory. George Mahl makes an interesting contribution to Freud studies in the form of a new chronology of Freud's works, and the number of pages they contain in the Standard Edition The section ends with Robert Galatzer Levy and Mayer Gruber's quasi experiment about disgust They test and disconfirm the hypothesis that disgust is an affective response to an abstract sense of disorder rather than a transformation of a concrete bodily experience by systematically exploring references to concepts of disgust in the Old Testament Section II on Clinical Studies opens with Henry Smith's fascinating elaboration of Freud's notion of screen memories into a theory of screening that denotes the general process by which mental content is organized He illustrates his thesis by invoking the screen language employed by a patient throughout her analysis Ernest Wolf next explores the tension between being a scientist and a healer in Freud and his followers to illuminate struggles within the psychoanalytic movement and to help account for current attitudes toward abstinence neutrality and gratification Kenneth Newman focuses on this same triptych of technical precepts He argues in the spirit of Winnicott and Kohut that analysts can only alter the hostile internal environments of their patients by becoming usable objects and cultivating an optimally responsive analytic environment A particularly rich collection of applied analytic studies forms Section III of the volume Individual chapters focus on the childhood of Vincent van Gogh W W Meissner the psychological healing process depicted in George Eliot's Silas Marner Richard Almond the self psychological meaning of blood brotherhood in D H Lawrence's Women in Love James Cowan ecstatic mysticism in the 19th century Indian saint Sri Ramakrishna Sudhir Kakar the disintegration of the Tyrone family in Eugene O'Neill's Long Day's Journey into Night Frank and Annette Lachmann and the nature and analytic significance of Freud's aesthetic response to Michelangelo's Moses Gary Goldsmith Finally in Section IV George Brook examines the commonsense psychological knowledge of everyday life that is the nonpsychoanalytic knowledge on which much of clinical psychoanalysis ultimately depends Taken together the four sections of Volume 20 of The Annual offer an exciting overview of contemporary psychoanalysis Section I highlights recent trends in psychoanalytic theorizing and the testing of psychoanalytic propositions Section II explores the relevance of new theoretical perspectives to clinical work Section III demonstrates the applicability of these new perspectives to psychobiographical and literary analysis and Section IV provocatively explores the points of connection between everyday ideas and attitudes and the tenets of psychoanalytic practice

The Problem of Consciousness in Modern Poetry Hugh Underhill, 1992-07-31 Modernist aesthetics have been identified with a sense of cultural crisis defined by its distance from an ideal of unified consciousness This original study examines the struggle toward that ideal of unitary subjective experience in modern British and Irish poetry from Hardy to Ted Hughes Hugh Underhill argues that the poetry's emphasis on inner states underrepresents the extent to which the crisis is in fact socio historically determined

The Challenge of Feminist Biography Sara Alpern, 1992 This path breaking anthology illuminates the lives of ten influential twentieth century American women and looks at the challenges experienced by the women who have written about them Exploring the frequently complicated dialogue between writer and subject the contributors discuss tools appropriate to writing women's biography while their riveting accounts reveal how feminist scholarship led them to approach the study of women's lives in unconventional ways. This wonderful collection demonstrates the significance of women's biography as a central part of feminist scholarship. The feminist biographer inserts a second life into a biography, her own, giving us yet another layer of depth and insight. Ann J. Lane, author of To Herland and Beyond: The Life and Work of Charlotte Perkins Gilman, International Library of the Philosophy of Education. Charles Bailey, 2021-07-09. International Library of the Philosophy of Education reprints twenty-four distinguished texts published in this field over the last half century and includes works by authors such as Reginald D. Archambault, Charles Bailey, Robin Barrow, Norman J. Bull, D. E. Cooper, R. F. Dearden, Kieran Egan, D. W. Hamlyn, Paul H. Hirst, Glenn Langford, D. J. O'Connor, T. W. Moore, D. A. Nyberg, R. W. K. Paterson, R. S. Peters, Kenneth A. Strike, I. A. Snook, John and Patricia White, and John Wilson. Themes discussed include Liberal education, moral education, the aims of education, the education of teachers, adult continuing education, and the philosophical analysis of education.

The Lost Girls Andrew Radford, 2007. The Lost Girls analyses a number of British writers between 1850 and 1930 for whom the myth of Demeter's loss and eventual recovery of her cherished daughter Kore/Persephone swept off in violent and catastrophic captivity by Dis, God of the Dead, had both huge personal and aesthetic significance. This book, in addition to scrutinising canonical and less well-known texts by male authors such as Thomas Hardy, E. M. Forster, and D. H. Lawrence, also focuses on unjustly neglected women writers Mary Webb and Mary Butts, who utilised occult tropes to relocate themselves culturally and especially in Butts's case to recover and restore a forgotten legacy, the myth of matriarchal origins. These novelists are placed in relation not only to one another but also to Victorian archaeologists and especially to Jane Ellen Harrison (1850-1928), one of the first women to distinguish herself in the history of British Classical scholarship and whose anthropological approach to the study of early Greek art and religion both influenced and became transformed by the literature. Rather than offering a teleological argument that moves lock step through the decades, The Lost Girls proposes chapters that detail specific engagements with Demeter/Persephone through which to register distinct literary/cultural shifts in uses of the myth and new insights into the work of particular writers.
