The Chambers-Russell-Codman House And Family In Lincoln Massachusetts:

The Chambers-Russell-Codman House and Family in Lincoln, Massachusetts Margaret Mutchler Martin, 1996 Family history of Charles Chambers born in England in 1660 He migrated to Massachusetts as a young man and married Rebecca Patefield a few years later In 1708 they purchased a country estate in Lincoln Mass close to Boston which was inherited by his descendants Black Walden Elise Lemire, 2011-08-24 Concord Massachusetts has long been heralded as the birthplace of American liberty and American letters It was here that the first military engagement of the Revolutionary War was fought and here that Thoreau came to live deliberately on the shores of Walden Pond Between the Revolution and the settlement of the little cabin with the bean rows however Walden Woods was home to several generations of freed slaves and their children Living on the fringes of society they attempted to pursue lives of freedom promised by the rhetoric of the Revolution and yet withheld by the practice of racism Thoreau was all but alone in his attempt to conjure up the former occupants of these woods Other than the chapter he devoted to them in Walden the history of slavery in Concord has been all but forgotten In Black Walden Slavery and Its Aftermath in Concord Massachusetts Elise Lemire brings to life the former slaves of Walden Woods and the men and women who held them in bondage during the eighteenth century After charting the rise of Concord slaveholder John Cuming Black Walden follows the struggles of Cuming's slave Brister as he attempts to build a life for himself after thirty five years of enslavement Brister Freeman as he came to call himself and other of the town's slaves were able to leverage the political tensions that fueled the American Revolution and force their owners into relinquishing them Once emancipated however the former slaves were permitted to squat on only the most remote and infertile places Walden Woods was one of them Here Freeman and his neighbors farmed spun linen made baskets told fortunes and otherwise tried to survive in spite of poverty and harassment With a new preface that reflects on community developments since the hardcover's publication Black Walden reminds us that this was a black space before it was an internationally known green space and preserves the legacy of the people who strove against all odds to overcome slavery and segregation Thoreau at 200 Kristen Case, K. P. Van Anglen, 2016-10-14 Henry David Thoreau's thinking about a number of issues including the relationship between humans and other species just responses to state violence the threat posed to human freedom by industrial capitalism and the essential relation between scientific facts and poetic truths speaks to our historical moment as clearly as it did to the restless nervous bustling trivial Nineteenth Century into which he was born This volume marking the two hundredth anniversary of Thoreau's birth gathers the threads of the contemporary interdisciplinary conversation around this key figure in literary political philosophical and environmental thought uniting new essays by scholars who have shaped the field with chapters by emerging scholars investigating previously underexplored aspects of Thoreau's life writings and activities Both a dispatch from the front lines of Thoreau scholarship and a vivid demonstration of Thoreau's relevance for twenty first century life and thought Thoreau at 200 will be of interest for both Thoreau scholars and general readers
