The Place Of Exile Leisure Literature And The Limits Of Absolutism:

The Place of Exile Juliette Cherbuliez, 2005 At once political institution lived experience and discursive figure exile defined Louis XIV's absolutist France The Place of Exile connects the movements of both people and books through and around this absolutist territory in order to understand the deliberate construction of real and imagined marginal cultures Four case studies of everyday sociable writing called leisure literature guide us through an ever widening territory of disaffection and alienation from the center of absolutism at Louis XIV's first court to Europe's international communities of refugees

Absolutist Attachments Chloé Hogg, 2019-03-15 In Absolutist Attachments Chlo Hogg uncovers the affective and media connections that shaped Louis XIV's absolutism Studying literature painting engravings correspondence and the emerging periodic press Hogg diagnoses the emotions that created absolutism's feeling subjects and publics Louis XIV's subjects explored new kinds of affective relations with their sovereign joining with the king in acts of aesthetic judgment tender feeling or the newness of emerging print news culture Such alternative modes of adhesion countered the hegemonic model of kingship upheld by divine right reason of state or corporate fidelities and privileges with subject driven attachments and practices Absolutist Attachments discovers absolutism's alternative political and cultural legacy not the spectacle of an unbound king but the binding connections of his subjects

Performative Polemic Kathrina Ann LaPorta, 2021-06-21 Performative Polemic is the first literary historical study to analyze the war of words unleashed in the pamphlets denouncing Louis XIV's absolute monarchy between 1667 and 1715 As conflict erupted between the French ruler and his political enemies pamphlet writers across Europe penned scathing assaults on the Sun King's bellicose impulses and expansionist policies This book investigates how pamphlet writers challenged the monarchy's monopoly over the performance of sovereignty by contesting the very mechanisms through which the crown legitimized its authority at home and abroad Author Kathrina LaPorta offers a new conceptual framework for reading pamphlets as political interventions asserting that an analysis of the pamphlet's form is crucial to understanding how pamphleteers seduced readers by capitalizing on existing markets in literature legal writing and journalism Pamphlet writers appeal to the theater going public that would have been attending plays by Molière and Racine as well as to readers of historical novels and periodicals Pamphleteers entertained readers as they attacked the performative circuitry behind the curtain of monarchy

The Closure of Space in Roman Poetics Victoria Rimell, 2015-06-05 An ambitious analysis of the Roman literary obsession with retreat and closed spaces in the context of expanding empire

Rococo Fiction in France, 1600-1715 Allison Stedman, 2013 Rococo Fiction in France reconfigures the history of the long eighteenth century by revealing the rococo as a literary phenomenon that characterized a range of experimental texts from the end of the French Renaissance to the eve of the French Revolution Tracing the literary rococo's evolution from the late 1500s to the early 1700s and exploring its radicalization during the 1670s 80s and 90s Allison Stedman unearths the seventeenth century rococo's counter vision for the trajectory of the French monarchy and the dawn of the French Enlightenment The first part of the study investigates the relationship between Montaigne's philosophy of literary production and those of early seventeenth century table talk novelists libertine writers and playwrights involved in the quarrel over Corneille's play Le Cid She thus establishes the existence of a rococo philosophy of literary production whose goal was to innovate to bring pleasure and to create communities The second part of the study explores the impact that the Duchess de Montpensier's literary portrait galleries Jean Donneau de Vis's periodical the Mercurie Galant and other forms of rococo literary production by such authors as Charles Sorel Alcide de Saint Maurice J N de Parvial and Jean de Pr chac had in the creation of a textually mediated social sphere that served as the foundation of the publicly critical culture of the French Enlightenment The study concludes with an investigation of the influx of salon sociability into the textually mediated social sphere during the 1690s Stedman examines the role of interpolated literary fairy tales proverb plays and other rococo publication strategies in such late seventeenth century women writers as d'Aulnoy Lh ritier Murat and Durand in transfiguring the salon from an exclusive social circle mediated by physical presence to an inclusive social diaspora mediated by texts Rococo Fiction in France challenges established views of early modern French literary history and discusses a range of little known works in a generous and engaging manner Silenced Voices Bartolo Natoli, 2017-08-15 Examines speech loss across all of Ovid's writings and the ways that motif is explored developed and modified in the poet's work after his exile from Rome Engendering Legitimacy Susan Glover, 2006 Engendering Legitimacy Law Property and Eighteenth Century Fiction is a study of the intersecting of law land property and gender in the prose fiction of Mary Davys Daniel Defoe Eliza Haywood and Jonathan Swift The law of property in early modern England established relations for men and women that artificially constructed altered and ended their connections with the material world and the land they lived upon The cultural role of land and law in a changing economy embracing new forms of property became a founding preoccupation around which grew the imaginative prose fiction that would develop into the English novel Glover contends that questions of political and legal legitimacy raised by England's Revolution of 1688-89 were transposed to the domestic and literary spheres of the early 1700s The Talk of the Town Ann C. Dean, 2007 This study argues that in eighteenth century Britain the public sphere was a figure of speech created by juxtaposed images of more limited local and particular arenas of discussion In letters newspapers and books eighteenth century British writers described the public qualities of three different spaces court coffeehouse and meeting Writers referred to the proliferation of these social spaces describing multiple coffeehouses drawing rooms and meetings among which the customary language of each was circulated in repeated conversations and printed newspapers These multiple references created a set of interrelated competing and mutually defining metaphors and figurations figurative public spheres Identifying the relations between these metaphors requires work in an archive that crosses the boundaries between court coffeehouse and Parliament and between manuscript and print By following figures from one medium to another and by examining the contexts in which they were used it is possible to see a social imaginary emerging from the juxtapositions between them Ann C Dean is Associate Professor of English at the University of Southern Maine

Enlightenment and Emancipation Susan Manning, Peter France, 2006 The Enlightenment has been represented in radically opposing ways on the one hand as the throwing off of the chains of superstition custom and usurped authority on the other hand in the Romantic period but also more recently as what Michel Foucault termed the great confinement in which mind forged manacles imprison the free and irrational spirit The debate about the Enlightenment project remains a topical one which can still arouse fierce passions This collection of essays by distinguished scholars from various disciplines addresses the central question Was Enlightenment a force for emancipation Their responses working from within and frequently across the disciplinary lines of history political science economics music literature aesthetics art history and film reveal unsuspected connections and divergences even between well known figures and texts In their turn the essays suggest the need for further inquiry in areas that turn out to be very far from closed The volume considers major writings in unusual juxtaposition highlights new figures of importance and demonstrates familiar texts to embody strange implications Publisher's website
