Losing Our Cool Stan Cox,2010-05-25 Losing our Cool shows how indoor climate control is colliding with an out of control outdoor climate In America energy consumed by home air conditioning and the resulting greenhouse emissions have doubled in just over a decade and energy to cool retail stores has risen by two thirds Now the entire affluent world is adopting the technology As the biggest economic crisis in eighty years rolls across the globe financial concerns threaten to shove ecological crises into the background Reporting from some of the world s hot zones from Phoenix Arizona and Naples

Florida to southern India Cox documents the surprising ways in which air conditioning changes human experience giving a boost to the global warming that it is designed to help us endure providing a potent commercial stimulant making possible an impossible commuter economy and altering migration patterns air conditioning has helped alter the political hue of the United States by enabling a population boom in the red state Sun Belt While the book proves that the planet s atmosphere cannot sustain even our current use of air conditioning it also makes a much more positive argument that loosening our attachment to refrigerated air could bring benefits to humans and the planet that go well beyond averting a climate crisis Though it saves lives in heat waves air conditioning may also be altering our bodies sensitivity to heat our rates of infection allergy asthma and obesity and even our sex drive Air conditioning has eroded social bonds and thwarted childhood adventure it has transformed the ways we eat sleep travel work buy relax vote and make both love and war The final chapter surveys the many alternatives to conventional central air conditioning By reintroducing some traditional cooling methods putting newly emerging technologies into practice and getting beyond industrial definitions of comfort we can make ourselves comfortable and keep the planet comfortable too
