Stirring The Chalkdust:

Revisiting "The Culture of the School and the Problem of Change" Seymour B. Sarason, 1996 Revisiting The Culture of the School and the Problem of Change provocatively and seamlessly joins Seymour Sarason's classic landmark text on school change with his own insightful reflections on those same issues in the face of today's crisis in public schools This is an extensive monograph length revisiting Part I of this book reproduces the second edition of Sarason's ground breaking work The Culture of the School and the Problem of Change in which he detailed how change can affect a school's culturally diverse environment either through the implementation of new programs or as a result of federally imposed regulations Throughout many of the major assumptions about change in institutions are challenged Specific events and examples demonstrate that any attempt to implement change involves some existing regularity within the school Dr Sarason also takes a close look at government involvement in change efforts in schooling and includes a detailed examination of current efforts to implement PL 94-142 into public schools He presents compelling evidence that the federal effort to change and improve schools has largely been a failure Also included are investigations into the purposes of schooling and how these purposes can be affected by change and the process by which educators and administrators formulate intended outcomes of change efforts In Part II Dr Sarason revisits the text and the issues 25 years after the original publication As he explains in his preface to him the word crisis means a point in time when a dangerous situation contains conflicting forces of an intensity or seriousness that in the near term will be dramatically altered depending on which forces win out When I wrote the book a quarter century ago I did not regard our schools as in crisis though my intuition was that a crisis would come sooner or later It has in my opinion come Believing that what happens in our cities and our schools will determine the fate of our society Dr Sarason is deeply concerned that the reform arena is being manipulated by forces that are at best untroubled by and at worst intent on the dismantling of the public school system That coupled with his fear that even the system's defenders are not focusing on the real issues has infused Dr Sarason's return to the topic of educational change with a great sense of urgency The important things he has to say will be welcomed by all who truly care about the state of the public schools that America's children attend

Teachers Caught in the Action Ann Lieberman, Lynne Miller, 2001-04-27 Because what we do in staff development can best be understood in terms of Contexts Strategies and Structures the remainder of the book features distinguished educators who write from their own unique experiential and theoretical stances Jacqueline Ancess describes how teachers in New York City secondary schools increase their own learning while improving student outcomes Milbrey W McLaughlin and Joel Zarrow demonstrate how teachers learn to use data to improve their practice and meet educational standards Lynne Miller presents a case study of a long lived school university partnership Beverly Falk recounts stories of teachers working together to develop performance assessments to understand their student's learning to re think their curriculum and much more Laura Stokes analyzes a school that successfully uses inquiry groups There are further contributions including some from novice teachers by Anna Richert Ershler Ann Lieberman Diane Wood Sarah Warshauer Freedman and Joseph P McDonald These powerful exemplars from practice provide a much needed overview of what matters and what really works in professional development today

Teaching Youth Media Steven Goodman, 2003-01-23 This book explores the power of using media education to help urban teenagers develop their critical thinking and literacy skills Drawing on his twenty years of experience working with inner city youth at the acclaimed Educational Video Center EVC in New York City Steven Goodman looks closely at both the problems and possibilities of this model of media education Responding to our national concern about adolescents literacy media and violence Teaching Youth Media Describes the changes schools and after school programs need to make in order to create a media education that empowers students to change their world Explores the intersection of literacy and culture as youth learn to analyze information from a variety of sources including television newspapers books films school church and lives outside of school Features case studies of students and teachers engaged in making video documentaries at EVC and in an alternative high school Illuminates the practical day to day challenges faced by professional developers and teachers working to change the way education is practiced in their classes and schools

The Missing Links in Teacher Education Design G. Hoban, 2007-05-02 Rather than promote a single teacher education design this book discusses new ways to think about the problem Key to such thinking is considering teacher education not independent elements but as a combination of links This book offers four key links conceptual ties across the university curriculum theory practice links between school and university settings social cultural links among the participants and personal links that shape the identity of teacher educators

Innovations in Teacher Education Clive Beck, Clare Kosnik, 2012-02-01 This book offers a comprehensive social constructivist approach to preservice education Written in a clear accessible style it presents key principles of teacher education and concrete examples from eight successful programs in Australia Canada and the United States It extends constructivism beyond Piaget and Vygotsky to more recent theorists such as Barthes and Derrida indicating how such an approach can lead to engaging effective education Clive Beck and Clare Kosnik advocate an approach to teacher education that is highly original linking integration community components and inquiry to a degree not commonly found in preservice programs and they show in detail how to implement these elements

The Power of Protocols Joseph P. McDonald, 2003-01-01 This important professional development tool describes nearly 30 protocols or scripts for conducting meetings conversations and other learning experiences among educators in one easy to use resource For anyone working with collaborative groups of teachers on everything from school improvement to curriculum development this book features Protocols for working together on problems of practice for studying together for organizing many different kinds of meetings and for looking together at student work A thorough text that describes each protocol provides a rationale for using them explains the particular purpose each protocol was designed for discusses the value that educators have found in using them and offers helpful tips for facilitators Valuable appendices that list relevant resources such as websites contact addresses and training opportunities and a table that lists all of the protocols with suggestions for cross use A free supplement on the Teachers College Press website with Abbreviated Protocols that can be downloaded and customized to suit each facilitator s needs Race, Class, and Power in School Restructuring Pauline Lipman,1998-01-01 Explores the intersection of two central issues in American education today school reform through restructuring and alienation from school of many children of color A tough look at the impact of teachers and administrators beliefs and practices Looking Together at Student Work, Third Edition Tina Blythe,David Allen,Barbara Schieffelin Powell,2015 This updated third edition provides teachers and administrators with strategies and resources for examining and discussing student work such as essays math problems projects artwork and more The authors describe two ways of looking together at student work The Tuning Protocol and The Collaborative Assessment Conference including how to choose work to present and examples of groups using each protocol This new edition also offers suggestions for addressing some of the key challenges that emerge when groups first begin to share and discuss student work as well as guidance for using protocols once groups have progressed beyond the initial stages This book will be useful to teachers administrators teacher educators coaches and others who are involved in the work of improving teaching and learning for all students New for the Third Edition The addition of The Microlab Protocol a relatively quick and easy way to introduce groups to protocol guided conversation Facilitation strategies and more detailed notes for presenters about how to select work and prepare for their roles Updated examples and a new case focused on a school s use of protocols to develop teachers understanding and application of the Common Core State Standards Current research on the effectiveness of practices that involve the collaborative examination of student work School leaders looking for systemic strategies to improve student achievement would be well served by Looking Together at Student Work The School Administrator first edition This is a book that is at once brief elegant and useful These authors know as well as anyone on Earth that the practice of collectively accountable teaching is messy but they also appreciate the fact that people in the midst of it nonetheless need some kind of map From the Forewordby Joseph P McDonald New York University This excellent book will be very helpful to teachers school leaders and parents who want to improve teaching and learning and to researchers who want to understand school improvement David Cohen John Dewey Collegiate Professor School of Education University of Michigan Learning Communities In Practice Anastasia Samaras,Anne R. Freese,Clare Kosnik,Clive Beck,2008-10-26 Most would agree that a learning community of practice cultivates social and intellectual development in educational settings but what are the other benefits and what does a learning community actually look like in practice This book explores such questions as Are learning communities essential in education How are they designed and developed What difference do they make in learning The book contains contributions of educators who share their research and practice in designing and implementing learning communities in school university and professional network settings It presents their experiences and

Anna Ershler Richert, 2015-04-17 Have you ever been waiting for THE book This is that book Anna Richert has held on to this book for many years because she wanted it to honor the profession and the work of teaching It satisfies on two important levels that of those who study teaching and those who do the teaching At a time when the profession is suffering from a lack of support and criticism on all fronts Richert elevates it without valorizing it These are real dilemmas that real teachers struggle with everyday We owe Anna Richert a big thank you for What Should I Do Gloria Ladson Billings Kellner Family Chair in Urban Education University of Wisconsin Madison What Should I Do is a practical guide to the everyday dilemmas of the urban classroom It offers a lifeline to both beginning teachers who are struggling to be successful and to the teacher educators who are trying to prepare them for these challenges The author uses narratives of practice written by novice teachers to help readers experience a variety of dilemmas they are likely to encounter in the classroom By engaging with and analyzing the cases readers come to see that the problems of teaching are actually dilemmas that have no clear cut right or wrong solution thus reducing the potential for frustration and despair often felt by teachers This practical resource will empower teachers to transform the unpredictable world of troubled schools into places of learning and hope for both themselves and their students As a former teacher said I wish I had read this book and realized that I wasn't expected to have all the answers I would probably still be teaching Anna Ershler Richert is a professor in the School of Education at Mills College in Oakland California where she is Director of the Master of Arts in Education with an Emphasis on Teaching MEET Program and Faculty Director of the Mills Teacher Scholars Mentors in the Making Betty Achinstein, Steven Z.

Athanases, 2006 In response to a growing interest in mentoring and new teacher induction the authors offer a unique view of developing quality mentors Drawing on empirical research practitioner action inquiry and field tested practices from induction programs they explore effective mentoring in diverse educational contexts With richly contextualized and thoughtfully analyzed excerpts from actual mentoring conversations and powerful examples of practice the volume offers educators researchers and policymakers a reform minded vision of the future of mentoring Challenging conventional wisdom this essential resource Argues that mentors are not born but developed through conscious deliberate ongoing learning Provides a needed link between research and practice in the field of new teacher mentoring to define a knowledge base for effective mentoring Documents induction and mentoring practices that focus new teachers on individual learners equity oriented curriculum and pedagogy and the educator s role in reforming school culture Highlights problems and complexities of enacting mentor knowledge and learning in diverse contexts Beyond Formulas in Mathematics and Teaching Daniel Chazan,2000-01-01 Based on the author s experience as a researcher and teacher of lower track students Beyond Formulas in Mathematics and Teaching illuminates the complex dynamics of the algebra classroom From within this setting Daniel Chazan thoughtfully explores topics that concern all dedicated educators how to really know one s students how to find engaging material and how to inspire meaningful classroom conversations Throughout he addresses the predicaments that are central to the lives of teachers who work in standard educational settings By highlighting teaching dilemmas Chazan prompts readers to consider what their own responses would be in similar situations With an eye to ways of restructuring roles and relationships Beyond Formulas in Mathematics and Teaching is essential reading for educators seeking to enhance their teaching practices and understanding of students who may be estranged from school

Central Park East and Its Graduates David Bensman,2015 In 1974 Central Park East Elementary School CPE in East Harlem opened its doors with a mission to provide inner city children with the finest educators and pedagogy available Instead of saying that the old neighborhood had to be torn down and students more rigidly tracked the reformers dared to ask the question What would happen if we gave inner city students the best education the country has to offer The results of this bottom up reform were astounding and to this day Central Park East is known as one of the most academically enriching schools in the United States David Bensman gives voice to the extraordinary young adults who emerged from poverty as a result of the powerful educational experiences they received at CPE A rich compilation of stories this account establishes the power of public schooling and the value of community With rich data Bensman carefully details for us what it means to be respectful thoughtful democratic and intellectually demanding what it means in short to be a good school This is the story of CPE but for anyone willing to see beyond the particulars it is also a map of possibility a guide to what our schools could be Mike Rose author Possible Lives The Promise of Public Education in America This is that rare thing a long term study of the graduates of a first rate inner city elementary school This is a school in which democracy and the life of the mind are inseparably intertwined Policymakers write that last sentence down one hundred times Joseph Featherstone Michigan State University Was the fame of CPE due to hype or yet another example of wishing trumping realities This conceptually and procedurally honest research effort clearly answers the question in the negative We have very good reason to be grateful to Debbie Meier her CPE colleagues and of course to Dr Bensman for this remarkable follow up study Seymour Sarason Professor Emeritus Yale University

International Handbook of Teachers and Teaching Bruce J. Biddle,T.L. Good,I. Goodson,2013-11-11 Recent years have generated a huge increase in the number of research and scholarly works concerned with teachers and teaching and this effort has generated new and important insights that are crucial for understanding education today This handbook provides a host of chapters written by leading authorities that review both the major traditions of work and the newest perspectives concepts insights and research based knowledge concerned with teachers and teaching Many of the chapters discuss developments that are international in scope but coverage is also provided for education in a number of specific countries Many chapters also review contemporary problems faced by educators and the dangers posed by recent politically inspired attempts to reform schools and school systems The Handbook provides an invaluable resource for scholars teacher educators graduate students and all thoughtful persons concerned with the best thinking about teachers and teaching current problems and the future of education

Perspectives Colin Marsh,2014-05-01 Each chapter of this book is devoted to a separate concept which is analysed in terms of its major features Follow up questions at the end of each chapter are designed to challenge the reader to reflect on the specific issues raised Vol I is largely introductory dealing with students and teachers perspectives of curriculum

Accountability, Assessment, and Teacher Commitment Betty Lou Whitford,Ken Jones,2000-01-06 Accountability Assessment and Teacher Commitment offers a vantage point to draw lessons from and ponder alternatives to the Kentucky Education Reform Act KERA a state school reform effort based on a system of statewide student assessment and high stakes accountability for teachers It documents classroom realities and probes the consequences of this type of reform through case studies comparisons to alternative models and thought provoking responses from national experts Contributors include Lola Aagaard Terry I Brooks Jan Calvert Pamela Coe Dick Corbett Letitia Hichstrasser Fickel Donna Gaus Marilyn Hohmann Ken Jones Patricia J Kannapel A Richardson Love Jr Christy D McGee Lynne Miller Beverly D Moore Cynthia A Reeves David Ruff Gordon Ruscoe Linda Shelor Debra Smith John Snyder Patricia A Wasley Anne Wheelock and Betty Lou Whitford

Science Teaching/science Learning Elnora S. Harcombe,2001-01-01 Science Teaching Science Learning based on a model professional development program gives powerful proof that urban teachers can ignite curiosity and promote deep understanding in children when provided with the necessary intellectual infrastructure including a complex balance of increased science knowledge a safe environment for professional experimentation and a long term interaction with colleagues The ensuing invigoration and renewed dedication of program participants belies the inevitability of the projected national science teacher shortage Harcombe breaks new ground demonstrating that when professional teacher development is based on constructivist learning theory and framed in the knowledge domain of the sciences it empowers teachers to dramatically change what they know how they teach and what their students learn

Social Geographies of Educational Change F. Hernandez,I.F. Goodson,2004-10-11 Social Geographies as spatial location is a factor relevant to understanding the variety of people s interpretations and appropriations of educational innovations and changes Their location in the social space also influences their response to change In the field of educational change social space means for example skin colour gender distribution of teachers in one school children s self cultural representations or parents religious attitudes By using the notion of Social Geographies in the context of educational change the authors address the following questions How initiatives in a classroom or department are influenced by the surrounding context of the school the district or the nation How innovation spreads or diffuses from one school to another How and whether reforms can be scaled up from a few schools to a whole system How seemingly standardised reforms affect schools differently depending on where they are located How schools influence one another How the identities of and interrelationships among schools are affected by technology principles of market competition and choice and other initiatives This volume is relevant to educationalists policy makers teachers and students interested in a more complex approach to understand and intervene in educational change processes Transitions in American Education

Donald Parkerson, Jo Ann Parkerson, 2014-03-05 This book is a concise social history of teaching from the colonial period to the present By revealing the words of teachers themselves it brings their stories to life Synthesizing decades of research on teaching it places important topics such as discipline in the classroom technology and cultural diversity within historical perspective
