Understanding Counterfactuals, Understanding Causation Christoph Hoerl, Teresa McCormack, Sarah R. Beck, 2011-10-27. How are causal judgements such as 'The ice on the road caused the traffic accident' connected with counterfactual judgements such as 'If there had not been any ice on the road, the traffic accident would not have happened'? This volume throws new light on this question by uniting for the first time psychological and philosophical approaches to causation and counterfactuals. Traditionally, philosophers have primarily been interested in connections between causal and counterfactual claims on the level of meaning or truth conditions. More recently, however, they have also increasingly turned their attention to psychological connections between causal and counterfactual understanding or reasoning. At the same time, there has been a surge in interest in empirical work on causal and counterfactual cognition amongst developmental cognitive and social psychologists, much of it inspired by work in philosophy. In this volume, twelve original contributions from leading philosophers and psychologists explore in detail what bearing empirical findings might have on philosophical concerns about counterfactuals and causation, and how, in turn, work in philosophy might help clarify the issues at stake in empirical work on the cognitive underpinnings of and relationships between causal and counterfactual thought.

Creating Schools That Heal Lesley Koplow, 2015. Lesley Koplow's well-examined truths uncover an image of intimacy between teacher and child sorely needed in our schools. Her emotionally responsive teacher is the pivot for a classroom community that visibly supports and honors its members in the great variety of their lives. What stands in the way is the question. Ms. Koplow courageously answers. Vivian Gussin Paley, author of In Mrs. Tully's Room: A Childcare Portrait. In a world where children are beset by violence and stress, Lesley Koplow provides educators with clear, level-headed advice on how to construct therapeutic learning environments for all children. This is a book about integrating preventive mental health practice into public schools, preschool through grade 5. Koplow, a psychotherapist, discusses the mandate for violence prevention and offers an intervention framework for teachers, administrators, and school-based clinicians who want to improve the emotional climate in their school. This important and timely volume helps educators read the signs of distress or problematic social/emotional development as they are likely to manifest themselves in the school setting. Introduces a practice model that calls for strengthened teacher-child connections. Addresses in separate chapters the roles of the teacher, principal, and school-based clinician, providing guidance and effective strategies for each. Demonstrates that interventions can be done effectively by existing school personnel. Describes a project to facilitate teacher gathering of psycho social history that can be used to inform constructive curricular practice Poses compelling questions for policymakers including concerns about the effect that the current focus on standards and test scores is having on the emotional tone of schools Includes a chapter addressing what we ve learned from the recent tragic events of September 11th in New York City Working Paper ,1988 The Impact on Children's Education Daniel R. Anderson,1988 The animal story-book reader, from the Animal story-book, and the Red book of animal stories, ed. by A. Lang Andrew Lang,1900 A Catalogue of Books Recommended by the Church Library Association, for Sunday School and Parish Libraries Church Library Association (Cambridge, Mass.),1909 Detecting Malingering and Deception Harold V. Hall,Joseph Poirier,2000-11-28 NOMINATED FOR THE MANFRED S GUTTMACHER AWARD BY THE AMERICAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION Although advances in clinical forensic theory and technology continue to elucidate our understanding of deception analysis the current state of the art is crude in most applications With new interviewing techniques psychological tests and instruments De Multilingualism and Very Young Learners Laura Portolés Falomir,2015-05-19 This book deals with early multilingual acquisition from a holistic dynamic and multilingual perspective It focuses on the analysis of pragmatic awareness and language attitudes of consecutive multilingual children in relation to other variables such as the linguistic model or the age factor This volume makes an important contribution to the field providing evidence for the Dynamic Model of Multilingualism proposed by Herdina and Jessner Narrative Development in a Multilingual Context Ludo Th Verhoeven,Sven Strömqvist,2001-01-01 In this volume the results of a number of empirical studies of the development of narrative construction within a multilingual context are presented and discussed It is explored what operating principles underlie the process of narrative production in L1 and L2 Developmental relations between form and function will be studied across a broad range of functional categories such as temporality perspective connectivity and narrative coherence Moreover a variety of language contact situations is considered with broad variation in the typological distances between the languages in order to enable cross linguistic comparison The analysis of learner data in various cross linguistic settings may thus offer new information on the role of the structural properties of unrelated languages on the process of narrative acquisition In the present volume an attempt is also made to find out how transfer from one language to the other is facilitated Finally the effects of input on narrative construction in children s first and second language are examined in several studies Old English Games and Physical Exercises Florence Hewitt Kirk,1909 Pictorial Geographical Readers ,1904
