Stories of Great Americans for Little Americans Edward Eggleston, 1895-01-01 Before the white people came there were no houses in this country but the little huts of the Indians. The Indian houses were made of bark or mats or skins spread over poles. Some people came to one part of the country. Others started settlements in other places. When more people came some of these settlements grew into towns. The woods were cut down. Farms were planted. Roads were made. But it took many years for the country to fill with people. The first white people that came to live in the woods where Boston is now settled there a long time ago. They had a governor over them. He was a good man and did much for the people. His name was John Winthrop. The first thing the people had to do was to cut down the trees. After that they could plant corn. But at first they could not raise anything to eat. They had brought flour and oat meal from England. But they found that it was not enough to last till they could raise corn on their new ground. Winthrop sent a ship to get more food for them. The ship was gone a long time. The people ate up all their food. They were hungry. They went to the sea shore and found clams and mussels. They were glad to get these to eat. At last they set a day for every body to fast and pray for food. The governor had a little flour left. Nearly all of this was made into bread and put into the oven to bake. He did not know when he would get any more. Soon after this a poor man came along. His flour was all gone. His bread had all been eaten up. His family were hungry. The governor gave the poor man the very last flour that he had in the barrel. Just then a ship was seen. It sailed up toward Boston. It was loaded with food for all the people. The time for the fast day came. But there was now plenty of food. The fast day was turned into a thanks giving day. One day a

Stories of Great Americans Edward Eggleston, 2015-07-19 Excerpt from Stories of Great Americans For Little Americans The primary aim of this book is to furnish the little learner reading matter that will excite his attention and give him pleasure and thus make lighter the difficult task of learning to read The ruggedness of this task has often been increased by the use of disconnected sentences or lessons as dry and uninteresting as finger exercises on the piano It is a sign of promise that the demand for reading matter of interest to the child has come from teachers I have endeavored to meet this requirement in the following stories As far as possible the words chosen have been such as are not difficult to the little reader either from their length or their unfamiliarity The sentences and paragraphs are short Learning to read is like climbing a steep hill and it is a great relief to the panting child to find frequent breathing places It is one of the purposes of these stories to make the mind of the pupil familiar with some of the leading figures in the history of our country by means of personal anecdote Some of the stories are those that every American child ought to know because they have become a kind of national folklore Such for example are Putnam and the Wolf and the story of Franklin s Whistle About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
