Reconciling Art and Technology Subrata Dasgupta, 2024-05-14 This book examines two venerable cultures art and technology and uses the young interdisciplinary of cognitive history combined with case studies of both ancient and modern artifacts to explore and unveil some of the bridges by which this reconciliation of two seemingly distant and oppositional cultures can be effected Art and technology are commonly regarded as oppositional While both are concerned with made things artifacts and both have their origins in pre literate antiquity the primary purposes they are intended for are quite distinct the artifacts of technology serve utilitarian purposes while those of art serve affective needs This opposition between art and technology notably argued by such scholars as Lewis Mumford and George Kubler is challenged in this book For when we consider art and technology as creative phenomena then many significant interesting and often subtle commonalities emerge whereby a reconciliation a unity of these two great cultures seems possible This book utilizes case studies of both ancient and modern artifacts ranging from the Nataraja sculpture of ancient India a great astronomical clock of ancient China and Japanese Samurai swordmaking through Gothic cathedrals and Renaissance paintings of Europe to English Elizabethan machinery to the French Impressionists to modernist concrete structures and paintings in both East and West This book will be of interest to students and professional scholars interested in the histories of art and technology cultural history and creativity studies

Meeting the Challenges of Elder Care Yayoi Saitō, Reiko Abe Auestad, Kari Wærness, 2010 Based on comparative and collaborative studies of Japanese and Norwegian specialists this book focuses upon the critical analysis of rationality of care with an empirical examination of care services in the two countries The book argues that elder care is not simply the act of labor but that of love and it looks at such aspects of care as home help new public management and social enterprise Predicated on the historical experience and contemporary reality of elder care in both countries the study confronts the commercial rationalization of care practices and explores their desirable forms
