Chance of a Lifetime John Harrison, 2007-03 The purpose of this Paperback is to start a debate about the real problem of how we should educate our young people It is based on the book Chance of a Lifetime How the other half loses by Jonathan Langdale and John Harrison To be winners today young people have to be good at school or very lucky Clearly a great many of them aren t good at school but we believe they are all good at something Because the Great and the Good became the Great and the Good because they were good at school the received wisdom is that their kind of academic schooling is good for everyone it must be Look how successful they are Thus the best schools must be facsimiles of their schools and schoolchildren must all be judged by their standards the gold standards of GCSE A C and A Levels followed by university If only everyone was as academically clever as they are wouldn t the world be a better place And the children who fail at their kind of schooling are just that failures Over the years we have blamed the failure of secondary education on The governors The head teachers The teachers and above all The pupils Chance of a Lifetime shows that It isn t the governors It isn t the head teachers It isn t the teachers and It certainly isn t the pupils It s the academically focussed secondary school itself

Cerulo,Janet M. Ruane,2022-06-21 How social status shapes our dreams of the future and inhibits the lives we envision for ourselves Most of us understand that a person s place in society can close doors to opportunity but we also tend to think that anything is possible when someone dreams about what might be Dreams of a Lifetime reveals that what and how we dream and whether we believe our dreams can actually come true are tied to our social class gender race age and life events Karen Cerulo and Janet Ruane argue that our social location shapes the seemingly private and unique life of our minds We are all free to dream about possibilities but not all dreamers are equal Cerulo and Ruane show how our social position ingrains itself on our mind s eye quietly influencing the nature of our dreams whether we embrace dreaming or dream at all and whether we believe that our dreams from the attainable to the improbable can become realities They explore how inequalities stemming from social disadvantages pattern our dreams for ourselves and how sociocultural disparities in how we dream exacerbate social inequalities and limit the life paths we believe are open to us Drawing on a wealth of original interviews with people from diverse social backgrounds Dreams of a Lifetime demonstrates how the study of our dreams can provide new avenues for understanding and combating inequality including inequalities that precede action or outcome
