

Child Case Study

Child Case Study Physical Presence and Gesture: Brady is a boy who is 7 yrs. 3 months in age. For his age Brady appears to be large in size. He stands 4 ft. 6 inches tall and weighs 95 pounds. Next to his peers Brady stands out as he is in the 99th percentile for both height and weight. Brady is the oldest child of 4. Brady has short brown hair, big brown eyes, and a big smile. When Brady is smiling the gap in his front teeth is very noticeable as well as his dimples. When Brady is feeling mischievous he gets slightly cross-eyes but only for a brief moment.

Brady has big ears and his right ear is missing cartilage causing it to fold over slightly. Brady has several freckles and a couple of tiny moles on his cheeks. Brady has a creamy white complexion but when frustrated becomes very red in the cheeks as well as on the tops of his ears. Brady's head is very circular and seems a bit large for his body. Brady has what some might consider a flat face. He has a button nose, big cheeks, and very long, thick eyelashes. Brady is quite storky with a little bit of chubbiness about him. Brady likes to fidget and is constantly moving.

He likes to sway his arms, kick his feet, fidget with his fingers; he is constantly moving some body part. Disposition & Temperament Brady is diagnosed as having an anger disorder and ODD. Brady likes to talk a lot and is very inquisitive. Brady is also gifted/talented causing him to become bored easily if he is not challenged. Brady is easily angered and is often triggered to an anger outburst by simple rejections. Brady at times can be very loving and cuddly. Brady fears being alone and is scared to be in a room when nobody is present. Brady appears to have two sides to him.

When Brady is not triggered by anger outbursts he is very friendly, kind, has a heart of gold, is helpful to others, likes to play with his friends & siblings, doesn't seem so fearful of small everyday events and situations, and yet when he is experiencing anger outbursts his anxiety level is extreme, he is harmful to himself/others, makes threats to kill people (has begun to tell them how he would kill them), states that he sees monsters/alligators, becomes extremely hot, and then when the outbursts are depleting he begins to feel sick to his stomach, coughs, and cries. Sometimes Brady feels remorse for his actions, but most likely not.

Brady has been physical with his siblings/friends & mother. Brady has hit things (causing himself to break his pinky), smashed things, and threatened to run away. Brady takes medication for his outbursts but they don't seem to be working. There are sometimes where these angry bouts disappear for a couple of weeks and then there are times where they happen several times throughout one day. Connections with other people Brady values his friendships that he does have and his relationships with teachers/authority. It takes a very long time for Brady to open up to others and tru

The Child Case Studies For Analysis:

The Child Nancy Caroline Ralston, G. Patience Thomas, 1972 Case Studies in Data Analysis Jane F. Gentleman, G.A. Whitmore, 2012-12-06 This volume is a collection of eight Case Studies in Data Analysis that appeared in various issues of the Canadian Journal of Statistics OS over a twelve year period from 1982 to 1993 One follow up article to Case Study No 4 is also included in the volume The OS s Section on Case Studies in Data Analysis was initiated by a former editor who wanted to increase the analytical content of the journal We were asked to become Section Co Editors and to develop a format for the case studies Each case study presents analyses of a real data set by two or more analysts or teams of analysts working independently in a simulated consulting context The section aimed at demonstrating the process of statistical analysis and the possible diversity of approaches and conclusions For each case study the Co Editors found a set of real Canadian data posed what they thought was an interesting statistical problem and recruited analysts working in Canada who were willing to tackle it The published case studies describe the data and the problem and present and discuss the analysts solutions For some case studies the providers of the data were invited to contribute their own analysis The Psychoanalytic Study of the Child, 1972 The Child: Case Studies for Analysis Nancy C. Ralston, 1972 Abstracts [of] the Psychoanalytic Study of the Child National Clearinghouse for Mental Health Information (U.S.), 1972 The Psychoanalytic Study of the Child, Volumes 1-25 Ruth S. Eissler, Albert J. Solnit, 1975-01-01 The completeness and excellence of the abstracts make this volume a valuable guide and reference book for all students and scholars who do not own the complete set For those who do own the first twenty five volumes the index will facilitate quick location of important topics and bring ease in tracing the development of psychoanalytic concepts National Clearinghouse for Mental Health Information Abstracts: the Psychoanalytic Study of the Child, Vols. 1-25 National Institute of Mental Health (U.S.), 1972 A Practical Introduction to Real-World Research Loreen Wolfer, 2021-01-15 This practical text combines social research methods with coverage of statistical analysis to help students develop the applied research skills needed for future careers in public and private organizations while also delivering a solid foundation for those going on to graduate school Throughout the book the author offers a real world example and then breaks it down into a decision tree which helps lead students to a possible statistical decision rather than starting with the statistic This text gives students a toolbox of the most common and in demand skills and demonstrates how those skills can be used to make the best research decisions The book takes students through the entire real world research process from the formation of a research topic to measurement and sampling to methods for gathering information and making sense of the data and finally presenting to a non academic audience in a way that gets the job done Resources for instructors and students are available on an accompanying website for the book Research Methods for Studying Young Children Olivia N. Saracho, 2025-06-20 Research Methods for Studying Young Children is a volume developed to bring together in one source research techniques that researchers can use to collect data in early childhood education Clinical Behavior Analysis for Children Adriana Suzart Ungaretti Rossi, Ila Marques Porto Linares, Luiza Chagas Brandão, 2022-11-14 This book is a guide for child psychotherapists interested in applying clinical behavioral analysis to their work and for clinical behavior analysts working with children In the literature of behavior analysis a considerable number of publications present clinical strategies to more effectively conduct therapeutic interventions with adults and adolescents but there is still a lack of publications that address practical aspects of the work of the child behavior analytic therapist This volume aims to fill this void by bringing together chapters written by therapists who share their views on theoretical and practical aspects of child care and describe the stages and challenges of the psychotherapy process with clients of up to 12 years of age Chapters in this volume provide an overview of the specific knowledge and techniques clinical behavior analysts need to master to work with children such as theories of child development from the perspective of behavior analysis biological influences on the development of child behavior clinical assessment and definition of therapeutic goals in the work with children how to include functional play in clinical settings and how to involve parents and the school in the therapeutic process Additionally specific chapters focus on the application of third wave behavioral therapies such as Acceptance and Commitment Therapy and Functional Analytic Psychotherapy to the clinical work with children Clinical Behavior Analysis for Children will be a valuable resource for psychotherapists and clinical psychology students looking for a guide to understand the specificities of clinical behavior analysis applied to child psychotherapy International Case Studies of Dyslexia Peggy L. Anderson, Regine Meier-Hedde, 2011-05-09 Dyslexia is a disability that exists in all countries that have high expectations for literacy The inability to read in spite of normal intellectual potential represents one of the most puzzling educational challenges for literate societies regardless of the culture or language This book examines medical psychological educational and sociological data from comprehensive case studies of preteen dyslexic children in order to profile the disability as it occurs in seventeen different nations Interviews with the children and their parents reveal how children with dyslexia are identified and treated around the world and provide a look at various perceptions of dyslexia and its challenges Researchers and practitioners in education psychology and health related professions will find this case book to be an excellent reference Parents of children with dyslexia will find the advocacy recommendations helpful Knowledge under Construction Daniel Ness, Stephen J. Farenga, 2007-03-26 Knowledge under Construction investigates how young children develop spatial geometric and scientific thinking skills particularly those associated with architecture Based on original research and analysis of videotapes of children's play with blocks the authors' findings suggest that such play is anything but pointless Their conclusions fill in gaps in our current understanding of how children learn to think spatially and scientifically even while challenging portions of that understanding including some of Piaget's thesis about the primacy of topological space in children's learning A system of measurement developed to identify and categorize children's spontaneous behavior at play allows adults to observe patterns of behavior as children play and record the development of process skills and cognitive abilities enhancing our understanding of how children begin to learn about space and architectural relationships The book also examines the educational implications of our enhanced understanding One possible development is a new alternative way to measure cognitive abilities and development in children based on their work with blocks Multiple Case Study Analysis Robert E. Stake, 2013-04-29

Examining situational complexity is a vital part of social and behavioral science research This engaging text provides an effective process for studying multiple cases such as sets of teachers staff development sessions or clinics operating in different locations within one complex program The process also can be used to investigate broadly occurring phenomena without programmatic links such as leadership or sibling rivalry Readers learn to design analyze and report studies that balance common issues across the group of cases with the unique features and context of each case Three actual case reports from a transnational early childhood program illustrate the author's approach and helpful reproducible worksheets facilitate multicase recording and analysis Six Boys in Trouble Walter C.
