United States. Congressional-Executive Commission on China, 2003 China Play Stocks , Things Chinese James Dyer Ball, 1904 China and Ashkenazic Jewry: Transcultural Encounters Kathryn Hellerstein, Lihong Song, 2022-04-04 In the past thirty years the Sino Jewish encounter in modern China has increasingly garnered scholarly and popular attention This volume will be the first to focus on the transcultural exchange between Ashkenazic Jewry and China The essays here investigate how this exchange of texts and translations images and ideas has enriched both Jewish and Chinese cultures and prepared for a global inclusive world literature The book breaks new ground in the field covering such new topics as the images of China in Yiddish and German Jewish letters the intersectionality of the Jewish and Chinese literature in illuminating the implications for a truly global and inclusive world literature the biographies of prominent figures in Chinese Jewish connections the Chabad engagement in contemporary China Some of the fundamental debates in the current scholarship will also be addressed with a special emphasis on how many Jewish refugees arrived in Shanghai and how much interaction occurred between the Jewish refugees and the resident Chinese population during the wartime and its aftermath Present Day Impressions of the Far East and Prominent and Progressive Chinese at Home and Abroad W. H. Morton Cameron, W. Feldwick, 1917 Representing China on the Historical London Stage Dongshin Chang, 2015-02-11 This book provides a critical study of how China was represented on the historical London stage in selected examples from the late seventeenth century to the early twentieth century which corresponds with the Qing Dynasty 1644 1911 China s last monarchy The examples show that during this historical period the stage representations of the country were influenced in turn by Jesuit writings on China Britain s expanding material interest in China the presence of British imperial power in Asia and the establishment of diasporic Chinese communities abroad While finding that many of these works may be read as gendered and feminized Chang emphasizes that the Jesuits depiction of China as a country of high culture and in perennial conflict with the Tartars gradually lost prominence in dramatic imaginations to depictions of China s material and visual attractions Central to the book s argument is that the stage representations of China were inherently intercultural and open to new influences manifested by the evolving combinations of Chinese and English British traits Through the dramatization of the Chinese Other the representations questioned satirized and put in sharp relief the ontological and epistemological bases of the English British Self Chinese Ibsenism Kwok-kan Tam, 2019-09-10 This book is a study of the relation between theatre art and ideology in the Chinese experimentations with new selfhood as a result of Ibsen s impact It also explores Ibsenian notions of self women and gender in China and provides an illuminating study of Chinese theatre as a public sphere in the dissemination of radical ideas Ibsen

is the major source of modern Chinese selfhood which carries notions of personal and social liberation and has exerted great impacts on Chinese revolutions since the beginning of the twentieth century Ibsen's idea of the self as an individual has led to various experimentations in theatre film and fiction to project new notions of selfhood in particular women's selfhood throughout the history of modern China Even today China is experimenting with Ibsen's notions of gender power individualism and self Kwok kan Tam is Chair Professor of English and Dean of Humanities and Social Science at the Hang Seng University of Hong Kong He was Head 2012-18 and is currently a member of the International Ibsen Committee University of Oslo He is a Foundation Fellow of the Hong Kong Academy of the Humanities He has held teaching research and administrative positions in various institutions including the East West Center the Chinese University of Hong Kong and the Open University of Hong Kong He has published numerous books and articles on Ibsen Gao Xingjian modern drama Chinese film postcolonial literature and world Englishes His recent books include Ibsen Power and the Self Postsocialist Experimentations in Stage Performance and Film 2019 The Englishized Subject Postcolonial Writings in Hong Kong Singapore and Malaysia 2019 and a co-edited volume Fate and Prognostication in the Chinese Literary Imagination 2019

Drama in the People's Republic of China Constantine

Tung, Colin Mackerras, 1987-07-01 This is the first book ever published in the West on drama in the People's Republic of China The plays playwrights theories and performances range from the play that inflamed the Cultural Revolution to a post

Mao satiric drama that upset party leaders from Jiang Qing's drama theory for her model plays to the discovery of Bertolt Brecht from the problems and dilemmas that confront theater reform in the post Mao era to the performance of Ibsen's Peer Gynt and Viennese operettas and from a historical play glorifying Mao's supremacy to a playwright calling for individualism and women's rights This book not only depicts aspects of drama in the People's Republic of China it also provides analyses of the political and social conditions that shaped and are represented in this drama

Translating China as Cross-Identity Performance James St. André, 2018-05-31 James St. André applies the perspective of cross identity performance to the translation of a wide variety of Chinese texts into English and French from the eighteenth to the twentieth centuries Drawing on scholarship in cultural studies queer studies and anthropology the author argues that many cross identity performance techniques including blackface passing drag mimicry and masquerade provide insights into the history of translation practice He makes a strong case for situating translation in its historical social and cultural milieu reading translated texts alongside a wide variety of other materials that helped shape the image of John Chinaman A reading of the life and works of George Psalmanazar whose cross identity performance as a native of Formosa enlivened early eighteenth century salons opens the volume and provides a bridge between the book's theoretical framework and its examination of Chinese European interactions The core of the book consists of a chronological series of cases each of which illustrates the use of a different type of cross identity performance to better understand translation practice St. André provides close readings of early pseudotranslations including Marana's Turkish Spy 1691 and Goldsmith's Citizen of the World 1762 as well as adaptations of Hatchett's The Chinese Orphan 1741 and Voltaire's Orphelin de la Chine 1756 Later chapters explore Davis's translation of Sorrows of Han 1829 and genuine translations of nonfictional material mainly by employees of the East India Company The focus then shifts to oral aural aspects of early translation practice in the nineteenth century using the concept of mimicry to examine interactions between Pidgin English and translation in the popular press Finally the work of two early modern Chinese translators Gu Hongming and Lin Yutang is examined as masquerade Offering an original and innovative study of genres of writing that are traditionally examined in isolation St. André's work provides a fascinating examination of the way three cultures interacted through the shifting encounters of fiction translation and nonfiction and in the process helped establish and shape the way Chinese were represented The book represents a major contribution to translation studies Chinese cultural studies postcolonial studies and gender criticism
