

A POCKET GUIDE TO THE 2023 AGS BEERS CRITERIA®

This clinical tool, based on the 2023 AGS Updated Beers Criteria® for Potentially Inappropriate Medication Use in Older Adults (AGS Beers Criteria®), has been developed to assist healthcare providers in improving medication safety in older adults. Our purpose is to inform clinical decision-making concerning the prescribing of medications for older adults in order to improve safety and quality of care.

Originally conceived of in 1989 by the late Mark Beers, MD, a geriatrician, the Beers Criteria catalogue medications that cause side effects in the elderly due to the physiologic changes of aging. The 2023 American Geriatrics Society (AGS) Beers Criteria® and S. Beers Criteria® for Potentially Inappropriate Medication (PIM)® is in Older Adults is the seventh overall update and fourth since AGS became the criteria's steward in 2011. As with previous updates, the AGS and its expert panel have attempted to preserve the spirit and intent of the original Beers Criteria by providing an explicit list of PIMs that are best avoided by older adults in most circumstances or under specific situations, such as certain diseases, conditions, or care settings.

The full document, along with accompanying resources and an appendix of medications removed from the criteria tables, can be found in its entirety online at americangeriatricsociety.org.

INTENDED USE

The criteria are intended to be applied to adults 65 years old and older in all ambulatory, acute, and institutional settings of care, except hospice and end-of-life care settings.

The intention of the AGS Beers Criteria® is to: (1) reduce older adults' exposure to Potentially Inappropriate Medications (PIMs) by improving medication selection; (2) educate clinicians and patients; and (3) serve as a tool for evaluating quality of care, cost, and patterns of drug use in older adults.

- This should be viewed as a guideline for identifying medications for which the risks of use in older adults often outweigh the benefits.
- The criteria are a blunt instrument, and we are unable to delineate all specialized use cases and possible exceptions to the criteria.
- This list is not meant to supersede clinical judgment or an individual patient's values and needs.
- Prescribing for older adults is often a complex endeavor involving the consideration of many factors, particularly the preferences and goals of the patient and family.
- These criteria are not meant to be applied in a punitive manner.
- These criteria also underscore the importance of using a team approach to prescribing and the use of non-pharmacological approaches and of having economic and organizational incentives for this type of model.
- The criteria are not applicable in all circumstances (i.e., patients receiving palliative and hospice care). If a provider is not able to find an alternative and chooses to continue to use a drug on the list in an individual patient, designation of the medication as potentially inappropriate can serve as a reminder for close monitoring and periodic review.

The primary target audience is the practicing clinician. Although the AGS Beers Criteria® may be used internationally, it is specifically designed for use in the United States and there may be additional considerations for certain drugs in specific countries.

TABLE 1. 2023 American Geriatrics Society Beers Criteria® for Potentially Inappropriate Medication Use in Older Adults

Organ System Therapeutic Category Surgery Group	Recommendation Rationale, Quality of Evidence (QI) Strength of Recommendation (SR)
Anticholinergics
First-generation anticholinergics ■ Brompheniramine ■ Chlorpheniramine ■ Ciproheptadine ■ Dimethothane ■ Diphenhydramine (oral) ■ Doxylamine ■ Hydroxyzine ■ Mefenorex ■ Promethazine ■ Triprolidine	Avoid Highly anticholinergic; clearance reduced with advanced age, and tolerance develops when used as hypnotic; risk of confusion, dry mouth, constipation, and other anticholinergic effects or toxicity. Cumulative exposure to anticholinergic drugs is associated with increased risk of falls, delirium, and dementia, even in younger adults. Consider total anticholinergic burden during regular medication reviews and be cautious in "young-old" as well as "old-old" adults. Use of diphenhydramine in situations such as acute treatment of severe allergic reaction may be appropriate. QI = Moderate, SR = Strong
Anti-infective
Minocycline	Avoid in individuals with CrCl <30 mL/min or for long-term suppression. Potential for pulmonary toxicity, hepatotoxicity, and peripheral neuropathy, especially with long-term use, safer alternatives available. QI = Low, SR = Strong
Cardiovascular and antithrombotics
Aspirin for primary prevention of cardiovascular disease	Avoid initiating aspirin for primary prevention of cardiovascular disease. Consider discontinuing aspirin in older adults already taking it for primary prevention. Risk of major bleeding from aspirin increases markedly in older age. Studies suggest lack of net benefit and potential for net harm when initiated for primary prevention in older adults. There is less evidence about stopping aspirin among long-term users, although similar principles as for initiation may apply. Note: Aspirin is generally indicated for secondary prevention in older adults with established cardiovascular disease. QI = High, SR = Strong

*Under each drug name, drugs commonly used in the United States are listed except in cases where foreign use is informative due to unique considerations. Drugs, listed elsewhere, are drugs whose United States use are considered potentially inappropriate or the context of the evidence in which they appear does not extend to the U.S.

*Quality of evidence and strength of recommendation ratings apply to all drugs and recommendations unless each criterion states varied otherwise.

*When creating among DOACs and choosing a drug, pay special consideration to kidney function (see Table 6), indication, and body weight.

*Antipsychotics used in the United States include: first-generation ("typical") – chlorpromazine, fluphenazine, haloperidol, perphenazine, second-generation ("atypical") – aripiprazole, brexpiprazole, caripipazine, clemastine, levomepromazine, lurasidone, quetiapine, risperidone, ziprasidone. This list does not include antipsychotics rarely or never used in the U.S. among older adults.
