

Thompson (2000) argues, in the book Understanding social work, that skill development in social work education tends to involve two main elements:

- 1 – Building on, consolidating, enhancing and sharpening existing skills
- 2 – Recognizing, understanding and developing new skills

According the distinction made by this author can be identified the following 5 basic competences and 15 skills (see Tab.2 and annex 2):

Tab. 2 - Social Worker's Competences and Skills

Competences	Skills
Communicate and engage	Communication
Promote and enable	Self-aware
Assess and plan	Analysis
Intervene and provide services	Handling Feelings
Work in organizations	Self-management
Develop professional competence	Presentation
	Co-ordination
	Sensitivity and Observation
	Reflection
	Creativity
	Think on feet
	Humility
	Resilience
	Partnership
	Survival Skills

As Oded Manor (2004:290) comments, in the Blackwell Encyclopedia of Social Work, the relationship skills are the observable behaviours to which workers resort while forming, sustaining, and terminating the working alliance with clients and others involved.

Exercising these skills is necessary for promoting the process of bonding, among, those involved in a collaborative working, alliance. These skills can be learned, and include:

- Listening actively
- Conveying respect
- Communicating empathy
- Expressing oneself genuinely
- Being specific
- Sharing one's own feelings

As we have seen, social work's competences and skills are in permanent dialogue, and will not be separately analysed from the daily practice of those who operates in agencies with administrations, other professionals, teams, social partners, communities and users. In the approach of empowerment, advocacy, social mediation, partnership or other, the communication competences seems to be the crucial one, which adequate using in and with different context and persons allows the human and social development in respect for the values of citizenship and quality of services provided.

Teaching the Novel across the Curriculum Colin C. Irvine, 2007-11-30 Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even in subjects other than English Because the novel reflects a broad set of human experiences and history it is the ideal vehicle for learning about a wide range of issues This book helps educators learn how to incorporate novels in courses in English the humanities social and behavioral sciences and professional studies The chapters focus on using the novel to explore ethical concerns multiculturalism history social theory psychology social work and education The book looks at major canonical works as well as graphic novels and popular literature Language arts are at the forefront of education these days Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even if those courses cover subjects other than English Literature instructors have long used fiction to teach composition. But because the novel reflects a broad range of human experiences and historical events it is the ideal medium for learning about contemporary social issues. This book helps educators learn how to use the novel in courses in English, the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, and professional studies. The book is divided into broad sections on general education classes, multiculturalism, literature classes, humanities courses, classes in social, behavioral, and political sciences, and professional studies such as social work and teacher training. Each section includes chapters written by gifted teachers and provides a wealth of theoretical and practical information. While the book examines major canonical works such as Hard Times, Billy Budd, and Invisible Man, it also looks at graphic novels, science fiction, and popular contemporary works such as Finishing School and Jarhead. Chapters reflect the personal successes of their authors and cite works for further reading.

Handbook of Health Social Work Sarah Gehlert, Teri Browne, 2019-08-20. The updated third edition of the definitive text on health social work. Thoroughly revised and updated, the third edition of Handbook of Health Social Work is an authoritative text that offers a comprehensive review of the diverse field of health social work. With contributions from a panel of international experts in the field, the book is theory driven and solidly grounded in evidence-based practice. The contributors explore both the foundation of social work practice and offer guidance on effective strategies, policies, and program development. The text provides information that is essential to the operations of social workers in health care, including the conceptual underpinnings and the development of the profession. The authors explore the practice issues such as theories of health behavior, assessment, communication, and the intersections between health and mental health. The authors also examine a wide range of examples of social work practices, including settings that involve older adults, nephrology, oncology, and chronic diseases such as diabetes, heart disease, HIV/AIDS, genetics, end-of-life care, pain management, and palliative care, as well as alternative treatments and traditional healers. This is the only handbook of its kind to unite the body of health social work and offers a wellness rather than psychopathological perspective and contains treatment models that are evidence-based. Includes learning exercises, further resources, research suggestions, and life course information. Contains new chapters on topics such as international health insurance and payment systems and implementation of evidence-based practice. Presents information on emerging topics such as health policy in an age of reform and genomics and the social environment. Reviews new trends in social work and health care, including genetics, transdisciplinary care, and international, national, and state changes in policy. Written for social work educators, administrators, students, and practitioners, the revised third edition of Handbook of Health Social Work offers in one volume the entire body of health social work knowledge.
