Designing for the Disabled: The New Paradigm Selwyn Goldsmith, 2012-09-10 Selwyn Goldsmith's Designing for the Disabled has since it was first published in 1963 been a bible for practising architects around the world Now as a new book with a radical new vision comes his Designing for the Disabled The New Paradigm Goldsmith's new paradigm is based on the concept of architectural disability As a version of the social model of disability it is not exclusively the property of physically disabled people Others who are afflicted by it include women since men customarily get proportionately four times as many amenities in public toilets as women and women have to queue where men do not and those with infants in pushchairs because normal WC facilities are invariably too small to get a pushchair and infant into To counter architectural disability Goldsmith's line is that the axiom for legislation action has to be access for everyone it should not just be access for the disabled as it presently is with the Part M building regulation and relevant provisions of the 1995 Disability Discrimination Act In a 40 page annex to his book he sets out the terms that a new style Part M regulation and its Approved Document might take one that would cover alterations to existing buildings as well as new buildings But architects and building control officers need not he says wait for new a legislation to apply new practical procedures to meet the requirements of the current Part M regulation they can as he advises act positively now This is a book which will oblige architects to rethink the methodology of designing for the disabled It is a book that no practising architect building control officer local planning officer or access officer can afford to be without

The New Political Economy of Disability Georgia van Toorn, 2021-02-22 This book addresses the ways in which individualised market based models of disability support provision have been mobilised in and across different countries through cross national investigation of individualised funding IF as an object of neoliberal policy mobility

Combining rich theoretical and interdisciplinary perspectives with extensive empirical research the book provides a timely examination of the policy processes and mechanisms driving the spread of IF amongst countries at the forefront of disability policy reform. It is argued that IF's mobility is not attributable to neoliberalism alone but to the complex intersections between neoliberal and emancipatory agendas and to the transnational networks that have blended the two agendas in new ways in different institutional contexts. The book shows how disability rights struggles have synchronised with neoliberal agendas which explains IF's propensity to move and mutate between different jurisdictions. Featuring first hand accounts of the activists and advocates engaged in these struggles the book illuminates the consequences and risks of the dangerous liaisons and political trade offs that seemed necessary to get individualised funding on the policy agenda for disabled people. It will be of interest to all scholars and students working in disability studies, social policy, sociology and political science more generally.

Growing Up with Disability Carol Robinson, Kirsten Stalker, 1998-01-01. This book encompasses a wide range of perspectives on childhood impairment and its social implications. The book adopts a child centred approach stressing the importance of communicating with disabled children and includes pieces of writing by young disabled people. Preschool and school age children describe their behavior and feelings within their own families, substitute families and residential homes. The book explores how such children can best be protected and how their quality of life can be improved. Using the social model of disability which identifies the material and social barriers to inclusion, contributors give examples of progressive practice and examine the aspirations of young disabled people, their friendships and how they come to terms with adolescence and the transition to adulthood.
