The Blind Storyteller Iris Berent, 2020 Do newborns think Do they know that three is greater than two Do they prefer right to wrong Laypeople hold strong beliefs on such topics These beliefs are stories we tell ourselves about what we know and who we are They reflect our understanding of ourselves and others and shape our thinking about topics such as mental disorders free will and the afterlife But many of these stories are misguided We the storytellers are blind How could we get it so wrong In a novel provocative theory Berent proposes that our errors emanate from the very principles that make our minds tick Our blindness to human nature is rooted in human nature itself

Sounds of Language Readers: Sounds of the storyteller, 1972

Tracing Southern Storytelling in Black and White Sarah Gilbreath Ford, 2014-10-15 Explores how both black and white southern writers such as Joel Chandler Harris Charles Chesnutt Zora Neale Hurston William Faulkner Eudora Welty Ralph Ellison Ellen Douglas and Ernest Gaines have employed oral storytelling in literature Tracing Southern Storytelling in Black and White is a study of the historical use of oral storytelling by southern writers in written works In each chapter Sarah Gilbreath Ford pairs a white and an African American writer to highlight points of confluence in black and white southern oral traditions She argues that the connections between white and African American southern writers run deeper than critics have yet explored and she uses textual comparisons to examine the racial mixing of oral culture On porches in kitchens and on the pages of their work black and white southerners exchanged not just stories but strategies for telling stories As a boy Joel Chandler Harris listened to the stories of African American slaves and he devised a framework to turn the oral stories into written ones Harris's use of the frame structure influenced how Charles Chesnutt recorded oral stories but it led Alice Walker to complain that her heritage had been stolen Mark Twain listened to African American storytellers as a child His use of oral dialects then impacts how Ralph Ellison and William Faulkner employ oral storytelling and how Toni Morrison later writes in response to Faulkner The interactions are not linear not a chain of influence but a network of interactions borrowings and revisions Ford's pairings lead to new readings that reveal how the writers employ similar strategies in their narratives due in part to shared historical context While Zora Neale Hurston and William Faulkner for example use oral storytelling in the 1930s to examine the fear of racial mixing Ellen Douglas and Ernest Gaines use it in the 1970s to build bridges between the races Exploring the cultural crossing that occurs in the use of oral storytelling Ford offers a different view of this common strategy in southern narrative and a new perspective on how culture is shared

Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans, 2020-05-11 Chinese martial arts novels from the late nineteenth century are filled with a host of suggestive sounds Characters cuss and curse in colorful dialect accents vendor calls ring out from bustling marketplaces and martial arts action scenes come to life with the loud clash of swords and the sounds of bodies colliding What is the purpose of these sounds and what is their history In Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans answers these questions by critically reexamining the relationship between martial arts novels published in the final decades of the nineteenth century and earlier storyteller manuscripts He finds that by incorporating imitating and sometimes inventing storyteller sounds these novels turned the text from a silent object into a lively simulacrum of festival atmosphere thereby transforming the solitary act of reading into the communal sharing of an oral performance By focusing on the role sound played in late nineteenth century martial arts fiction Keulemans offers alternatives to the visual models that have dominated our approach to the study of print culture the commercialization of textual production and the construction of the modern reading subject

A Cultural History of Sound, Memory, and the Senses Joy

Damousi, Paula Hamilton, 2016-12-08 The past 20 years have witnessed a turn towards the sensuous particularly the aural as a viable space for critical exploration in History and other Humanities disciplines This has been informed by a heightened awareness of the role that the senses play in shaping modern identity and understanding of place and increasingly how the senses are central to the memory of past experiences and their representation The result has been a broadening of our historical imagination which has previously taken the visual for granted and ignored the other senses Considering how crucial the auditory aspect of life has been a shift from seeing to hearing past societies offers a further perspective for examining the complexity of historical events and experiences Historians in many fields have begun to listen to the past developing new arguments about the history and the memory of sensory experience This volume builds on scholarship produced over the last twenty years and explores these dimensions by coupling the history of sound and the senses in distinctive ways through a study of the sound of violence the sound of voice mediated by technologies and the expression of memory through the senses Though sound is the most developed field in the study of the sensorium many argue that each of the senses should not be studied in isolation from each other and for this reason the final section incorporates material which emphasizes the sense as relational

Contemporary American Indian Literatures and the Oral Tradition Susan Berry Brill

de Ramírez, 1999-07-01 Because American Indian literatures are largely informed by their respective oral storytelling traditions they may be more difficult to understand or interpret than the more text based literatures with which most readers are familiar In this insightful new book Susan Berry Brill de Ram rez addresses the limitations of contemporary criticism and theory in opening up the worlds of story within American Indian literatures proposing instead a conversive approach for reading and understanding these works In order to fully understand American Indian literatures Brill de Ram rez explains that the reader must become a listener reader an active participant in the written stories To demonstrate this point she explores literary works both by established Native writers such as Sherman Alexie N Scott Momaday Leslie Marmon Silko and Luci Tapahonso and by less well known writers such as Anna Lee Walters Della Frank Lee Maracle and Louis Owens Through her literary engagements with many poems novels and short stories she demonstrates a new way to read and understand the diverse body of American Indian literatures Brill de Ram rez s conversive approach interweaves two interconnected processes co creating the stories by participating in them as listener readers and recognizing orally informed elements in the stories such as verbal minimalism and episodic narrative structures Because this methodology is rooted in American Indian oral storytelling traditions Native voices from these literary works are able to more directly inform the scholarly process than is the case in more textually based critical strategies Through this innovative approach Brill de Ram rez shows that literature is not a static text but an interactive and potentially transforming conversation between listener readers storyteller writers and the story characters as well Her book furthers the discussion of how to read American Indian and other orally informed literatures with greater sensitivity to their respective cultural traditions and shows that the immediacy of the relationship between teller story and listener can also be experienced in the relationships between writers literary works and their listener readers

The Storyteller's Memory Palace Hanne Bewernick, 2010 Storytelling and remembering rely on similar practices they both arrange images in an ordered structure A story is initially memorised by the author in a mental structure which is transferred to the page via the author's choice of location organisation and imagery An interpretation that emphasises these features enhances the natural capacity for comprehension by mimicking the memory process This study describes and uncovers memory systems including the memory palace and the memory journey in medieval texts The ancient memory techniques are compared to cognitive psychology and used to interpret four modern novels A practical method of interpretation is devised which provides the reader with direct access to a story by opening the door into the storyteller's memory palace

The Sounds of Feminist Theory Ruth Salvaggio, 1999-01-01 A range of contemporary feminist critical writers are discussed Gloria Anzaldua Judith Butler Helene Cixous Rachel Blau DuPlessis Jane Flax Susan Griffin Donna Haraway Luce Irigaray Julia Kristeva Elaine Pagels Adrienne Rich Eve Sedgwick Joan Scott Jane Tompkins Trinh Minh ha and Patricia Williams Their investment in the oral modulations of words marks not only a provocative engagement with the incommensurability of contemporary theory but also a turn to the ambiguous and tangled qualities of language poetic literacy that generate an evocative epistemology
